STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 28, 1952

FIVE CENTS

Blood Drive Applications Available

Pledge forms for blood donors in the Nov. 11 and 12 campus blood drive are available in 112 Old Main. Ronald Zimmerman, publicity chairman, has announced.

Forms should be turned in to 112 Old Main by Nov. 5, Zimmerman said, so that appointments may be sent by mail to the donors.

Students between the ages of 18 and 21 are required to get release forms signed by their parents. The release forms also available in 112 Old Main, are due Nov. 5.

Last year's November blood drive at the College skyrocketed past its 600-pint goal to a total of 915 pledges. When the Red Cross bloodmobile unit arrived on campus, it could handle only 768 of those pledges.

This year's campus goal has been set at 300 pints. Officials have not announced whether pledges beyond that number will be accepted.

The Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be at the Temporary Union Building during the two-day drive. Appointments will be scheduled between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Blood donors will be served orange juice and doughnuts by the campus Red Cross unit, under the chairmanship of Ruth Minkel.

Persons interested in helping with the canteen are asked to contact Helen Jones, 214 Woman's Building, or Kay Brainerd, 235 Atherton.

Lion Suit Fund Reaches $533

A $25 contribution for the Lion suit fund from Blue Key, junior men's hat society, and a $8.25 donation from the ground, first, and second floors of Atherton Hall have brought the fund total to $533.83.

A permanent fund for the Lion suit was set up by approval of All-College Cabinet Thursday night. By supplying a continuous source of money a permanent fund, if established, would eliminate the need for a fund drive, David Pellnitz, chairman of the Board of Publications, explained.

West Dorm Council Passes Dating Code

A revised dating code, permitting chaperoned dating in the lounges of McKee, Hamilton, and Irvin Halls, and recreation rooms on the A levels of Hamilton and McKee Halls passed the West Dorm Council last night, and will be presented to the Senate committee on Student Welfare by Dean of Men Frank J. Simes today.

Under the code, dating will be permitted in the lounges and recreation rooms from 2 p.m. to 1 a.m., Friday and Saturday nights, and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sundays.

An amendment was passed at the council meeting, after approval was unanimously given by area students at a special meet-

Politicos Nominate 12 To Frosh, Soph Posts

State Clique Choses Homan, Murphy, Miller

Rober Homan, third semester psychology major, and Michael Murphy, first semester commerce major, were elected Sunday as State Party nominees for sophomore and freshman class president.

William Rother was selected to run for vice-president and Marcia Phillips secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class on the State ticket.

Forrest Miller and Ann Lederman were named as nominees for the freshman vice president and secretary-treasurer offices.

Homan and Rother were unopposed for their sophomore office nominations. All those nominated by the party were backed by the party steering committee.

Miss Phillips won a majority vote on the first ballot against Faith Gallagher and Dorothy Swanson. A change in the All-College elections code this year requires that nominees be selected by majority vote.

Others whose names were proposed for freshman class nominations were James Colbertson, president; Alan Dash, vice president; and Marilyn Bugan, secretary-treasurer.

Walter Sachs, chairman of the State Party, told the clique meeting that "the party needs every vote and every vote you can get out." He asked that there be no apathy among party members like there was last year when many didn't vote because they were sure the election would be easily won.

Nearly 200 persons attended the meeting.

Religion in Life Week

The Religion in Life Week program committee will meet at 7:30 tonight in 304 Old Main. Plans for a new kind of program will be discussed, William Griffith, chairman of the committee, said.

Who Done It?

THE NITTANY LION, striped with orange and black paint early Sunday morning, shows Halloween spirit a week ahead of time. John Semmer and Robert Schlegel inspect the shrine, which was protected for home game weekends but left unguarded this weekend.

Lion Shrine Caught In Halloween Spirit

By SHIRLEY MUSGRAVE

It's happened again, despite the determined efforts of fraternity pledges and dorm groups. Looking somewhat like a dejected tiger, the Nittany Lion is now sporting a bright orange and black striped coat of paint this year.

The shrine has been well guarded this year over the home football game weekends, but apparently the painters found little resistance Sunday morning in humiliating the Lion with his first coat of paint this year.

Was it a group of over-enthusiastic Halloweeners who thought the Lion should get into the spirit of things, color-wise that is, or did Syracuse hope to impress us with its colors? This seems a little unlikely with the Syracuse game almost two weeks away. But so far, it's anybody's guess.

The Campus Patrol is in a dilemma too, according to Capt. Philip Mark, with his guess being either one of the two previously mentioned. Any information or clues on the painting, which occurred between 3:30 and 5:30 a.m. Sunday, would be appreciated, Captain Mark said.

Men will soon be busy with the task of scouring and cleaning the shrine, a process which this time will cost at least $30. The protective wax covering put on the Lion some time ago is helping, but in Captain Mark's opinion hasn't been replenished often enough. With each cleaning job, off come the edges and contours of the Lion. At this rate, he'll soon be Lilliputian, Mark warned.

Orange seems to be a favorite color for such misdeeds. That's what he was painted April 19 of last year.

And the solution to the problem—how would Penn State's mascot look on top of Rec Hall? Safer, at least.

Eng Council to Discuss Constitution, Rec Hall

Changes in the constitution of the Engineering Student Council will be introduced, and the Recreation Hall seating plan will be discussed at a meeting of the Engineering Student Council tonight in 107 Main Engineering.

ing earlier in the West Dorm lounge. The amendment, proposed by Hugh Cline, calls for a committee of the West Dorm council to work in conjunction with resident counselors who will serve as chaperones.

The code as passed differs in two respects from that tabled last year by the Senate committee: it provides for chaperoned rather than unchaperoned dating, and eliminates dating in these areas weekdays.

Some members of the council objected to the fact that the code as presented last year was rejected, when fraternities can conduct unchaperoned dating until 8:30 p.m. weekdays, and until 1 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights.

Strong opposition to the plan was raised by Andrew Jaros, vice-president of the council, who said that the dean of women would not accept anything less than an entirely counselor-chaperoned plan, and that the board of control, now under consideration by Board of Governors of the Association of Independent Men, might replace provisions of the code if established.

Hance said that if the West Dorm dating code proved effective (Continued on page eight)

Radio Guild to Meet

The Radio Guild publicity committee will meet at 7:15 tonight in 306 Sparks.

Lion Party Names Bowers, Mercer to Run

Richard Mercer, third semester commerce major, and James Bowers, first semester chemical engineering major, are the Lion Party's candidates for sophomore and freshman class presidents. Elections were held at the clique meeting Sunday night.

One hundred and sixty-five students who received Lion clique cards elected Mercer over Daniel Wilder and Albert Bertani. Bowers won out over William Buckley, Donald Harriz, and Russell Miller.

The Lion Party sophomore ticket is rounded out with William Brill and Nancy Scofield as vice presidential and secretary-treasurer candidates. Brill was unopposed for the position, and Miss Scofield defeated Mary Lou Brenner.

The freshman vice presidential candidate, Philip Lang, received a majority on the first ballot over James Kershner, John Walko, and James Snyder.

However, in the selection of the freshman class candidate for secretary-treasurer, two ballots had to be taken before Barbara Bransdorf had a majority vote. She defeated Susan Pennock and Patricia Douthett.

The majority vote ruling was set up by the All-College elections committee. Richard Kirschner, Lion clique chairman, read the elections code to the group. It is a requirement that the code be read at the meeting when candidates are elected.

Kirschner encouraged party members to get out and work for the candidates. He emphasized the importance of getting the women voters to the polls Nov. 13.

Party campaigns will begin at noon Nov. 6. Each party may spend no more than $150 on its campaigns. Elections regulations and enforcement of the regulations are handled by the elections committee.

Ag Hill Party Ducats on Sale

Tickets go on sale today for the Ag Hill party to be held Nov. 8 in Recreation Hall, E. A. Mintmier, chairman, announced.

Sales will begin among departments of the School of Agriculture, and members of the campus 4-H Club will be in charge of the ticket sales.

Nearly 300 students and faculty members are working on plans for the six-hour program. Master of ceremonies Edgar Fehnel was chosen in a competitive tryout last week.

Inkling to Give $10 For Best Fiction

A $10 award will be made for the best fiction used in the fall issue of Inkling, campus literary magazine, John Hoerr, editor, has announced.

Several poetry contributions have been made, but more fiction is needed, Hoerr said. Material should be addressed to Inkling and left at the Student Union desk in Old Main.
