

Coed Play Program To Begin Tomorrow

Men and women students have been invited to take part in a coeducational recreation program in Recreation Hall from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. tomorrow. The invitation comes from the School of Physical Education and Athletics which is sponsoring the event.

The program, designed to fill the need for dating activities on Sunday nights, is planned as a combined play-period for men and women students.

Activities, which will be under the supervision of members of the Physical Education school administration and students, will include ping-pong, badminton, miniature soccer, shuffleboard, table games, and volleyball. Students attending the play-period are asked to wear shoes suitable to a gymnasium floor surface.

A special feature, fly-casting demonstrations, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. by George W. Harvey, associate professor of physical education.

There will be no charge for admittance.

Rec Hall will also be open from 1 to 6 p.m. for men students only.

The opening of the gymnasium for coeducational recreation is part of a long-range recreation plan developed by the school and its new dean, Ernest B. McCoy. The long-range plan includes the expansion of Nittany-Pollock recreation facilities, the improvement of recreation areas around the Rec Hall area, and the holding of free dances after basketball games and other Saturday night events in Rec Hall.

The plans for post-game dances call for possible hiring of bands and use of records. McCoy said these dances should give students the chance to use the time between games and the time women must return to the dorms more advantageously. Frequently this hour or so does not allow time for students to go to fraternities or recreation areas after the game.

Thurman To Speak At Chapel

Dr. Howard Thurman, minister of the Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples in San Francisco, will speak on "The Crucial Alternative" at the Chapel service 11 a.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

As part of Junior Class Week activities, class officers Richard Lemyre, Robert Carruthers, and Margaret Crooks, and Junior Week Chairman Thomas Farrell will participate in the service.

To Play Brahms, Bach

The Chapel choir will sing "To Thee Jehovah Will I Sing Praises" (Bach), "Call to Remembrance" (Sarrant), and "Truly My Soul" (Beattie).

George Ceiga, Chapel organist, will play "O Welt, Ich Muss Dich Lassen" (Brahms), and "Wachet Auf! Rust Uns Die Stimme" and "Fugue in G Minor" (both by Bach).

A graduate of Morehouse College and Colgate Rochester Divinity School, Dr. Thurman has taken graduate courses at the Divinity School of Oberlin College and has studied under Rufus Jones at Haverford College. He holds honorary doctor's degrees from Morehouse College and Wesleyan University in Connecticut.

Travels in India

Dr. Thurman has been minister of the Church for the Fellowship of All Peoples since its organization in 1944 as an interracial and non-sectarian place of worship. Under Dr. Thurman's leadership it has a membership of over 300 including Caucasians, Negroes, Japanese, Chinese, and Latin-Americans. There are also more than 1000 members-at-large in more than a half-dozen countries and the United States.

Before assuming his present position, Dr. Thurman taught systematic theology and was dean of the chapel at Howard University in Washington, D.C. As a Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education, he led a student delegation to India, Burma, and Ceylon in 1935-6.

Works for Civil Liberties

Dr. Thurman has been college preacher or lecturer in more than 200 American and Canadian universities. He was appointed Ingersoll lecturer on the "Immortality of Man" at Harvard University in 1947 and was the American lecturer for the biennial convocation of the United States and Canada in 1948.

In San Francisco, Dr. Thurman serves the American Civil Liberties Union, the International Institute, the Urban League, and the Council of Churches. He is also vice-president of the Committee of 13, organized to combat prejudice through psychology.

Dr. Thurman's books include "The Greatest of These," "Deep River," "The Negro Spiritual Speaks of Life and Death," and "Deep Is the Hunger."

Montgomery Wins Junior Queen Title

Jane Montgomery was crowned Miss Junior Class by Richard Lemyre, junior class president, at 10:15 last night at the Junior Prom.

Miss Montgomery, fifth semester journalism major from State College, will be honored at today's football game by a coronation parade with a Cinderella theme at half-time.

Miss Montgomery, sponsored by Beaver House, was presented a loving cup, a string of pearls, silver evening slippers, candy, and gloves by State College merchants, and a bracelet by the junior class.

Members of the junior class elected Miss Montgomery from a field of five finalists. Other finalists were Nena Moses, Mary Pettigout, Marilyn Porter, and Carolyn Pelczar.

Coronation Parade Set

Approximately 35 fraternities, sororities, and independent groups have entered a mummies parade which will circle Beaver Field at 12:45 p.m. today preceding the Rutgers game. The parade will assemble at noon on Beaver Field with entrants taking positions according to assigned numbers.

Junior class members who have made reservations will attend a breakfast at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Dutch Pantry. The Mellow-Aires Quartet will entertain at the breakfast.

The center section of Schwab Auditorium will be reserved until 10:50 a.m. tomorrow for juniors and their dates attending Chapel. As part of Junior Week, the class is presenting flowers for the service.

Concert Tickets Free

Members of Blue Key, Androcies and Druids, junior men's hat societies, will usher at Chapel. Protestant churches will also reserve sections for juniors.

Free tickets for the jazz concert to be presented by the jazz band of Phi Mu Alpha, music honorary, are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Tickets will also be distributed at today's game. The concert will begin at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab.

Phi Mu Alpha members who will participate in the concert include the following: trumpet, James Longo, Edward Reider, Fredrick Orkiseski, and Samuel Moldovan; trombones, Richard Brady, James Bortolotto, William Mitchell, and George Black; Saxophone, Richard Potter, John Jenkins, James Elliott, John Creigh, and Richard Kartlick; drums, Dale Clemens; piano, Riley Shoup; and bass, Garland Gingrich. Patricia Lisle will be vocalist.

Guild to Air 2d Greek Play

The second in a series of Greek plays sponsored by the Radio Guild will be presented at 9:30 p.m. Monday over station WMAJ.

This week's production will be Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex." Euripides' "Trojan Women" will be next week's production with Aristophanes' "Frogs" concluding the series the following week.

The cast for "Oedipus Rex" will include John Citron, Don Barry, Al Beliasov, Craig Saunders, Mike Kesdekian, Ira Apple, and Midge Stein.

The men's chorus, or Elders, will have Charles Folker, Mark Wallace, Ralph Sirota, and Don Colbert. The women's chorus will have Ruth Lyne, Connie Melvin, Joanne Church, Pam Mullin, and Nell Whaley.

Hillel Radio Tryouts To Be Held Tomorrow

Tryouts for the Hillel Hour, a dramatic radio show sponsored by Hillel Foundation, will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Hillel Foundation, 224 South Miles street. The Hillel Hour will be presented over WMAJ at 7:45 p.m. Thursday.

Hat Society To Initiate Prexy Today

President Milton S. Eisenhower will become an honorary member of Skull and Bones, senior men's hat society, at a special initiation ceremony at 10:30 a.m. today in the President's office in Old Main.

Preceding today's football game with Rutgers, the Prexy will be summoned from the stands to Beaver Field to receive the symbols of the hat society. Lincoln Warrell, president, will present a Skull and Bones hat. Vice president Douglas Schoerke will present a key, and Robert Watson, secretary-treasurer, will give him a shingle.

As his first duty as a hatman, the Prexy will head the honor guard of hatmen which will usher the football team onto the field.

According to the constitution, Skull and Bones was founded to distinguish outstanding senior men on campus and to foster the advancement of academic and athletic interests, the perpetuation of honored traditions, and the maintenance of the general spirit of Penn State.

Warrell said President Eisenhower was chosen for honorary membership because of the manner in which he has supported these ideals and for his interest in the general welfare of students.

Foods Group Will Discuss Dorm Meals

Organization of a student foods committee to discuss dormitory meals once a week with dieticians from the women's and West Dorm dining halls was inaugurated Thursday by the Women's Student Government Association House of Representatives.

One student from each of the women's dining halls will serve on the foods committee.

A letter from Judicial concerning coed drinking was read to House members by Barbara Werts, chairman of the House. Miss Werts asked representatives to post copies of the letter in their dormitory units.

The problem of enforcement of dormitory quiet hours was brought before the House by Mary E. Brewer, assistant to the dean of women. Miss Brewer said students have been complaining to her about noise in dormitories during quiet hours. Miss Werts asked the house members to discuss the matter with students at dormitory house meetings.

Engineers Set Date for Dinner

The Institute of Radio Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold a "get-acquainted" dinner Nov. 25 at the Autoport Restaurant.

Tickets, priced at $1.25, may be bought until Thursday from Saul Glasser at the Ordnance Research Laboratory, Jack Walker at Haller, Raymond and Brown Inc., and John Warfield and Robert Riddle in the Electrical Engineering department.

Sheep's Clothing Is Latest Style For Shabby Lion

It will be a Lion in sheep's clothing that prances down Beaver Field this afternoon.

Feeling sorry for the Lion's sad condition, Clearfield Furriers, Clearfield, gave the Lion an old coat made from an Asiatic sheep fur. The fur has been used to patch the shabby suit, Alex Gregal, who portrays the Lion, explained yesterday.

Money for a new Lion suit was collected this fall during a fund drive initiated by Gregal. Because it takes three months to have a suit made, it will be impossible to have a new suit this season.

Hatmen to Meet at 1:15

Hatmen will meet at 1:15 p.m. today in front of the east stands at Beaver Field to form the honor guard for the football team, James Plyler, president of Hat Society Council, announced.

Flash Section Moved to NF

The football game flashcard section, formerly located in the EH section in the center of the senior seats at Beaver Field, will be moved to section NF in the freshman section for today's game, Alan McChesney, head cheerleader, has announced. This change is on an experimental basis to allow more of the student body to see the designs worked out by the flashcards.

Upperclassmen who have special AA books are not requested to move to the freshman section but will sit in the regular senior EH section for today's game.

Freshmen may sit in the NF section and operate the flashcards, which will be used only for a limited time during the game. The section will not be guarded by hatmen.

Chest Will Seek Faculty Donors

The drive for faculty and administration members' contributions to the Campus Chest will start Monday, according to A. H. Imhof, faculty solicitations chairman.

Termination of the drive is scheduled for Saturday.

Contributions from the faculty will be used to support two of the chest's recipients, the Penn State Christian Association and the World Student Service Fund. The PSCA receives 46 per cent of the student contributions, and the WSSF receives 13 per cent. However, Imhof explained that since there will be only two recipients of faculty donations, the contributions will be divided proportionately. This will provide the PSCA with 78 per cent and the WSSF with 22 per cent.

He said that if a faculty contributor so wished, he could specify one of the groups as the sole recipient of the donation. If a faculty contributor gives $2.50 or more to the PSCA, he will receive a membership card which will be recognized by most Christian associations in the country. Chest contributions rose to $2450 yesterday with an increase of $900 over the previous day's total of $1550, according to Joseph Haines, student solicitations chairman.

He said the thermometer that has been placed at the corner of the Mall and Pollock road has been corrected for this year's campaign. The thermometer had been marked with results of a drive conducted three years ago.

Imhof said that not all faculty solicitors and division solicitation leaders have been appointed.
