State Freshman Clique Elects 5 to Committees

The freshman clique of State Party last night elected Norma Weiner and Stanley Fink as co-chairmen of a publicity committee, Marilyn Bugen and Sheldon Chaiken as social committee co-chairmen, and Tamara Keitz as chairman of a finance committee.

Weiner and Fink were opposed by Rose Brein and Arthur Edwards. Other offices were uncontested because of withdrawals.

Clique president Sanford Lichtenstein went over violations in the College election code for the 30 freshman ward workers. Lichtenstein also discussed the main issues of the State Party platform to be released in tomorrow's Daily Collegian.

Barry Kay, State freshman clique adviser, discussed the plans for a possible freshman mixer in the West Dorm lounge prior to the All-College elections. Clique Treasurer Aaron Kay urged members to try to sell more of Bibler's "Little Man on Campus" books to raise funds for the proposed mixer and other party programs.

State Party nominees for vice president and secretary-treasurer of the freshman class, Forrest Miller and Ann Lederman, were introduced to the group.

letter requesting an extension of dating privileges in fraternities for freshman women.

No action was taken on the West Dorm dating code at the last committee meeting because it was not presented in a written proposal form, Dr. Henry S. Brunner, chairman, announced.

Earlier Plan Revised

As the code now stands, no dating is permitted in West Dorm lounges or recreation rooms. The twice revised proposed code permits dating privileges in the lounges of Hamilton, Irvin, and McKee halls and in the recreation rooms in Hamilton and McKee between 2 p.m. and 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays and between 2 and 10 p.m. Sundays. The code provides for the supplying of chaperones by resident counselors.

This is a revision of an earlier plan introduced March 31 that permitted unchaperoned dating from 2 to 9 p.m. during the week.

The IFC letter will also request that first semester women be allowed to date in fraternities with chaperones and that dating privileges be extended to second semester women under the IFC unchaperoned dating code.

Says Rule Outmoded

The letter lists five reasons why new consideration should be given the rule forbidding freshman women in fraternity houses.

The letter says the rule is now outmoded because it was made several years ago, and since, the fraternity situation has greatly improved. The influence of older men is gone, the letter continues, (Continued on page eight)

Penn Staters Whoop It Up on Broad Street

THE BLUE BAND and cheerleaders help hundreds of students and Penn State fans carry on a noisy pep rally in front of the Bellevue Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia Friday night. For almost two hours the enthusiastic rooters sang Penn State songs and cheered. A spontaneous parade on the sidewalks helped slow down traffic as the crowd spilled out into the street and marched up to City Hall. —Photo by Austin

Ike and Stevenson Find Pogo Tough Competition

Like a flying saucer, "I Go Pogo," has blazed its way across the wintry skies of State College. The Okefenokee Party's candidate for the President of the Entire U.S.A., Pogo, has at last accepted the draft that has been blowing through newspapers all over the country.

Pogo has been pictured by his ardent admirers as the "freshest breeze from the swamps blowing on the political scenes." I Go Pogo buttons are literally sweeping the campus. It is even rumored that freshman men are pinning their favorite coeds with Pogo buttons. One excited coed exclaimed, "Eisenhower is a wallflower, and Stevenson had his season, but oh, that cute rascal, Pogo!"

Not even Joe McCarthy can criticize Pogo's platform. It's made of the best timber available.

Every plank is made with 100 per cent American timber. Among other things, Pogo stands for aid to the Galapagos Islanders as our first line of defense in the Sargasso Sea. If elected, Pogo would establish a watchdog committee for the Lion Shrine. And, some plan would be formulated to establish the peace in the men's dorms during study hours.

Candidate Pogo has said that he is indeed "replete with rye" because he cannot make a major campaign address at the College. However, Pogo explained that, due to the recent weather around State College, he is making "a run for Havana."

He was fined $100, given a 30-day jail sentence, and ordered to pay prosecution costs.

Rip Engle Ineligible For Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Clemson Coach Frank Howard has been picked as one of the southern coaches for the annual Blue Gray All-Star game Dec. 27.

But since southern coaches are subject to bowl bids, they withheld names of the other two Gray coaches because a later selection may be necessary.

The three northern coaches are ineligible for bowls this year. They are Burt Ingwersen of Illinois, Rip Engle of Penn State and Dick Harlow, former Harvard coach who scouts for the All-Star game.

the State Party are also invited to attend the meeting. Area coordinators and section leaders will report on progress made to date.

LA Council Will Continue Rating Plans

After hearing Dean Ben Euwema discuss faculty rating programs, the Liberal Arts Student Council last night voted to continue working on a faculty rating program.

Phyllis Kalson, president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity, discussed the work of her group and a publicity committee was appointed for the professional speech by Arthur W. Einstein, associate professor of marketing and retailing, on Dec. 4.

Dean Euwema explained a faculty rating program which provided informal confidential communication between student and instructor and helped improve the teaching. The program would be voluntary and only the professor would see his ratings.

Students could rate the professor on knowledge, interest, presentation of material, ability to develop independent thinking, and fairness of examinations. A committee headed by Richard Kirschner is working on such a program.

Miss Kalson said Theta Sigma Phi sponsors speakers, "Who's In The News at Penn State," and a Matrix dinner on campus and the national group sponsors European tours and a job placement bureau.

Einstein's talk will be the first of a series of council-sponsored speeches to explain vocational opportunities to the student body. Lenore Kahanowitz, Eliza Newell, Donald Seigle, and Donna Symmonds were appointed to help Philip Greenberg, chairman of the speech committee, with publicity.

Penitentiary to Bake Ag Hill Party Hams

Jokes about Penn State and the State Pen now have a new twist. Through the efforts of Paul H. Margolf, professor of poultry husbandry, who teaches poultry classes at both institutions, hams to be served at the Ag Hill Party Saturday in Recreation Hall will be baked in the huge ovens at Rockview State Penitentiary.

According to Margolf, the committee had difficulty finding ovens large enough to bake more than 800 pounds of fresh ham needed to serve the anticipated 1600 persons at the party. Finally arrangements were completed with penitentiary officials at Rockview to use the large facilities there to cook the food.

The committee was then faced with the problem of transporting the hams from the State Penitentiary to Penn State without their being affected by the change in temperature. In order to keep them steaming hot, a trucking shuttle service was devised to haul the hams to State College.

Four agriculture student clubs are on the large food committee which is also made up of faculty members and their wives. Helen L. Denning, extension nutrition specialist, aided in planning both the menu and the food service which will have over 60 persons in the serving line. Guests are expected to be fed a complete meal in 90 minutes.

During the dinner George Ceiga will play the organ. Music for dancing from 9 p.m. to midnight will be provided by Joe Corrado and his band. The dinner is planned to begin at 5:15 p.m. in order to have all 1600 persons served by 7 p.m. when the entertainment begins. Games, skits, music, and dancing will make up the entertainment program, which will be headed by Edgar Fehnel, master of ceremonies.

Over 300 prizes in merchandise, most of them donated by various production departments in the School of Agriculture, will be awarded during the evening.

The Agriculture Student Council is sponsoring the traditional party. Last year's proceeds over and above the operating costs were used to ship agricultural supplies to one of the smaller islands of the Philippines to aid agricultural development there.

Lion Steering Group to Hold Open Meeting

The Lion Party steering committee will hold an open meeting at 7 tonight in 121 Sparks to discuss procedures for the freshman and sophomore class election campaigns which begin Thursday.

Richard Kirschner, Lion Party clique chairman, yesterday said, "Contrary to some circulating rumors about the Lion Party's steering committee meetings, these meetings have always been open to the public—and not closed."

Kirschner asked students to attend the meeting in order to get an insight into the campaigns. Richard Rostmeyer, All-College secretary-treasurer, will speak to the group on effective campaign procedures.

Kirschner said that members of
