

Blood Campaign Hits 253 Pints

Two hundred fifty-three pints of blood were donated by students during the campus blood drive yesterday and Tuesday.

The Johnstown Red Cross bloodmobile unit collected 147 pints yesterday in addition to the 106 pints collected Tuesday. Pledges for the drive reached 310, but many persons broke their appointments during the two-day drive. The goal was set at 300 pints.

LA Senior Photo Deadline Tomorrow

Liberal Arts seniors (N-Z) may have their pictures taken for the 1953 LaVie until tomorrow at the Penn State Photo Shop, official LaVie photographer.

Forty Approve Projects Group Constitution

Approximately 40 members of Cabinet Projects Council approved a constitution for the group at a meeting Tuesday night. The constitution will be presented to All-College Cabinet for approval next week.

The council, formed as a cabinet committee, is designed to handle National Student Association work at the College. The new constitution would have the group work independently of NSA, but with similar goals and in cooperation with that group.

The constitution, presented to the group by members of the council's constitution committee, was approved with only one change. The change, asked by the constitution committee, eliminates the committee as a standing committee of the council.

The council will elect officers at its meeting Monday, according to James Plyler, executive secretary of the council.

Samuel No well, chairman of Campus Chest, spoke to council members and solicited their aid in securing contributions for the Chest drive.

Members of the council have been serving as cabinet administrative assistants, helping with statistical and secretarial work involved in student government. Other proposed work for the council includes aid to campus-wide activities such as Campus Chest and Religion-in-Life Week.

Checker Club Gets Senate Recognition

The College Senate committee on student affairs has given official recognition to the College Checker Club, Fred Wau, president, reported yesterday. The organization will be known as the Penn State Checker Club.

Regular weekly meetings will be held at 8 p.m. Fridays in Hamilton Hall lounge.

Officers of the club elected at the last meeting are Wau, president; Leonard Goodman, vice-president; Daniel Di Nardo, secretary-treasurer; Dean Mays, program chairman; and Edmund Umberger, faculty adviser.

The coach of the team will be Daniel Frank, town resident ranked as among the first three checker players in the state. Assistant to the coach will be Wendell Swope.

The club has existed for two years informally, Wau said, but now that it has been granted an official charter by the College it can officially represent the College in checker matches with other universities.

Truman Meets Wilson, Discusses Civil War

President Truman took time out yesterday from his administrative duties for a chat about a Civil War battle with H. K. Wilson, head of the Division of Intermediate Registration.

The Associated Press reported that Truman and Wilson discussed for 15 minutes the battle of Athens, Mo., one of the historical subjects in which the President is interested.

Chest Drive Extension Foreseen

The Campus Chest campaign may be extended one week because of slow returns on solicitations and a shortage of solicitors, according to Joseph Haines, solicitations chairman.

Originally the drive was scheduled to end Tuesday.

Haines said more than 20 solicitors are needed, although the All-College Cabinet Projects Council provided 15 additional solicitors.

He added that cards made out for persons who cannot be contacted should be returned by the solicitors and that blank cards can be obtained by calling State College 7753.

No Increase
A thermometer to show the progress of the drive is expected to be placed on the Mall sometime this week, Haines said.

There has been no increase in the amount of funds collected. The total is now $1150.

A. H. Imhof, chairman of faculty and administration solicitations and assistant in agricultural journalism, said the faculty and administration drive for chest funds will start Monday and end Nov. 22.

Service Employees Excluded
The drive will be conducted among members of the faculty and administration staffs, but will not include service employees.

Funds collected in the faculty and administration drive will be turned over to two groups, Penn State Christian Association and the World Student Service Fund. This is done to avoid overlapping with town drives, Imhof said.

Faculty and administration contributors will be permitted to specify, if they wish, which of the two organizations shall receive the money.

Dean of Women to Be Radio Guest Tonight

Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, will be the featured guest on the program "Spotlight on State" at 9:30 tonight over station WMAJ.

Sidney Archer will interview Miss Weston. Jay Murphy is producer-director of the Radio Guild-sponsored show.

Honorary Initiates 34

Kappa Phi Kappa, men's business education scholastic honorary, recently initiated 34 new members.

FRATERNITY PAPERS
LETTERPRESS - OFFSET
★
COMMERCIAL PRINTING
Pugh & Beaver State College

During November last year 768 pints were collected during the four-day drive. Nine hundred fifteen pledges were received for that drive.

Mrs. Helen Shaffer, chief nurse of the unit, said yesterday that so far as the Johnstown blood center is concerned, the quota for the trip has been reached. She explained that the unit was able to handle students who came in but that there were periods during the drive when time lagged and the staff was not kept busy.

Mrs. Shaffer, in a statement Tuesday, hoped that students who had not kept their appointments Tuesday would come in yesterday. She explained that it was possible that students did not receive their appointments on time because there was no mail delivery on Armistice Day.

Without the help of 60 volunteer workers, Mrs. Shaffer said, the unit could never have collected as much blood as it did. She explained the unit carries only 8 staff workers and that volunteers are necessary to carry out the blood drives successfully.

The Johnstown unit will return to the campus in early May for a three-day drive.

MI Dean's List Cites 26 Men

Twenty-six students in the School of Mineral Industries were named to the dean's list for the spring semester. Four of the students completed the semester with perfect 3.0 averages. Those named were:

Seniors: Paul B. Barton, 2.7; Robert Barwick, 2.67; Robert Chilcote, 2.83; William Englert, 2.52; Owen Evans, 2.5; Eugene Fiedorek, 2.82; Ralph Fries, 2.68; David Gumbert, 2.77; Don Harrison, 3.0; John Harrison, 2.63; Charles Houseman, 2.65; Robert Igou, 2.6; Frank Rusinko, 2.68; and Robert Wassall, 2.86.
Juniors: Norman Bowne, 3.0; Robert Cameron, 2.5; Richard Hallgren, 2.82; Norman Pore, 3.0; Harry Shadle, 2.5; Charles Smeltzer, 2.84; and Herbert Welder, 2.5.
Sophomores: Laurence Day, 3.0; Charles Kreischer, 2.73; and Thomas Prokopowicz, 2.87.
Freshmen: Jack Conner, 2.6, and Alex Simkovich, 2.5.

Inkling Accepts Fiction

Fiction articles are being accepted for the fall issue of Inkling, campus literary magazine.

A $10 award will be presented for the best fiction used in the publication, John Hoerr, editor, has announced.

BEAT RUTGERS!

Be More Appealing

this big, Big Weekend...

Do you have that tired look? Have you had a lot of bluebooks? All these may cause unattractive lines or shadows under your eyes. Why should they show? This weekend especially!

What should you do? Use Ayer Magic... the revolutionary new cosmetic by Harriet Hubbard Ayer. . . . $2.50 plus tax

Ayer Magic — quick, simple addition to regular make-up — makes light of your unattractive lines and shadows. Get rid of that tired look... Look more alive... more vibrant. See the difference in the way you look, we'll show you how.

Griggs Pharmacy

opposite Old Main

College Safety Record Ranks High in Country

Although there are few signs that the College conducts a formal safety program, Penn State's all-round safety record is one of the best in the country, according to Lorin J. Elder, supervisor, safety division.

Safety isn't advertised with big, colorful posters as in industry, Elder said, but signs are placed where they will do the most good. Belt guards on machines and good lighting in hallways are safety measures.

Elder says he has never had more cooperation than in the last few years. He considers the "awareness and thoughtfulness" on the part of employees the most effective safety measure. Elder receives many letters from other safety engineers asking how the College program operates.

200 Korean Vets Enrolled

More than 200 Korean veterans are enrolled as College students, President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced.

Although most of the Korean veterans are freshmen, some are upperclassmen who studied at the College following World War II. They were recalled by the armed forces and have returned to complete their education.

There are 835 veterans of World War II enrolled for the fall semester. During the past seven years more than 15,000 World War II veterans have studied at the College.

Concert Ticket Sale to Close

Season tickets for a concert series sponsored by the State College Choral Society will be on sale for $4.50 at the Student Union desk in Old Main until Saturday.

The series will open with the Philadelphia Woodwind Quintet Jan. 5. The Budapest String Quartet and the Amadeus Quartet will appear early next year.

Light Your Torch

PEP RALLY

TONIGHT
7:30

College and Burrows
Fun at its Peak
Jr. Class Week

Today WARNER theatres
Cathaum
JANET LEIGH
CARLETON CARPENTER
"FEARLESS FAGAN"

State
GREGORY PECK
ANN BLYTH
"WORLD IN HIS ARMS"

Nitty
OPEN AT 6:00
"EPIC IS THE WORD FOR NANOOK"
"NANOOK OF THE NORTH"

Folks Like the Personal Touch

Let America's finest card designers express your Holiday greeting on cards with your name.

6 Huge Catalogs to pick from
25 Cards only $1.95 and up

Choose Your Personalized Christmas Cards Now

Keeler's

Cathaum Theatre Building Since 1926