

Campus Gateway Now Under Construction

A CAMPUS GATEWAY, now under construction at the intersection of Pollock road and U.S. Route 322, is pictured by the designing architect. Two 22-foot pylons will be constructed of limestone, and circular walls north and south of the pylons will be built from local stone matching the stone used for the walls of Old Main. Limestone benches will be placed along the walls.

Baton Company Awarded Campus Gate Contract

The Henry E. Baton Construction Co. of Philadelphia, has been let a contract for the construction of a gateway to the campus at the intersection of Pollock Road and Atherton street.

Work on the project has already been started. The new gateway is expected to be completed before March, according to Walter H. Weigand, director, department of physical plant.

2d Players' Workshop Set Tonight

The Penn State Players will conduct their second workshop this semester for a three-week period beginning tonight, according to Frances Stridinger, president of the group.

Those participating in the workshop will work on "Lute Song" and "Children of Darkness." Miss Stridinger stressed that students must participate in a workshop to be placed on crews for Players' productions. Ten points obtained by crew work on a play are required for eligibility for membership in Players. All interested persons may attend.

George Jason will manage the lighting division at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in the light cage at Schwab Auditorium. Sound, directed by Frank Baxter, will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesdays in the Little Theater in Old Main.

Renee Kluger is manager of the property group, to meet at 7 p.m. Wednesdays in the basement of Schwab. The technical crew will meet at 7 p.m. Thursdays in the loft of Schwab, with William Nudorf in charge.

Prim Diefenderfer will direct the makeup group at 7 p.m. Wednesdays in the makeup room, Schwab basement. The costume group, with Pat Jenkins in charge, will meet at 7 p.m. Thursdays in the basement of Schwab.

Advertising will be directed by Fran Dektor at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in the loft at Schwab.

Cigarette Jingle Wins $25 Bond for Student

William Everson, ninth semester education major, can tell you an easy way to win a $25 defense bond—because he did it!

All he did was write a four-line jingle for a contest sponsored by a nationally-known cigarette manufacturer. His jingle was awarded the prize, and was used

The gateway will consist of two pylons of limestone to the north and south of the junction of Pollock road with U.S. Route 322 and Atherton street. Each pylon will be 22 feet high and 3 by 6 feet at the base. Sculptured heads of the Nittany Lion, facing the west, will be mounted near the top of each pylon.

To the north and south of the pylons, a curved wall of local stone, designed to match the stone of the walls of Old Main, will be built. Simple limestone benches, facing west, will be placed inside the curved section of the walls. Shrubbery will be planted on the main-campus side of the walls.

The new campus entranceway was one of four class gift suggestions considered by the Class of '52. The class presented an $8000 fund to be divided between a student press and a student radio station.

Vets Housing Changes Asked

The Dean of Men's advisory committee discussed requests that veterans be given housing in separate sections of College dormitories at its organizational meeting yesterday.

At its next meeting Dec. 15, the committee will continue discussion on the subject. Veterans will be invited to the meeting to give their views, and a survey on the problems will be discussed.

The committee, consisting of 14 men students, will meet at 4:10 p.m. every other Monday.

Ray to Speak Tonight

William S. Ray, new member of the Psychology department, will speak on "Mental Hospital Problems" at the Psychology Club meeting 7 tonight in 204 Burrows.

Einstein to Talk On Marketing Next Thursday

Arthur W. Einstein, associate professor of marketing and retailing, will speak on the vocation of marketing at 7 p.m. Dec. 11 in 405 Old Main according to Philip Greenberg's report to the Liberal Arts Student Council last night.

Greenberg, chairman of the council vocational speech committee, said the speech would be of special value to freshman who are undecided to their vocation. David H. McKinley, associate professor of finance will speak Jan. 8 on money and banking in the second speech of the series.

Greenberg, editor of the LA Angles, announced three Liberal Arts Students would be profiled in the next issue which will be published before Christmas.

The council will elect a secretary at the next meeting to replace Marion Morgan who will be married Dec. 27. Jean Marohnic and Eliza Newell last night were nominated for the position.

Douglas Schoerke, council president, reported that the policy of scheduling blue books before vacations was set by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs to prevent excessive pre-vacation cutting. At the Nov. 18 meeting, the council had opposed the practice and asked Schoerke to protest to Ben Euwema, dean of the school.

In answer to Schoerke's request for causes of low grades, council members suggested poor study habits, transition from high school to college, and extra-curricular activities.

Concert Tickets Available at SU

Free tickets for the fourth annual Christmas concert by the State College Choral Society and assisting groups, to be held Sunday at St. Paul's Methodist Church, are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Because there are two performances, 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., persons requesting tickets should specify the performance they wish to attend.

Men Debaters Tie For 4th in Tourney

Penn State's men's debate squad finished in a four way tie for fourth place in the University of Vermont Invitational Tournament Nov. 21 and 22 in Burlington, Vt.

The College team won seven of ten debates to tie with Middleburg, New York University, and Tufts. The Dartmouth "A" team finished first among the 54 schools competing with a perfect ten for ten record.

The affirmative team composed of Benjamin Sinclair and David Swanson won four out of five starts. They defeated Wesleyan, Barnard, Trinity, and Worcester while dropping their lone match to St. Lawrence.

Initiate Season

Representing the negative side, Thomas Durek and Richard Kirschner returned with three out of five wins. Their wins came over Utica, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Geneseo. They lost to St. Johns and Dartmouth.

The tournament was the first major debate event of the current season for the College squad. The teams debated the national inter-collegiate topic, Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practices' law.

Next Meet Scheduled

Jay Heady, manager of the Penn State team, said he was "very satisfied with the showing of the squad." The College squad was represented by two seniors, a junior, and a sophomore and, considering their lack of experience, did well in comparison to other teams sent in previous years, Heady said.

The next meet for the College team will take place this weekend in the novice tournament at Temple University. This is open only to men with no previous varsity experience. Dec. 13 the squad will send members to the cross-examination debate at the University of Pittsburgh.

Service Test Procedure Set

Students taking the Selective Service college qualification test Thursday are expected at the testing center in 121 Sparks at 8:30 a.m.

An admission card for the test and any Selective Service form with the student's SS number and legal address must be shown to gain admission to the room.

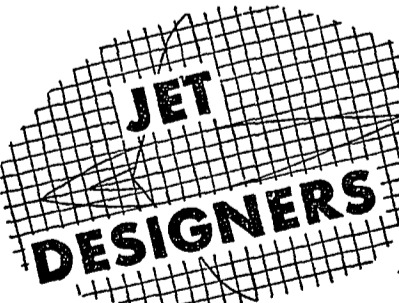

Excuses for absence from class during the examination will be ready Friday in the Dean of Men's office.

In order to prevent unauthorized students from taking the test, all persons will be fingerprinted.

The qualification test will be given under the supervision of Hugh M. Davison, professor of education research.

Choir to Rehearse

Chapel Choir rehearsal will be held 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday in 117 Carnegie so members may attend the Community Concert program.

West Dorm Nominations Extended

Nominations for representative at large to the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors from the West Dorm area have been extended until 5 p.m. Friday because only two nominations had been made during the original nominating period which ended Nov. 24.

The election was set for next Tuesday in the Hamilton Hall lounge by Hugh Cline, new chairman of the elections committee. Voters must show their meal tickets or matric card, Cline said.

Cline was named at a West Dorm Council meeting last night by President Robert Hance to replace John Lyon as elections committee head. Lyon and Richard Ringling are the candidates for the AIM posts. Two representatives must be elected to the Board of Governors.

Self-initiated nominating petitions, signed by 50 area residents, must be turned into the Student Union desk in the main West Dorm lounge before 5 p.m. Friday, Cline said.

Action was dropped on a proposed plan for area students to sign out when they leave State College for weekends. Andrew Jaros, sponsor of the plan, said students living in his area had opposed the plan.

A mixed dinner for residents in the two men's dining halls and the Thompson dining hall has been planned for Dec. 16, the council was told.

Student Injured In Auto Crash

George S. Wilson, first semester commerce major, suffered a severe cut on his right knee yesterday morning when his automobile collided with another car outside of Boalsburg on Route 322.

Wilson was driving to the College at the time of the accident. His car skidded on the slippery highway and struck an on-coming car driven by Donald G. Drake, third semester forestry major.

Damage was estimated at $500.
