Political Nominees Need Majority Vote

As a result of a change in the all-College elections code, a majority vote is now required for a person to be nominated for candidacy by a political party clique, Ronald Thorpe, elections committee chairman, said yesterday.

The change in the code, under methods of nomination, now reads: "If a majority is not reached on the first ballot, all but the two highest candidates will be dropped and another ballot taken, with the candidate receiving the majority vote considered nominated."

Penn Seat Complaints Accumulate

Complaints about the quality of the $3.90 seats for the Penn State-University of Pennsylvania football game poured into the Athletic Association office yesterday, according to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics.

In answer to complaints, Gilbert said, "You can't put everybody on the 50-yard line."

The $3.90 seats, all of which have been sold, occupy sections NB to NM in Franklin Field, Philadelphia. The sections are located along the sidelines and extend beyond both goal lines.

The $2.60 seats are located behind the end zones and in section NA. Section NA is on the extreme end of the sideline seats. Tickets are still available for the $2.60 seats, Gilbert said.

Refunds on ticket sales will be made until 5 p.m. Wednesday, he said.

Students filled the hall opposite the Athletic Association office in Old Main yesterday when they started lining up at 8 a.m. to obtain tickets.

There was no count taken on the number of tickets distributed, Gilbert said.

Tickets ordered through student applications will be distributed until all have been claimed.

Seniors to Be Charged Yearbook Photo Fee

Seniors will be charged a $1.50 fee when they return their LaVie proofs to the Penn State Photo Shop, Douglas Schoerke, editor, has announced.

The fee is charged each year to help offset costs of printing and developing, Schoerke explained.

Prexy, Engle, Simes To Speak at Rally

President Milton S. Eisenhower will speak at the pre-Michigan State pep rally at 7:30 tonight in front of Recreation Hall. Also speaking at the team sendoff will be Rip Engle, head football coach, and Frank J. Simes, dean of men.

The Blue Band, conducted by James W. Dunlop, will be on hand at the rally, David Arnold, Druids president, has announced. Druids, sophomore men's hat society, is sponsoring the pep rally.

Arnold has announced that Samuel Nowell will emcee. Nowell said he expects to introduce a Michigan State Spartan in full regalia at the rally, "just to scare people."

The entire football squad will be present, Arnold said. Head

New Checking System Used

Previously, a person could be nominated by the clique for a class or All-College office by receiving a plurality vote. The change in the code will be put into effect Sunday night when the Lion and State party cliques meet to complete nominations and vote on candidates for freshman and sophomore class offices.

Thorpe announced that a new system of checking names will be used at the clique meetings Sunday. Members of the elections committee will be stationed at tables in front of the main doors of 10 and 121 Sparks, where the Lion and State parties, respectively, will meet.

Before being admitted to the clique meeting, a student must present his matriculation card at one of the tables. It will be checked with the list of members that the party has submitted to the elections committee. The list indicates that a person has attended at least one of the two clique meetings held by the party.

Attendance Requirements

Following the checking of names, that person will receive a freshman and sophomore ballot and a clique card. The student will then take his clique card to the entrance, where it will be checked again.

To be able to attend Sunday's clique meetings, a person must have attended at least one previous clique meeting, and his name must appear on one of the lists submitted to the elections committee, Thorpe said.

The clique meetings are scheduled for 7 p.m.

Inklings Material Wanted

Fiction and poetry are being accepted by Inklings, campus literary magazine, for use in the fall issue.

Material should be addressed to Inklings and left at the Student Union desk, in Old Main, John Hoerr, editor, has announced.

Rec Hall Seating Plans Rejected by AIM Board

Both the plan to allocate 300 seats for alumni, faculty members and others at indoor sports events and the plan to issue two different colored Athletic Association books allowing students to see only one-half the athletic events were defeated by the Board of Governors of the Association of Independent Men last night.

The board appointed a committee to investigate an AIM Board of Control that would operate similar to the Interfraternity Council Board of Control.

Both plans for Recreation Hall seating were suggested by Dean Ernest B. McCoy of the School of Physical Education and Athletics at a joint special meeting of All-College Cabinet and the Athletic Association.

The first plan would allocate 300 seats for the public at the indoor events. The second plan, defeated by the Board with no affirmative vote, would have divided the student body in half, issued a different color AA book to each half, and allowed only one half to see each night's events.

William Shifflett, AIM president, appointed AIM committees. Thomas Dennis was appointed to the Campus Chest committee, Michael Papowniak to the Dink Debut committee, and Melvin Rubin to the publications committee.

The Junior Prom weekend committee will include Joseph Haines, chairman, and Joseph Gardecki; the social committee, Sheldon Odland, chairman, and Robert Frank; and publicity committee, Peter Prinzivalli, chairman, and John Mallick.

Donald Douglass was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the powers and regulation of an AIM Board of Control. Others appointed to the committee are Robert Hance, Dennis, and Edward Thieme.

The board voted to support the blood drive scheduled for Nov. 11 and 12.

The board's LaVie picture will be taken at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at the Penn State Photo Shop.

$2 LaVie Fee, Chess Request Are on Agenda

All-College Cabinet will act on requests for funds for the Chess Club and the student handbook and will view the proposal for a $2 freshman LaVie fee at its meeting at 8 tonight in Old Main.

As all three issues involve finances of more than $100, they must be acted on at two cabinet meetings. The LaVie fee proposal was approved for the first time at cabinet's last meeting two weeks ago.

Chess Club president Peter Betley presented the recommendation asking $200 for the club at that meeting. Betley told cabinet at that time that students in the club had been covering their own expenses, which amounted to about $50 a man each year. In 1950 the chess team won the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate championship.

The request of allocation of money for the student handbook—$421.17 was asked—was presented by John Hoerr, editor of the publication. At the same time Hoerr announced four other proposals which were acted on immediately for they involved no finances. All four were approved.

David Pellnitz, editor of the Daily Collegian, will propose to cabinet that a yearly fund be set (Continued on page eight)

Debate Selects Fourteen Frosh

Fourteen freshman women have been placed on the women's debate squad. Freshmen were not required to try out to join the team but had only to show sufficient interest in debating and in arguing the national intercollegiate debate topic.

Those named to the squad are Mary Cabeen, Joan Donovan, Helen Freyvogel, Mazie Gerhart, Barbara Hinger, Charlotte Kagan, Joanne Montgomery, Carole Merrin, Judith Newell, Leah Obert, Sarah Pickett, Lola Rogins, Nancy Silverman, and Doris Thiessen.

Two upperclass women were admitted to the team following special tryouts. They are Eleanor Rakosi and Barbara Tokarsky.

Home Ec Seniors Scheduled for Photos

Seniors in the School of Home Economics may have their pictures taken for the 1953 LaVie today through Tuesday at the Penn State Photo Shop.

Men are asked to wear suits, white shirts, and ties. Women are requested to wear white or plain colors.
