

Team Needs Student Support— See Page 4

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

AIM Judicial Plan No 'Spy Sytem'— See Page 4

VOL. 53, No. 48

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 18, 1952

FIVE CENTS

McCoy Calls Off Parade

The junior class-sponsored mums parade, scheduled to circle the Beaver Field track before the Rutgers game Saturday was called off by Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics.

The parade, part of the Junior Class Week program, was canceled because of inclement weather and because the junior class never gained full permission to use the track, McCoy said.

Junior class President Richard Lemyre said that permission to use the track was obtained from Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, but that full permission should have been obtained from McCoy.

When floats arrived at the field, they were turned away because of the wet track. Great damage to the cindered track might have resulted from vehicles passing over the wet surface, McCoy said.

Committee members tried to contact registered entrants to arrange a parade on campus, but it was too late, Lemyre said.

200 Pitt Game Seats Available

Over 200 seats are still available for the Nov. 22 Pitt-Penn State football game. Tickets priced at $3.50 are on sale at the Athletic Association ticket office in Old Main.

Additional seats were requisitioned yesterday from the University of Pittsburgh by Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, when the 5500 seats originally allotted to Penn State students were sold. Seats are located in section 23 of Pitt Stadium along the end zone.

A few box seats priced at $5.20 still remain, the Athletic Association office announced.

Permits to Be Issued For College Meetings

Special parking permits will be issued to faculty or staff members who arrange meetings that will bring to the campus more than 20 automobiles, the College has announced. Arrangements should be made with the Campus Patrol, 320 Old Main, so that parking space can be made available to visitors.

WD Council to Investigate Weekend Signout Plan

A committee to investigate the possibilities of a weekend signout for West Dormitory students leaving town was set up by West Dorm Council last night.

The committee will determine the feasibility of the plan and chances for enforcing the signout, Andrew Jaros, sponsor of the plan, said.

According to Jaros, the plan would be of help most in emergencies, but it would also aid the food service in determining how much food should be prepared for the weekends. Only students leaving State College would be affected by the proposal, Jaros said.

Jaros and Richard Ringling will serve on the committee.

TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUDY WITH SCATTERED SHOWERS

MacRae Asks for Job; Harrison to Investigate

Campus Chest Drive Extended

The Campus Chest campaign will be extended to Saturday because of slow returns, according to Joseph Haines, solicitations chairman.

The activities of Junior Week were also cited as a reason for extending the drive, because solicitors experienced difficulty in contacting students.

The extension of the drive, which was first considered last week, will coincide the end of the drive with the end of the faculty drive. The drive for faculty and administration members' contributions started yesterday.

Prexy Contributes

Haines said that the response to the drive is slow in comparison to campaigns in previous years. He explained that at this point in the drive from $6000 to $8000 had been collected in previous years. The total collected for this year is approximately $2500.

The faculty-administration drive was opened by President Milton S. Eisenhower with the first contribution. Dean of Men Frank J. Simes, divisional leader for administration contributions, accepted the donation.

Although student contributions will be used to support nine service and charity groups, the faculty-administration drive funds will be used for only two, the Penn State Christian Association and the World Student Service Fund.

Goal Is $12,000

The remaining seven are the Women's Student Government Christmas Fund, the State College Welfare Fund, the Salvation Army, the American Cancer Society, the Penn State Scholarship Fund, the Heart Fund, and the National Student Service Fund for Negro Students.

There has been no goal set for faculty-administration contributions. Solicitations will be included with those received from students. The goal of the Campus Chest drive is $12,000.

—Photo by Schroeder

THE FACULTY-ADMINISTRATION Campus Chest drive received its first contribution when President Milton S. Eisenhower (seated) presented a check to Dean of Men Frank J. Simes (left) who is division leader of administration solicitations. Samuel Nowell (center), student solicitor, and A. H. Imhof, chairman of the faculty drive look on.

'Hats' Will Sponsor 'Beat Pitt Week'

This week has been designated as "Beat Pitt Week," according to James Plyler, president of Hat Society Council.

Thursday, the high point in the week's pre-Pitt-Penn State football activities, will be "Blue and White Day." Plyler requests students to wear blue and white Thursday.

"The biggest pep rally of the season" will conclude "Beat Pitt Week" and "Blue and White Day" activities," Plyler said. Parmi Nous and Skull and Bones, senior men's hat societies, and Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, will be in charge of the rally.

Plyler said details for the week and the rally are still being worked out and will probably be announced in tomorrow's Daily Collegian.

Five thousand "Beat Pitt" tags, courtesy of the Athletic Store, will be distributed starting today at the A store, the Student Union desk in Old Main, and on campus.

Recognizing the old rivalry between Pitt and Penn State, dating back 52 years, the Interfraternity Councils of Pitt and Penn State have purchased a coal scuttle to be awarded to the winner of the game each year. This will be the first year such an award will be made.

Student Directory To Be Out Soon

The student directory will be on sale after the Thanksgiving vacation, Louis Bell, director of Public Information, said yesterday.

This year's directory is about ten days behind schedule because of a trucking strike.

Carroll Printers in Carrolltown submitted the lowest bid and are working on the order.

MI LaVie Photos

Seniors in the School of Mineral Industries may have their pictures taken for the 1953 LaVie until Friday at the Penn State Photo Shop.

Coeducational Recreation Plan Called Success

The College's first coeducational recreation program, held in Recreation Hall Sunday evening, was termed "successful" by Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics. McCoy said the programs will continue with the hope of larger turnouts when the weather becomes more severe.

About 100 persons took part in the program Sunday.

Ray M. Conger, one of the physical education faculty members who supervised activities, said he was "very pleased" with the turnout and added that the facilities can be expanded to handle a bigger crowd.

Of the 100 students who took part, Conger said, about 20 were women, many of whom were members of a group which is forming a mixed badminton club.

Present plans call for the continuation of the programs, with Rec Hall open to men and women students 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. every Sunday, and open to men students 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday afternoons.

Twelve Women Tapped For Music Honorary

The Louise Homer Club, women's music honorary, has tapped 12 women.

Those tapped were Janet Campbell, Rita Case, Joan Else, Georgia Gianopoulos, Kathryn Gorris, Ruth McNitt, Marjorie Myers, Ruth Stufit, Elizabeth Stuffer, Luella Valmont, Joanne Young, and Elva Zimmerman.

Loyalty Group Sends Report To Eisenhower

By BILL JOST

Wendell S. MacRae, dismissed Aug. 28 when the College Loyalty Review Board stated that it lacked the necessary evidence to certify him as loyal, applied Saturday for reinstatement as publications manager in the Department of Public Information.

Earl G. Harrison, Philadelphia attorney and former dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, has been appointed by President Milton S. Eisenhower to be an investigating authority in the reopening of the MacRae case.

MacRae's reinstatement application is a result of approval by the College administration of one part of the special loyalty investigating committee's report. This part calls for reinvestigation of his case if he applies for reinstatement.

The special committee was appointed by President Eisenhower to investigate College loyalty procedures.

Early Reconsideration Possible
Harrison was in State College late last night.

In approving only this one part of the committee's report, the College made possible early reconsideration of MacRae's dismissal without waiting for action on the entire report.

Originally the special committee suggested that a five member board conduct the MacRae investigation, but in subsequent discussions, the committee and the Faculty Advisory Council agreed that an eminent and impartial person should act if MacRae asked for re-employment.

The report of the special committee named by President Eisenhower "to study all aspects of loyalty procedures at the College" and to return its recommendations to him made its report Oct. 30, but it was not released by the President until Saturday. The Daily Collegian had made repeated efforts to learn when the report would be ready, but the College refused to release the information.

Committee Asks Changes
In the report, which President Eisenhower submitted to the Faculty Advisory Council for study, the committee proposed modifications in future certification procedures and the reopening of the MacRae case under the rules and regulations governing certification of new employees.

In the case of a new employee, if he is not certified by virtue of previous Federal security clearance, voluntary acceptance of the loyalty oath, or satisfactory completion of the College loyalty questionnaire, the certifying officer may certify him on the basis of an investigation. The responsibility rests upon the applicant with information necessary for certification.

The committee, headed by Corliss R. Kinney, professor of technology, recommended that hereafter department heads and

(Continued on page eight)

All-College Cabinet To Meet Tomorrow

All-College Cabinet will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in 201 Old Main, according to All-College President John Laubach. Cabinet, which usually meets Thursday, will meet one day earlier because of the Pitt game pep rally planned for Thursday night.