

Nittany Council Accepts AIM Control Plans

The Nittany Council went on record last night as approving the proposed plan for the Association of Independent Men's Board of Control. The council voted unanimously to accept the plan, which will create a board similar to that of the IFC. The group also made plans to enter a float in the Junior Week Motorcade which is being sponsored by the Junior class. The motorcade will make up a portion of the Mummers Parade which will precede the Rutgers-Penn State football game.

At the present time the council is taking action to acquire additional washing machines and dryers for the area. It is also attempting to have new locks put on the doors in the Nittany Dorms.

Council president Thomas Dennis appointed Perry Wetzel as the area's representative to the Blood Drive Committee, and Robert Harding as representative for the area in the Campus Chest drive. The council will meet again Monday, Nov. 10, at 6:30 p.m. in Nittany Dorm 20.

WD Dating --

tive, it would aid in the passing of the Board of Control by AIM.

The new dating code was presented by Robert Solomen, chairman of the West Dorm dating code committee.

As originally presented, no reference was made in the code to whom the chaperons would be. It was pointed out at the meeting that it would be a tremendous job for the counselors to be asked to chaperon dating from 2 p.m. to 1 a.m. over the weekends. Counselors are paid for counseling, not as chaperones, one council member said.

No women would be allowed in other dormitory areas except those mentioned in the code, Hance said. Women guests will be required to enter and leave by the entrance adjacent to the lounges.

Stevens Elected Pivot Editor For Fall Issue

Arthur Stevens has been elected editor of the fall issue of Pivot, campus poetry magazine, Prof. Joseph L. Grucci, faculty adviser, has announced.

Robert Young and Kenneth Doverspike were elected associate editors. Other staff members include Ruth Abt, Margo Grossman, and Anne Bullock, assistant editors; Patricia Nutter, secretary-treasurer; and Renee Kluger, business manager.

Members of the circulation staff appointed by Miss Kluger are Lila Spinner, Lois Sloan, Leanne Golden, Irene Pollack, and Ruth Kluger.

Students may submit material for the fall issue of Pivot in 245 Sparks.

The $25 Fred Lewis Pattee poetry award is presented in the spring for the most outstanding entries in the fall magazine.

Chemistry Profs To Give Lectures

Dr. Thomas S. Oakwood, professor of organic chemistry, and Dr. Philip S. Skell, assistant professor of chemistry, will deliver organic chemistry lectures this week.

Dr. Oakford will speak at 4:10 p.m. today in 119 Osmond on "The Cleavage of Bromoamides," and Dr. Skell will speak at 4:10 p.m. tomorrow in 117 Osmond on "Reactivities of RH and RX Compounds in Radical Reactions."

Two Councils Will Continue Nominations

Nominations of first semester freshmen for seats on student councils continue in two schools today.

Elections will be held in six schools Thursday and Friday.

The Mineral Industries school elected freshman representatives yesterday. The Agriculture school does not hold school-wide elections as the council is composed of representatives from Ag school clubs.

To run for one of the four seats on the Liberal Arts Student Council, a student must submit a petition with names of 25 freshman liberal arts students by noon today to the Dean's office in 132 Sparks.

If the nominee desires, he may submit a poster no larger than 8 by 10 inches with his name, qualifications, or picture. The posters will be placed beside the polls during the elections.

One man and one woman will be elected to the Physical Education Student Council. Students may turn in their names at Moffat Cottage or to council members by 5 p.m. today.

Two Employees Retire

Louise V. Corbin, statistical clerk in the Ellen H. Richards Institute for more than six years, and Robert N. Hamilton, a carpenter with the College since 1939, have retired.

In aluminum production, Pennsylvania ranks first.

Ed Training Plan Widened

Special training for students in education is being offered by the College as a result of the nationwide shortage of school facilities.

Nora Graffius, assistant professor of education, and 36 of her students in elementary education have equipped a four-room apartment, rented by local officials, for use as a kindergarten. The new kindergarten contains a model store and a miniature kitchen equipped with a stove, refrigerator, cupboard and ironing board.

Mrs. Graffius said this experience has been excellent training for the college students as well as being useful in overcoming the shortage.

Today Is Deadline For Home Ec Photos

Today is the last day seniors in the School of Home Economics may have their pictures taken for the 1953 LaVie. Liberal Arts seniors (A-M) may have their pictures taken tomorrow through Nov. 5 at the Penn State Photo Shop, official LaVie photographer.

50 Couples Attend Dance in McKee Hall

Approximately 50 couples attended a dance for residents of second floor McKee Hall Friday evening, second floor secretary Ralph Bayfield announced.

The dance, held in the "Bamboo Lounge," was the second activity on the McKee schedule.
