

Lost and Found Department Returns Misplaced Articles

By HELEN LUYBEN

"Like Hell it's yours; put it back" is a small sign on a green cabinet in the main Student Union office in Old Main. This bit of literary prose, taped to the holder of all lost and found articles turned in, serves as a reminder to employees working in the department, according to George Donovan, Student Union director.

Of course he's only joking, but the business that goes on in the office is a serious one. For it is the purpose of that department to see that lost or strayed books, pens, pencils, wallets, matches, and fraternity pins are recovered and returned to their rightful owners.

Donovan has requested students to "Please place your name and address on all books, notebooks, pens, and slide rules. Without this information, it is impossible to expect that you will ever retrieve any article you may lose."

Can Claim Articles

Just a look inside that green cabinet will show shelves of textbooks, several watches, a dozen assorted class rings, wallets, purses, scarfs, shoes, and sport coats, and on and on.

Any one of these articles, which have been turned in by honest students and the Campus Patrol, can be claimed today by its owner. If it should be marked with a name, the department will locate the address and immediately mail a postcard to the forgetful owner.

Hundreds of articles have been returned to students in the 37 years since the department became a part of the Student Union. It originally was affiliated with the Campus Patrol.

Lady Seeks Jewelry

"We returned a wallet containing $35 to a girl just recently," Donovan said, "and just to see the smile on her face when she'd found it gave me a bang. I called her to say it had been turned in, and she was over here to get it in two minutes flat."

Within the scant ten minutes of an interview Mr. Donovan was interrupted twice by persons looking for lost articles. One, an elderly lady, had lost a piece of jewelry last year.

Donovan told her that small and valuable articles which can be stored easily are kept from year to year, but other things are given to the Salvation Army at the end of July. He said he would urge students to keep calling for lost valuables, even though they may not turn up right away.

Women Lose Most

"We long ago debunked the idea of the absent-minded professor," Donovan said. "Students are the ones who lose things. One professor to roughly every hundred students ever comes asking for something he's lost."

Most things are lost by students in the Liberal Arts school, according to Donovan, and women have a tendency to be more careless with their things than men. This, he said, is probably because men have more pockets in their clothing, whereas women carry everything in their arms.

The department discourages the idea of offering rewards for the return of lost articles, Donovan said, but works on the principle that everyone is honest and will turn in anything he finds. Then when it is that same person who has lost something, he will expect to find it in that big, green cabinet in Old Main.

Scholarships, Grants, Fellowships Offered

The Institute of International Education has announced several scholarships, travel grants, and two fellowships offered to American students for study abroad.

The Mexican government offers 17 scholarships to United States students for study in Mexico during the academic year beginning March 1, 1953. Eleven scholarships are available at the graduate level, paying tuition and approximately $96 monthly. Six undergraduate scholarships pay approximately $84 monthly.

Awards are available in the following undergraduate fields: physical anthropology, archaeology, ethnology, Mexican history, architecture, and philosophy and letters. In the graduate level they are available in physical anthropology, archaeology, ethnology, Mexican history, museography, painting, biological sciences, pediatrics, tropical medicine, and cardiology.

Grant Covers Travel

Applications must be filed not later than Oct. 15.

Travel grants have been offered by the Pan-American World Airways System to cover round-trip transportation from United States terminal to a terminal in the country of study.

An applicant must have at least a Bachelor's degree and a good knowledge of the language of the country in which he will study. Personal funds are needed for room, board and tuition.

Countries of study include Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Puerto Rico, Uruguay, and Venezuela.

The closing date for applications is Oct. 31.

Lectures in English

The University of Ceylon offers two fellowships covering tuition, room, and board to graduate students, preferably male, for the academic year beginning June of next year. Suggested fields of study are Pali and Buddhism, Indian philosophy, economics, geography, history of Ceylon, and sociology.

Most lectures are in English. For field work some knowledge of Sinhalese or Tamil would be required. Students will need funds of their own for travel and all other expenses including incidentals.

Application must not be made later than Jan. 15. Further information may be obtained by writing the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th street, New York 21, N.Y.

2 Councils Sponsor 'Apple Jack Jump'

Square dancing, round dancing, and polkas will be featured at the "Apple Jack Jump" Oct. 4 in Recreation Hall.

Jane Mason and Richard Stanley are co-chairmen for the affair, which is being co-sponsored by the Home Economics and Agriculture Student Councils.

Tickets are 50 cents per person. Proceeds will go to a scholarship fund.

Marsh Gives Reading

C. R. Marsh, assistant professor of electrical engineering, recently made a reading of the paper, "Some Photographic Methods Applied to Photometry," before a national technical conference of the Illuminating Engineering Society in Chicago.

'Drag' Funds To Go for Scholarships

Proceeds from the Dungereed Drag, girl-ask-boy affair sponsored by Cwens, sophomore women's hat society, will go toward scholarships presented to sophomore women students in need of financial aid.

The annual dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight Oct. 11 in Recreation Hall. Blue jeans are the apparel for the dance, with the men wearing corsages prepared by the women. Ten prizes will be awarded to the men wearing the most unique and original corsages, Baylee Friedman, general chairman, announced.

All active members of Cwens are assisting Miss Friedman in preparation for the dance. Committee heads include Nani Ku and Johanne Llewelyn, decorations; Carolyn Pelczar, tickets; Linda Jacobs, refreshments; and Joyce Shusman, publicity.

From the proceeds of the drag last year three sophomore women received scholarships. The number of scholarships awarded each year depends on the amount of profit made at the affair.

Jack Huber and his orchestra will provide the music at the dance. Tickets will be available at the beginning of the month at the Student Union Desk in Old Main, the Corner, and at stands in the West Dorms and in front of the Carnegie Hall bulletin board.

Women to Organize 2 Bowling Leagues

Freshman women interested in organizing a freshman bowling league are asked to report to the White Hall bowling alley at 7 tonight.

Upperclasswomen will also form a league at the same time. Those upperclasswomen who cannot report tonight may come on Monday.

A schedule of freshman games to be played Monday is posted in the bowling alley at White Hall.

WSGA Senate Will Finish Poster Display

A Women's Student Government Association workshop to be held in the WSGA room in White Hall will replace the regular Senate meeting today, Joan Hutchon, president, has announced.

The workshop, starting at 12:30 p.m., is being held to finish the posters and display to be used for Student Government Day tomorrow.

The display will be centered around a maypole representing the May Day ceremonies, with each streamer representing an activity of WSGA. The activities include the Christmas fund raising campaign, the Mother's Day tea, the all-College sing, the junior-senior faculty reception, the big-little sister tea, and the clothing drive held in the spring.

One poster will have pictures of the members of the women's governing bodies including Senate, Judicial, House of Representatives, Freshman Council, and Freshman Regulations Board.

The other poster is the one used for the Eastern Intercollegiate Association of Women Students' convention held at the College last spring.

The display will be in the lobby of Old Main all day tomorrow and will be moved to Schwab Auditorium tomorrow night.

Concert Association To Seek Members

A campaign for new members to the Community Concert Association will begin Oct. 6 and continue through Oct. 11.

A list of solicitors will be announced who will contact last year's members for renewals to the association during the week of Sept. 29.

Ag School Given New Scholarship

A new Dairy Fieldmen's Scholarship, amounting to $200 annually, has been added to the School of Agriculture awards. The new scholarship was established by the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers.

The award will be restricted to students in dairy production or dairy manufacturing and will be awarded to sophomores on a basis of need, scholarship, character, leadership, and interest in dairy husbandry.

Nantucket, Mass., is the only place in the United States classed a town, county, and island.

Six Initiated By Philotes

Philotes, independent women's social organization, initiated six women Monday night.

Initiated were Priscilla Crowe, Ann Eckroth, Joan Groff, Wilma Jones, Jeanne Keller, and Shirley Trudgeon. Each new member received a carnation as part of her formal welcome.

New advisers for the organization are Mrs. Mae Shultz, Grange Dormitory hostess, and Mrs. Marion Beaumont, Simmons Hall hostess.

The group also planned its activities for the year. Among these are plans to hold an alumni dance in November, to run teams in the Women's Recreation Association intramural programs, and to sponsor other social activities with independent groups.

Philotes is again planning a Christmas project similar to last year's. Together with the Simmons Hall waiters, members gave a Christmas basket to a needy State College family.

The group also decided to begin an alumni newsletter to keep graduated members informed of activities and discussed proposed revisions in the constitution.

Talk on Olympics
