TODAY'S WEATHER

FAIR AND COOLER

Tomorrow is the deadline for turning in pledge forms for the drive. Forms may be obtained and turned in at 112 Old Main. Students between the ages of 18 and 21 are required to have a release form signed by their parents, granting them permission to donate blood.

During the November blood drive last year, after a 600-pint goal was set, a total of 915 pints of blood was pledged. The bloodmobile could handle only 768 of those pledges.

Zimmerman said that this year's goal is aimed high, but he hopes students will cooperate and complete the drive successfully.

The Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be at the Temporary Union Building during the two-day drive. Persons donating blood will receive appointments by mail. Appointments will be between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Blood donors will be served orange juice and doughnuts by members of the campus Red Cross unit, of which Ruth Minkel is chairman.

Unlike in the past, students will not be excused from classes the day they donate blood.

Junior Breakfast Plans Announced

The junior class will hold a breakfast for class members and their dates at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 16 at the Dutch Pantry. Thomas Farrell, Junior Week chairman, has announced.

Farrell said a limited number of reservations for the breakfast will be taken at the Student Union desk in Old Main today through Monday. The price of the breakfast will be $1.25 per couple.

Jack Jenkins and his orchestra will entertain at the breakfast.

1952 Chest Drive Will Begin Today

The 1952 Campus Chest solicitation drive to raise funds for nine charitable organizations begins today with a goal of $12,000.

The drive is scheduled to continue until Nov. 18 with the faculty being solicited Nov. 11-25. Solicitors will meet at 7 tonight in 10 Sparks to receive instructions and histories of the recipients. The Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger will speak to the group.

The solicitors—members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity; Phi Sigma Sigma sorority; and members of the Campus Chest committee—will canvass students in their living quarters for contributions to the drive.

Rain Eases Forest Fire Threats

Light rains in central Pennsylvania and other parts of the state eased the threat of forest fires yesterday, but the overall danger which has existed for several weeks continues.

The small amount of rain was not expected to have much effect on the dry woodlands which have been without rain for more than two weeks. The College weather station reported that no additional rain is expected for the next few days.

The rain had no effect on the no-hunting ban, Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, announced yesterday.

"What we need is a prolonged soaking rain," he said.

The College weather station recorded only 1.21 inches of rain in October, 1.71 inches below normal, for the driest October in three years.

Hundreds of fires were reported raging in a 14-state area stretching from Pennsylvania to northern Arkansas. The worst fire conditions were reported from the West Virginia-Kentucky area where a fire in the Monongahela National Forest burned 3300 acres of timberland before being brought under control.

Contributions in any amount and pledges over $1 will be accepted. Pledges will be made on international business machine cards, and since the IBM cards cannot register amounts less than $1, pledges must be $1 or more. A student's pledge will be added to his fees for next semester.

Joseph Haines is solicitations chairman. Those in charge of each of the six solicitation areas are Thomas Dennis, dormitory men; Richard Schuler, town men; Irvin White, fraternities; Patricia Jones, town women; Virginia Opoczenski and Elsa Pasline, dormitory women; and A. H. Imhof, faculty.

The nine organizations to benefit from the drive and the percentage each will receive are the Penn State Christian Association, 46 per cent; World Student Service Fund, 13 per cent; Women's Student Government Association Christmas Fund, six per cent; State College Welfare Fund, one per cent; Salvation Army, six per cent; American Cancer Society, six per cent; Penn State Scholarship Fund, seven per cent; Heart Fund, six per cent; and the National Student Service Fund for Negro Students, five per cent. Four per cent of the income has been allocated for operating expenses.

Last year the Campus Chest received $11,890.67, more than 99 per cent of the $12,000 goal. Student donations accounted for more than $7000 of the total.

The slogan for this year's drive is "All the Beggars in One Ask-it." The Kickoff Dance, held after the Temple game pep rally, brought in $950 for this year's chest drive.

WD Council Asks New Distributions

A suggestion to the department of housing for the distribution of bed sheets in the afternoon to West Dorm area students passed the West Dorm Council last night.

The suggestion, made by Joe Somers, chairman of the housing committee, would change the time of distribution from the mornings, when it is now done, to the preceding afternoon.

Somers said many students are disturbed in the morning by the distribution of the sheets by maids. According to Somers, laundry trucks pick up the dirty laundry the morning after it is collected in the dormitories. This would not change the laundry schedule, he said.

Robert Solomon, chairman of the west dorm dating code committee, said the code will be brought before the Senate committee on student welfare this morning.

Solomon warned West Dorm students that the dating code is not yet in effect. A committee to investigate the possibilities of establishing a continuous council was approved. Somers will head the committee.

In other action, the council appropriated $35 to the West Dorm Chorus. The motion was introduced by Richard Ringling, who said the money would be used to buy music for the chorus.

The West Dorm social committee will meet at 4 p.m. tomorrow in 127 Hamilton, George Forsyth, committee chairman, announced.

Quakers Bow to State As Defense Unit Stars

Disappointed Penn rooters—and writers—were heard to murmur Saturday night following Penn State's thrilling 14-7 fifth victory, gained with less than four minutes left to play, that the Lions were lucky.

And they were lucky. Lucky to have an outstanding defensive unit which repeatedly stopped Penn scoring threats at crucial points and which was directly responsible for both Nittany touchdowns.

Otherwise, the Quakers, who played their best game of the season both offensively and defensively, had just as many opportunities as did the Lions. The difference, however, was that Penn didn't have the advantage of four brilliant defenders, backerup Pete Schoderbek and Sam Green, and tackles Stew Scheetz and Rosey Grier.

However, there were many times throughout the sunny but hazy afternoon when the large Nittany rootery among the 67,000 spectators feared defeat at the hands of a Penn team which won all honors except the one which counts. (Continued on page six)

BOB POLLARD carries the ball to the goal line to set up Penn State's first touchdown in Saturday's game against Penn. Pollard plunged over for the score on the next play. Penn's John Holland pins Pollard down while Jack Trautman (51) and Penn State's Tony Rados (22) look on.

Queen Entries Due Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for submitting entries for the title of Miss Junior Class. Fraternities and sororities have been notified that although photographs 5 by 7 or 8 by 10 inches are preferred for the contest, it is not essential that submitted photographs be this size.

Regularly matriculated junior women may be sponsored by groups or individuals. The name and address of the entrant and the sponsor's name should be placed on the back of each photograph, Irvin White, chairman of the selections committee, said.

Personal interviews with the entrants will be held by the selections committee tomorrow and Thursday. White said entrants will be notified when to appear.

Corso to Speak

Dr. John F. Corso, a new member of the psychology staff, will speak to the Psychology Club at 7 tonight in 204 Burrows.
