Campus Blood Drive Hits 300 Pint Goal

The 300-pint goal set for the Nov. 11 and 12 campus blood drive was reached yesterday, according to Ronald Zimmerman, publicity chairman for the drive.

With the deadline for the turning in of pledge forms set for 5 p.m. today, it is expected that pledges will go quite a bit above the goal, Zimmerman said.

He added that no more pledge forms will be given out, because the bloodmobile unit will probably not be able to handle many extra pledges.

Pledge forms should be turned in at 112 Old Main.

The Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be at the Temporary Union Building for the two-day drive. Blood donors will be served orange juice and doughnuts by members of the campus Red Cross unit, under the chairmanship of Ruth Minkal.

Appointments for blood donors will be sent by mail within the next two days. These appointments will be scheduled between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on the two days. It is hoped that about 150 donors will be handled each day.

During this drive students will not be excused from classes the day they donate blood.

In the drive held last November, 649 pints of blood were collected. Of this, 601 pints were processed into plasma and sent to Korea. The other 48 pints were sent to Europe in whole blood form.

Blood collected in the Nov. 11 and 12 drive will also be sent to the armed forces.

AIM Board To Discuss 3 Reports

Committee reports on the proposed Association of Independent Men Board of Control, Junior Week, and the Campus Chest will be heard at the AIM Board of Governors meeting at 8 tonight in 102 Willard.

The AIM Board of Control will probably deal with individuals rather than dormitory units, unless a trouble involves a dorm, Donald Douglass, chairman of the committee, said.

In the committee report will be a suggestion that the Board of Control might impose fines on individuals in disciplinary cases. In the case of a violation of rules by a dormitory, the dormitory could be taken from intramural competition, Douglass said.

He will suggest that the Board of Governors set up the Board of Control with a limited organizational plan, and work out finer details later.

The membership of the Board of Control, according to the committee report, will be a chairman to be elected by the AIM Board of Governors, and eight members, two from each of the four member councils. These eight could be either elected by their council, appointed by their council president, or appointed by AIM.

Club to See Film

A Canadian government film on harness racing and a film on different breeds of horses will be shown to the Riding Club at 7 tonight in 217 Willard.

State, Lion Parties' Platforms Released

The All-College elections committee has approved and released the platforms of both Lion and State Parties. The planks of the platform, printed below, are the bases for the two parties' campaigns, which will begin tomorrow.

The election of freshman and sophomore class officers will take place in the Old Main lounge Nov. 13. State Party is running Robert Homan for sophomore class president and Michael Murphy for freshman class president. Lion Party candidates are Richard Mercer for sophomore president and James Bowers for freshman president.

Other candidates are William Brill and Nancy Scofield for vice presidential and secretary-treasurer posts of the sophomore class for Lion Party. State Party candidates for sophomore vice president and secretary-treasurer are William Rother and Marcia Phillips.

Lion frosh candidates are Philip Lang for vice president and Barbara Bransdorf for secretary-treasurer. State Party frosh candidates are Forest Miller for vice president and Ann Lederman for secretary-treasurer.

STATE PLATFORM

(The Daily Collegian made extensive efforts to obtain the complete platform of State Party but was unable to do so, partly because of the national election which drew members of the party and the elections committee from the College.)

However, a fairly accurate and complete list of the State Party platform planks was obtained and is printed below. The preamble to the platform and the exact wording of the planks was not available.

The Daily Collegian will print the complete platform as soon as it can be obtained. With campaigning beginning tomorrow, however, we feel it necessary to present the platform even in its abridged form.)

We propose

1. to conclude an agreement whereby freshman women would be allowed to date in fraternity houses.
2. to work with the BX in order to lower the price of freshman customs.
3. to establish a plan to promote more advanced laundry facilities for the West Dormitories and the Nittany-Pollock areas.
4. to work against attempts to deprive students of any seats in Rec Hall and to continue investigation of better seating at football games.
5. to work with All-College Cabinet and recreation committees to improve recreation facilities of Penn State.

Players Set Tryouts Today and Tomorrow

Tryouts for "Amphitryon 38," second Players' presentation at Schwab Auditorium, will be held at 7 tonight and tomorrow in 100 Horticulture.

Six male roles and five female roles will be cast. The show is scheduled for Jan. 15, 16, and 17.

4 Groups to Receive Chest Drive Shares

The Penn State Christian Association and three local funds will receive shares from the Campus Chest drive which started yesterday.

The three funds are the Penn State Scholarship Fund, the State College Area Joint-Community Fund, and the Women's Student Government Association Christmas Fund.

Forty-six per cent of the drive's receipts will go to the PSCA. The goal is $12,000.

The PSCA is the student YMCA and YWCA on campus. Undergraduate and graduate students and faculty may belong to this non-discriminatory organization which provides opportunities for worship, study, and recreation.

The group sponsors open forums Wednesday nights, a weekly radio program, and a monthly workshop. In addition PSCA members work on service projects, such as rolling bandages for the Centre County Hospital.

Along with All-College Cabinet and the Inter-Religious Council,

PSCA sponsors Religion-in-Life Week, held annually in February. PSCA's Watts and Groff Lodges are used nearly every weekend for cabin parties and special meetings of either PSCA or other groups. The Hugh Beaver Room, 304 Old Main, is used by many organizations as a meeting room.

The Penn State Scholarship Fund, which receives seven per cent from the Chest, is a memorial fund established by the Board of Trustees to aid College athletes. It is supported by dona-

Prexy, Wife, Son Are First to Cast Ballots in County

President and Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower and their son, Milton S. Jr., were the first to vote yesterday at the West Central precinct polls in the Alpha fire hall. Milton Jr. walked away with the No. 1 ballot stub.

The Eisenhowers then left for New York City to await the returns with the President's brother, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican candidate for president.

Also voting early yesterday morning were Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Nixon of W. Nittany Avenue, uncle and aunt of the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

Dr. Nixon said he was voting to have the constitutional rights of Americans restored in the handling of government, claiming that the President is now determining which laws of Congress he chooses to enforce.

After voting he stated that he did not "vote so much for Ike and Dick as I did against Truman in general and Harry Truman in particular."

Pollock Council Votes Down AIM Proposal

Pollock Council last night voted against the AIM Board of Control proposal 10-2 with one abstention.

The majority feeling of the council was that a student judiciary body was undesirable and would give both the Dean of Men's office and student governing bodies too much power over students. Another reason given was that such a setup would conflict with powers already designated to dormitory counselors.

The council also voted unanimously against the McCoy seating plan. General opinion was that the student body and the alumni were both too big to be handled simultaneously at Recreation Hall events.

A complaint from Food Supervisor Bruce Robertson over the theft of 500 sets of silverware was placed before the council. This and other problems between the council's food committee and Robertson will be brought up next Tuesday when Robertson will address the group.

The Barons, Nittany-Pollock social organization, will get a letter from the council asking for action on social events.

William McCormick was voted representative-at-large to the AIM Board of Governors from the area.

LION PLATFORM

In the past the Lion Party has provided for the interests and welfare of the students at Penn State. It has been through the sincere efforts of diligent and capable student leaders to serve Penn State and its student body that student government on this campus has reached the height which it attains today. It is now that the Lion Party offers directly to you, the freshmen and sophomores of Pennsylvania State College, a strong platform and capable candidates to fulfill its aims. The future of this platform lies in your vote.

We propose

1. the establishment of a freshman class weekend into the activities program of the College, including a musical or dramatic performance enacted and directed by freshmen.

2. that the necessary action be taken to attempt to improve the facilities of the BX to handle all students' needs, including text books.

3. that a portion of Orientation Week be set aside in order to teach and acquaint the new freshman students with the working of and the membership qualifications for the extra-curricular activities here at Penn State.

4. that since the Blue Band is unable to attend indoor sporting events at Rec Hall as a unit, there should be established a voluntary Pep Band for all basketball games.

5. that in order that students will more fully understand the student government of Penn State, a program to educate the freshmen as to the duties of their elected class officers be instituted.

Schrey Wins Air Scholarship

Cadet Frank Schrey III, a senior in forestry, has been selected by the national headquarters, Arnold Air Society, for the 1952 Arnold Memorial Scholarship of $300.

The Arnold Air Society, with chapters throughout the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, annually presents the award to a member of the society.

Schrey, in addition to receiving the scholarship, has received letters of congratulations from Lt. Gen. James Doolittle and Eleanor Arnold, widow of Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime commander of the Air Force.

Cadet Schrey is a member of Alpha Phi Omega, Scabbard and Blade, Penn State Club, and Skull and Bones.
