Early last semester we started a weekly ad called OK JOE. From the many coeds we photographed each week one was selected as our OK JOE girl. Personality was of prime importance ... pulchritude was only a runner up. By personality we mean charm, sense of humor and loviliness about the person.

We spend a considerable time with each sitting as is evidenced from the completed product. Any contrived artificiality has no bearing on our selection.

We sincerely feel that the girls selected for OK JOE are ideal contest material for Miss Penn State and similar contests. When one of our selections does win a contest, we feel a glow of satisfaction. This week we are really in a quandry - instead of easily selecting an OK JOE we ran into 3!

So, it would only be fair to publish the portraits of each girl. In the future a small paragraph telling about each coed will be included.

Since only a limited number of sittings are done each day at the Lion Studio, we suggest you make your appointment now to insure early Christmas delivery.
