

Coed Nominations Begin Tomorrow

Self-nominations for freshman and sophomore representatives to the Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association open tomorrow and continue until Wednesday.

Elections will be held Oct. 28 and 30.

Two freshman senators will be elected to WSGA Senate. Any freshman woman is eligible to nominate herself. However, if elected, she must have a 1.5 All-College average at the end of the fall semester.

Trabue Asks School, Politics Separation

Marion R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education, Tuesday called for the separation of "partisan politics" from the Pennsylvania public school system, the Associated Press reported.

He spoke at the closing session of the Pennsylvania branch of the National Association of Secondary School Principals meeting in Harrisburg.

"As long as we in Pennsylvania keep the election of public school officials tied in with the election of government officials sponsored by political parties, we shall be preventing public education from serving effectively as the 'check' it was intended to be on political excesses," Trabue said.

"It is a shame that we must accept the idea of a political appointee running a college," Trabue said. "Education must be a control on political thinking, not a tool of political action."

Trabue said the present system of appointment by the governor makes "political plums" of offices in the department of public instruction.

"The schools are receiving far too little inspiration and educational leadership from the department," he said.

Junior, Senior Women Get More 11 O'Clocks

Senate of the Women's Student Government Association last night unanimously approved an amendment to the constitution giving fifth and sixth semester women six 11 o'clocks a semester and seventh semester women eight 11 o'clocks.

The amendment will go into effect immediately. Groups mentioned had previously received four 11 o'clocks a semester.

IFC Forum To Discuss Problems

The first phase of the third annual Interfraternity Council workshop program will get underway next Tuesday with a series of discussions and dinners for the purpose of uncovering, discussing, and trying to solve fraternity problems.

At forum-type meetings, with each house represented, discussion groups will exchange ideas and adopt recommendations to make to IFC.

The dinners will be held in ten fraternities. A member from each house will attend one of the ten dinners. The houses at which the dinners will be held will send their members to other houses, displacing about 1000 fraternity men.

The houses holding dinners and discussion periods Tuesday will also hold discussion periods Oct. 22 and 23. Each of the houses will deal with one of ten phases in fraternity life.

Discussion groups, their chairmen, and their location are: chapter advisers, James Carrigan, Phi Epsilon Pi; rushing chairmen, Joseph Connolly, Phi Kappa Sigma; house managers, Charles Signorino, Chi Phi; chapter treasurers, William Lindsay, Phi Kappa Tau; pledgemastrs, William Hafley, Alpha Sigma Phi; social chairmen, Paul Asplundh, Kappa Delta Rho; public relations chairmen, William Wagner, Alpha Tau Omega; scholarship chairmen, Gerald Garman, Sigma Pi; alumni relations chairmen, William Rae, Alpha Zeta; house presidents, John Kaufman, Phi Sigma Kappa.

WRA Board Approves Freshman LaVie Fee

The executive board of the Women's Recreation Association Tuesday night gave unanimous approval to the recommended $2 LaVie fee for freshman students.

Mabel Marple, WRA president, announced that WRA will send two teams to the hockey playday at Bucknell University Saturday.

Belle-Hop Queen Deadline Moved

The deadline for entries of candidates for the Belle-Hop Ball Queen title has been extended to Monday, George Mann, publicity chairman, has announced.

Sponsored by the Greeters Club, the dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight Oct. 25 in Recreation Hall. Music for the dance will be provided by Jim Erb's Penn State Blue Notes.

Entries for the contest may be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main or 4E Home Economics. Each photograph must be 8 by 10 inches and accompanied by statistics.

To Make Penn Trip
Candidates may be sponsored by any campus or town organization. Other requirements are that the candidate not be a previous holder of the title and that she be a student at the College.

Among the gifts the queen will receive is a trip to the University of Pennsylvania-Penn State football game Nov. 1. While there she will occupy the Royal Suite of the Penn Sheraton Hotel. A reception after the game will be held in her honor.

At her disposal for the weekend will be a Chrysler Imperial car, and interviews on television and radio are included in her schedule.

To Be Dinner Guests
In addition to the trip to Philadelphia, the queen will receive an engraved cup and gifts contributed by local merchants.

The five finalists will be guests of the State College Hotel Oct. 25 prior to the coronation that night in Recreation Hall. Oct. 26 the queen and her escort will be guests of the Eutaw House.

WRA Schedules Coed 'Swim-kana'

A "Swim-kana" will be featured at the Women's Recreation Association play night Saturday at White Hall. A "Swim-kana" is a program of games and novelty races in the pool.

White Hall will be open from 7:30 to 9 p.m. After the program apples, cider, and doughnuts will be served.

The Swimming Club will help with the program, according to Nancy Lusk, club president.

Co-Edits

Alpha Chi Omega

New pledge class officers of Alpha Chi Omega are Virginia Chesley, president; Jane Kratz, vice president; Margaret Trexell, secretary-treasurer; and Virginia Coskery, song leader.

Gamma Phi Beta

Sisters and pledges of Gamma Phi Beta entertained the Aye Sees at a coffee hour in the suite recently.

Last weekend the sisters held a cabin party for the pledges at the Women's Recreation Association cabin.

him to be a typical Southerner on civil rights issues, but he could hardly be called a white supremacist or accused of inaction on civil rights. Early in the campaign, Sparkman said he was in favor of action on the issue. His qualification, however, was that he did not want federal action, such as the federal Fair Employment Practices Act. He believes civil rights are basically a problem of the individual states.

Sparkman points out that FEPC and some other civil rights issues have become what he calls symbols, or political flags, which, when mentioned, are thought of as partisan policies rather than as issues themselves.

"Let's start from scratch" on civil rights, the Alabaman says. "Let's start on the basic assumption that the federal Constitution guarantees to everybody, regardless of who or what he is, certain rights and that it is the duty of the federal government to make certain that people enjoy these rights."

These don't sound like the words of a white supremacist or a Ku Klux Klanner, as Republicans have charged, but then, too, it is important to look at Sparkman's voting record. By his own admission, he voted with the South on all civil rights issues.

That included support of the Southern filibuster to prevent a civil rights issue vote in the Senate. And Sparkman voted against the liberal bills opposing lynching and the poll tax. He is Southern through and through.

But then, that's why the Democrats chose him.

Local Sororities May Be Panhel Council Members

Panhellenic Council, sorority governing body, has passed a constitutional amendment allowing local sororities to become associate members of Panhel with all its privileges except voting and holding office.

A local group must meet the Panhel and be recognized by the Senate committee on student affairs before it may petition for membership.

The group may have no fewer than 12 members. Eight must be sophomores and juniors.

Approve Frash Fee

Reports from sorority delegates on improvement of the rushing code were deferred until the next meeting.

Panhel unanimously approved the proposal before All-College Cabinet to assess freshmen $2 for LaVie.

The council passed the suggestion that each sorority present flowers to Chapel on a Sunday to be designated by Janet Melzer. Miss Melzer was appointed by Marlene Heyman, president.

The proposal that cabinet allocate $200 for expenses of the Chess Club was not passed.

PSCA to Reserve Seats

Miss Melzer was appointed assistant rushing chairman to work with Janet Herd, chairman. The Penn State Christian Association Chapel committee announced that the center section of Schwab Auditorium will be reserved for juniors and their dates on the Sunday of Junior Week, Nov. 16, and that churches downtown would also reserve sections.
