AIM Board To Discuss Harvest Ball

The Autumn Ball, jointly sponsored by Leonides and the Association of Independent Men, will be discussed at the first meeting of the AIM Board of Governors at 7 p.m. tonight in 102 Willard, William Shifflett, president, announced.

The dance, planned by the executive committees of AIM and Leonides, independent women's organization, is scheduled for 9 p.m. Oct. 18 in Recreation Hall, Shifflett said.

Music will be provided by Jack Huber and his orchestra, and entertainment is being organized for the intermission.

A motorcade for Pennsylvania Week and a temporary budget will also be discussed at the meeting.

The motorcade is being tentatively planned for the Homecoming game with Nebraska. Each group will enter one car. The Pennsylvania Week committee has not made final arrangements as yet.

Howard Mason is chairman of the publicity committee for the dance. Lavanche Leith and Elizabeth Johnson are co-chairmen of the combined decorations and refreshments committees.

The dance will be the independent attraction for Homecoming Weekend.

The Board of Governors includes the officers of AIM who were elected last spring, the four officers of each of the four member councils, Nittany, Pollock, Town and West Dormitory, and several representatives-at-large.

The representatives-at-large have not yet been elected. The West Dorm Council is sending four temporary representatives to the council. The other three councils expect to have elected officers by the time of the board meeting.

Players Set Shaw Comedy Tryout Dates

Tryouts for George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara," the second Players' show to be produced at Center Stage this season, will be held at 7:15 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the Green Room, Schwab Auditorium.

Monday has been designated as the night on which persons not formerly associated with Players will read. Those who have been connected with Players in the past will read Tuesday. Copies of the play are now available in the Green Room for beforehand reading, and those who try out need not make advance appointments.

"Major Barbara" will be directed by Walter H. Walters, dramatics instructor, who directed "The Heiress" and "She Stoops to Conquer" last year. The play will open Dec. 12 at Center Stage and will continue six weekends. According to Walters, it is "an amusing satire on 'Warren Peace,' one of Shaw's finest comedies."

Roles are available for six women and nine men. Fine character portrayals are offered by both major and minor roles, Walters said.

Tomorrow Is Deadline For Penn Grid Tickets

Today and tomorrow are the days to mail student ticket applications to the Penn State Athletic Association for the Penn State-University of Pennsylvania football game Nov. 1 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, according to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics.

Applications must not be postmarked earlier than 6:30 a.m. today. Those postmarked earlier will not be accepted, Gilbert said. The mailing period for applications extends to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Tickets will be sold at $3.90 and $2.60. Money orders and checks must be drawn payable to the Penn State Athletic Association for the exact amount of the purchase and must include the student's address.

Students wishing to be seated together should pin applications together. One check or money order can be drawn to pay for more than one ticket.

If the demand for tickets in a particular price range should exceed the supply, the Athletic Association reserves the right to substitute tickets in the remaining price bracket or to make necessary refunds, Gilbert said.

Tickets will be distributed from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 23 and 24 at the Athletic Association ticket office windows in Old Main. Athletic Association books must be presented to obtain tickets. Signatures on the books must match those on the applications. One person may pick up a group of tickets if he has the books for verification.

Bombers Win Again, Take Series Final, 4-2

(BROOKLYN (AP)—Young Mickey Mantle, capably filling the shoes of the great Joe DiMaggio, and stout hearted Bob Kuzava led Casey Stengel's New York Yankees to a record tying fourth straight world championship yesterday in a 4-2 seventh game triumph over the stubborn Brooklyn Dodgers. Lefty Kuzava, supposedly a choice morsel for the Dodgers' right hand hitters, blazed his fast ball down the groove in a 2½ innings relief job to make the lead stand up.

It was Mantle who gave the Yankees their victory margin. He homered in the sixth to break a 2-2 tie and send the New Yorkers ahead for the third time in the up and down game. In the seventh he scored Gil McDougald from second with a sizzling single over Pee Wee Reese's head.

When Gene Woodling clutched Reese's fly for the final out, the entire Yank club descended on Kuzava, whooping and yelling with the joy of men who suddenly found themselves some $6000 richer.

It was Kuzava who applied the final, killing blow to Brooklyn's dreams of its first World Series win with his brilliant job after Eddie Lopat and the dead tired Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi had given their all.

Called in to face Duke Snider, the Dodgers' four homer man, with the bases loaded and one

Tribunal Hears Parking Cases

Tribunal heard seven cases last night involving campus parking violations. One $2 fine, two $1 fines, and three $1 suspended fines were levied.

The student fined two dollars protested he loaned his car to a friend who incurred three violations. Both the car owner and the student driving the car at the time of the violation appeared before Tribunal. The committee decided a car owner is responsible for his car at all times. The driver was charged with a first offense. James Schulte, Tribunal chairman, warned that a second offense would be handed over to the disciplinary committee of the College Senate subcommittee on student affairs.

He urged car owners to impress on those who borrow cars the seriousness of obeying campus traffic regulations and parking in designated areas.

Application Form To Be Available For Draft Exam

Applications for the Selective Service college qualification tests to be given Dec. 4 and April 23 will be distributed Monday and Tuesday in the lounge on the second floor of Old Main, Frank J. Simes, assistant dean of men, announced yesterday.

Students wishing to apply for the tests may obtain applications between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on those days.

To receive applications, students must have their Selective Service registration card and number. Persons who have recently reached the age of 18 and whose registration forms are being processed will be able to receive applications even if they have not yet received their registration cards.

To be eligible to take the college qualification test, the applicant must intend to request occupational deferment as a student, must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course leading to a degree, and must not have previously taken the test.

Tests on both dates will be administered at the College.

Results of the college qualification test and the standing of a student in his class are used by local boards as evidence upon which to defer students. Deferment is recommended for students scoring over 70 in the test, but actual deferment is left to the discretion of the local boards.

During the distribution of applications Monday and Tuesday, M. J. Egan, supervisor of Central Pennsylvania draft boards, will be available to answer questions regarding application procedure.

Mrs. Sara E. Case, who handles selective service forms for the Dean of Men's office, said 500 more application forms are expected so an expected 2100 applications can be distributed.

In addition to Egan and Mrs. Case, a representative of the local board in Huntingdon and five others will distribute applications.

Applications for the Dec. 4 test must be postmarked on or before Nov. 1, and those for the April 23 test on or before March 9.

LaVie Photos Set

Education seniors may have their pictures taken for the 1953 LaVie until Monday at the Penn State Photo Shop, official LaVie photographers.

Men are requested to wear suits, white shirts, and ties. Women are asked to wear white or plain colors.

Indonesian Cites Action Of WSSF

Indonesian students appreciate the attitude of mutual service and interest toward world solidarity even more than the material benefits of the World Student Service Fund, according to Dr. Boesira Zahir, representative of WSSF in the Republic of Indonesia.

The World Student Service Fund is one of the programs given funds through the Campus Chest.

Service funds are being used to help provide housing, laboratory equipment, books, and student health service in Indonesian universities and colleges, he said.

The manner in which WSSF handles aid to foreign educational institutions preserves the dignity of both the donor and receiver, Zahir said.

Zahir, who spoke to the All-College Cabinet Campus Chest committee and College officials last night, said that Indonesian students took active part in the fight for independence from Dutch rule. The students still consider themselves responsible for the maintenance of that independence, he said.

Before World War II, Zahir said, there were three institutions of higher education with a total of 500 students. There are now six universities and five colleges with a total enrollment of 18,000, he said.

Floods, population migration, and the increase of educational institutions has left Indonesia as well as India, Pakistan, and Malaya with a shortage of equipment and housing. He said that thousands of students in these countries are living in basements, refugee camps, and railroad cars.

Clique Officers To Be Elected By Lion Party

The Lion Party will hold its first clique meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday in 10 Sparks, according to William Walters, acting chairman. Nominations will be opened for All-College, freshman, and sophomore class clique officers.

At a steering committee meeting last week Lois Lehman and Harry Stephens were appointed to serve on the committee.

The committee considered a proposal to sell books of Bibler's Little Man on Campus cartoons during Homecoming Weekend. Profits from the sales would be divided between the Lion and State parties for election campaigns.

IFC to Meet Tomorrow To Discuss Homecoming

The Interfraternity Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 219 Electrical Engineering rather than tonight as previously scheduled, Arthur Rosfeld, IFC president, has announced.

Plans for Homecoming Weekend concerning lawn displays will be discussed. The committees for IFC rushing, the IFC Workshop, and the cup for outstanding fraternities will report.

Polio Victim Receives Lion Football Souvenirs

A little Rhode Island boy convalescing from polio is having his bedroom redecorated this week with an inscribed Penn State football and autographed photographs of Nittany Lion gridiron players.

The polio victim is 10-year-old Jaycee Rosenthal, of Cranston, R.I. He is receiving these personalized souvenirs of the Penn State football team mainly through the efforts of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity.

And he still hasn't heard the last from AEPi. The fraternity brothers have now collected $50 among themselves, partly through goldfish-swallowing exhibitions. This sum will be used towards the purchase of a 3-speed phonograph and records for Jaycee.

Here's how it all started. Jaycee's mother asked her neighbor, Mrs. Albert Cohen, to write her twin sons, Freddie and Larry Cohen, pledges at AEPi on campus, requesting autographed pic-
