

Cabinet Weighs Student Affairs

All-College Cabinet, the highest student governing body at the College, meets at least once every two weeks during the college year to consider matters concerning the entire student body.

Members of cabinet, which represents the various schools, social groups, and other organizations on campus, meet in the Student Government room in Old Main, usually on Thursday night. Cabinet

Football—

Offense Is Powerful

Then just last week an adrenalin-fired West Virginia twenty-two shook the Lions by the scruff of the neck and but for bad breaks would have held more than a 14-14 stalemate at halftime. Yet, the Nittany team—which has yet to be denied during the second half—rolled on and on to triumph 35-21 and thus notch its third victory of the season.

A powerful offense has been the key to early Nittany successes. The attack has been varied and has packed the deception which is so necessary at crucial points. Coach Rip Engle's winged-T offense is completely absorbed, and the results have gone up on the scoreboard.

Reserves Are Strong

Probably the main factor in the suddenly found offensive power is the all-important quarterback slot being filled with a topnotch passer—Tony Rados. The Lions have gained at will through the air thanks to Rados' excellent passing record of 38 completions in 73 throws to crack receivers Jess Arnelle, Joe Yuka and Dick Jones.

Reserve strength also has been prominent. At many positions the Lions have moved no matter whether the first or second stringer was playing.

The 1952 edition of the Nittany Lion football team is streamlined, spirited, and unlikely to be disappointing on any Saturday—win, lose or draw.

Lion Suit—

Contributions for the Lion suit fund may be made at the Daily Collegian office, basement of Carnegie Hall, and at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

At a recent meeting of the senior class it was proposed that a permanent fund of $100 be taken from the senior class gift fund for the suit. Each succeeding senior class would be asked to donate $100 to this fund, which would make funds available at all times for a new suit.

IFC Backs Additional Activities

A Latin-American dancing class, a new orientation and rushing program for freshmen and new students, and the Fraternity Marketing Association, large-scale buying plan for fraternities, are new activities Interfraternity Council is backing this year.

IFC fraternity governing body will also sponsor an outstanding fraternity award. Fraternities will enter into an all-year round competition with one another for the award. Individual houses will also purchase flowers for Chapel services under a joint IFC plan.

Dancing Class

Homecoming Weekend in fraternities consists of a program designed to welcome alumni and make them feel at home. House parties, fraternity lawn displays, a motorcade, and College sporting events will highlight the program.

A Latin American dancing class will begin Oct. 27 at the TUB with 200 students taking weekly instruction. Five classes of 40 persons each will meet from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. daily. Rosario de Murrillo, Bolivian student, will instruct the classes.

Open House Slated

The IFC rushing program got underway this week when the fraternity magazine "Penn State Fraternities" was sent to freshmen and new students. This was one phase in the IFC rushing program designed to orient students toward the fraternity system.

An open house, with all houses taking part, is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 25. This will give men a chance to look over the fraternities at close range.

The Fraternity Marketing Association, large-scale buying plan for fraternities, is now serving 15 members, offering each a substantial saving on their food budgets. These savings are made possible through large-scale buying from wholesalers.

The outstanding fraternity cup, re-established this year by the IFC, will be awarded to Penn State's outstanding fraternity. The house will be selected on a point basis, with points being awarded for scholarship, intramural sports, house activities, and evaluation by other groups.

Pennsylvania is first in production of pig iron, steel, ferro-alloys, rolling mill products, structural iron work, wrought iron pipe, steel springs, metal stampings, and foundry supplies.

New Parking Plan Now in Operation

A new parking plan requiring permits to park vehicles on campus during class hours is now in effect for students and employees.

The new system, which started July 1 for faculty members and College employees and at the start of the fall semester for students, requires two stickers to be displayed on the windshield of the car at all times. One sticker identifies the car as belonging to either a student or staff member and the other designates the lot in which the vehicle is to be parked.

Boundaries Revised

Not all students have permits to park on campus. Students living in dormitories are allotted parking permits, and students who live outside the boundaries of a restricted area are classed with commuting students who receive parking permits.

The boundaries of the restricted area have been revised since the start of classes to permit more students to park on campus. This area is bounded on the north by Mitchell avenue, on the east by Holmes and Pine streets, on the south by a line midway between Prospect and Hamilton avenues, and on the west by a line midway between S. Patterson and S. Sparks streets to the south of the College golf course, and midway between Franklin street and Fairway road to the north of the golf course.

Parking Spaces Increased

Faculty members and staff personnel are allotted parking places through the deans of the schools and department heads according to the quota allotted each department.

Last year there were 2562 parking spaces for about 4000 student and staff cars. The number of parking spaces has been increased this year to about 2850, according to the Campus Patrol office.

Parking areas are designated by number, and parked cars must display stickers bearing lot numbers coinciding with the area number during enforcement hours.

The plan is enforced between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday. There are no restrictions for other periods.

Cars may not be parked in an area other than the one designated on the permit during enforcement hours.

Collegian Announces

Bennett's Resignation

The resignation of Dorothy Bennett as librarian of the Daily Collegian has been announced by David Pellnitz, editor.

Miss Bennett did not return to school this fall because of illness. Nancy Luetzel, Collegian exchange editor, will temporarily assume the duties of librarian.
