

Rifle Squad to Honor Queen 'Paris' Film Theme At 'Don't Stop Now' Opening Of Hort Display

By TAMMIE BLOOM

Count cadence, count! One, two, three, four . . . and the staccato of marching feet will mark the opening of Thespians' Homecoming musical revue, "Don't Stop Now" tomorrow night at Schwab Auditorium. The Pershing Rifle squad ROTC honor group, will drill in honor of the Homecoming Queen, whose coronation will climax the first scene of the show.

From that point forward, the audience will be treated to a series of original skits, dances, and musical numbers meant to entertain. Unlike a play, the revue is without plot, on the light side, and appeals locally.

An Indian legend on how Mt. Nittany got its name is the basis of one of the skits, while the dilemma of sorority rushing is enacted in another of the ten scenes in the two-act production.

To Present Flashback

Phil Wein and Sylvester Pine, a ventriloquist and his boy, will appear on the program as a feature act. Wein is a freshman.

Hennessey of the Hort Woods patrol is another of the personalities to appear in a skit of the same name. A Gay Nineties scene, In Front of Graham's, will flash back on the State College of yesterday.

A cast of 45 dancers, vocalists, gleesingers, and actors will present the show, to continue three nights. Music, lyrics, and dialogue are by Ray Fortunato, Ray Barr, Moylan Mills, Michael Rosenfeld, Sid Simon, Cliff Stewart, and Bob Koser.

Tickets Available

Ray Fortunato is coordinating director of "Don't Stop Now." Gleesingers are directed by Barr, and John Price, Ed Rolf, and Mills are dialogue directors. Don Stahl and Joanne McNally are dance directors.

Tickets and reserved seats for the show are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main. They are priced at $1 for Thursday and $1.25 for Friday and Saturday performances.

Thespians' fall shows are original productions on the order of "Bottoms Up," which played at Schwab during Homecoming Weekend last year. This is the first year since 1940 that the College has had a Homecoming Queen, and the first time the rifle squad is part of the show.

"An American in Paris" is the theme of an exhibit planned by landscaping and ornamental horticulture students for the Horticulture Show, to be held Saturday in the Stock Pavilion in conjunction with Homecoming activities.

Rather than paintings being sold along the streets of Paris as depicted in the movie, landscape drawings will be mounted on easels at each side of an imaginary roadway. In the background will be a painted building flanked by real shrubs and bushes arranged by the landscaping committee, William Forey, chairman of the committee, stated.

The ornamental division will join the landscapers in setting up the display, and will be in charge of completely encircling the interior of the pavilion with evergreen trees.

Floriculture students will arrange an exhibit similar to a flower market in Paris. Robert Buckner, chairman of the Floriculture department, stated that both garden and greenhouse flowers will be used in the display. Different floral arrangements and potted plants will be a main feature in this section.

Pomology, olericulture, and plant breeding students will have sections for displays in the Hort Show.

Also exhibited are originals and prints from 12 artists including William Glackens, Hobson Pittman, John Sloan, George Biddle, Charles DeMuth, George B. Luks, Earl Horter, Mary Cassatt, Thomas Eakins, Julius Bloch, Charles Sheeler, and Joseph Pennell.
