

Freshmen Vote

—Photo by Freeburn
FAY GOLDSTEIN and Tammy Keitz vote for freshman Liberal Arts Student Council representatives while ballot-takers Larry Gedrich (left) and Watson Reese look on. Voting for freshman representatives to five school councils ends today. The Education council election is being held in 105 Burrowes; Engineering in Main Engineering; Home Economics in Home Economics Building; Chemistry-Physics in Osmond Laboratory; and Liberal Arts in Sparks lobby.

Elections Group OK's Platforms

By MARSHALL DONLEY

The All-College elections committee last night approved the platforms of both Lion and State Parties. The complete platforms will appear in Wednesday's Daily Collegian.

The All-College elections code requires approval of the full platforms before the parties can begin campaigning. Opening date for campaigns this year is 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

Blood Drive Pledge List Reaches 92

Pledges for the Nov. 11 and 12 blood drive at the College reached 92 pints at 5 p.m. yesterday. Goal for the drive is 300 pints, Ruth Minkel, chairman of the campus Red Cross unit, said.

Applications for donors, available in 112 Old Main, are due Wednesday.

Students between the ages of 18 and 21 who wish to donate a pint of blood must have a release form signed by their parents by Wednesday. Ronald Zimmerman, publicity chairman for the drive, suggested that students take the release form home to be signed this weekend.

The Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Temporary Union Building between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. for the two-day stay. It is hoped that 150 persons will be handled on each day, Miss Minkel said.

Zimmerman said the goal aimed for is high, but he hopes students will cooperate and complete the drive successfully.

Orange juice and doughnuts will be served to donors by members of the campus Red Cross unit.

Schilling to Speak

Dr. Harold K. Schilling, dean of the Graduate School, will speak on "Unusual Physics Lecture Demonstrations—Why and How?" at the Faculty Luncheon Club noon Monday at the State College Hotel.

DRY CLEANING SPECIAL

3 GARMENTS BEAUTIFULLY CLEANED FOR THE PRICE OF 2!

Bring your clothes down today

222 FROMM'S 222
 W. Beaver W. Beaver

Cupid Reigns Over Halloween

By HELEN LUYBEN

Take one ball of yarn. Add two hazelnuts, a candle, mirror, two apple seeds, and an apple paring. Combine with Halloween night and you'll come up with the man you'll marry someday.

This may sound like a very feminine recipe, men, but the process works both ways.

If you thought Halloween was just a night for spirits of the dead, ghosts, witches, devils, elves, and goblins to wander the earth, you've got a surprise coming.

Halloween night, according to Christian superstition, Druid beliefs, and classic mythology, is the one night of the year a woman can glimpse the apparition of her future spouse. Halloween, the eve of All Saints Day, is known universally as a night of superstition and communication between the dead spirits and the living. On what more appropriate night could earthly persons be endowed with the strange power to see whom they'll marry?

Four different methods by which apparitions may be seen have been passed down through the centuries.

1. Take a ball of yarn and throw it out the window, letting the yarn fall to the ground. Then rewind the yarn, repeating the Lord's Prayer backwards as you wind, and watching the ball of yarn. If you've followed directions carefully, your lover will appear at the ball of yarn outside your window. (Women on the fourth floor of McElwain Hall are advised to use large balls of yarn.)

2. There are two variations of this mirror-method. (a) Light a candle and walk down the cellar stairs carrying the candle in one hand, a mirror in the other. Watch closely in the mirror for your lover to appear over your shoulder.

(b) Sit in front of the mirror and eat an apple. This variation gets the same result, and is recommended for women without cellars. (The first method is recommended for women without apples. If no mirror, go on to No. 3.)

3. Just before you go to bed, take a smock (coed may substitute long-sleeved blouse), wet its sleeve, and hang it by the fire to dry. (Coed without fireplace could substitute radiator.) Then go to bed, but do not sleep. At midnight the apparition of your spouse will appear and turn the smock (or long-sleeved blouse.)

4. This, too, must be done just before going to bed. Take a glass of water and drop a small piece of wood into it. (Coeds are advised here to use wood other than from desks, chairs, etc.) Then go to sleep. You'll dream that you're falling from a bridge, and the man who saves you will be your husband some day. (Don't become discouraged if you are left to drown. You can always try again next Oct. 31.)

Four Halloween-night-tricks which will help you choose between two lovers or predict the outcome of a romance stem from ancient customs and beliefs. Try these:

1. Get two hazelnuts and place them side by side in a bonfire, labeling one YOU and the other HE. If both burn together quietly, good. This denotes sincere affection and, ultimately, marriage. But if the nuts crack and sputter, beware! This indicates unfaithfulness.

(This little feat works for the woman trying to decide between two men. The lady simply labels them with her rivals' names and awaits the reaction. The same interpretations apply.)

2. This trick can also help you choose between two admirers. Peel an apple in one continuous paring, then swing the paring three times around your head, and drop it. Miraculously it will fall in the shape of the initial of your true love's first name.

3. If the two admirers should have the same initial, as in Joe and John, substitute this method. While you have the apple, eat it. Now get two of its seeds. Label the seeds for each possibility, and put the seed on your eyelids. If the Joe-seed drops first, drop Joe immediately. His love is obviously not adhesive.

4. To be sure you've chosen the right lover try this: Just before you go to bed, take two roses and label them YOU and HE. Kneel at your bedside and repeat this verse, twisting the rose stems together.

"Twin, twine, intertwine
 Let my love be wholly mine
 If his heart be red and true
 Deeper grow his rose's hue."
 If your swain's rose darkens,
 you may climb into bed and rest assured of his love for you.

Two Students Out on Bail

Two students were found guilty in a hearing Wednesday in connection with the theft of a 1928 Dodge in State College Saturday evening.

They were released on $200 bail each for the next term of county court. The hearing was held before Guy G. Mills, justice of the peace.

Walter McNally Jr., first semester liberal arts major, was charged with larceny of a motor vehicle. William A. Yerkes, third semester chemistry major, was charged with being an accessory before and after the fact.

The two men reportedly wrecked and abandoned the car near the drive-in theater between Bellefonte and State College after it was taken from in front of a diner.

Community Forum Tickets Available

Approximately one-fourth of the reserved seat tickets for the 1952-53 Community Forum series have been claimed at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Reserved seats for the series may be purchased as a set for $3 or obtained by exchanging season ticket cards bought during the recent campaign.

Honor Line to Usher Team Onto Penn Field

Hatmen will form the traditional honor line to usher the Penn State football team onto the field at the Penn game tomorrow.

James Plyler, president of Hat Society Council, has asked hatmen to wear their hats to the game and to participate in the honor line.

They will meet at 1:15 p.m. in front of student sections NB and NC.

University of Pennsylvania freshmen will form an honor line for the Penn team.

Miss Junior Class Photo Entries Due

Entries for the title of Miss Junior Class may be submitted at the Student Union desk until noon Wednesday, Irvin White, chairman of the selection committee, has announced.

Groups or individuals may sponsor any regularly matriculated junior woman for the title. White said that although photographs 5 by 7 or 8 by 10 inches are preferred for the contest, it is not essential that they be that size. Wallet-size photographs, but no snapshots, will be accepted.

BE SURE TO VOTE

Graduate Association To Hold Dance Tonight

The Graduate Student Association will sponsor a dance and card party 8 to 12 tonight in the TUB. Refreshments will be served.

The mixer is open to all graduate students, their friends, and faculty members.

Town House

For

- Supper Parties
- Banquets
- Special occasion dinners

Call Harold at 6301

Today WARNER theatres

Cathann

KIRK DOUGLAS
 DEWEY MARTIN
 HOWARD HAWK'S
 "BIG SKY"

State

JEAN PETERS
 JEFFREY HUNTER
 "LURE OF THE WILDERNESS"

Nittany

Maugham Tales Make Fine Package Life Mag.

"TRIO"

COLD

ANNOYING YOU?

Our drug department is fully stocked . . . and we have registered pharmacists to fill your doctor's prescriptions

REA & DERICK

S. Allen Street • State College