

Scholarship Fund Starts Drive, Solicits 70 Groups

The Penn State Student Scholarship Fund began its drive for donations yesterday by sending requests to about 70 student groups. The fund, created last year by All-College Cabinet, is maintained and supported solely by College students. The fund operates as a committee of cabinet.

All-College Cabinet will not meet this week, Richard Rostmeyer, All-College secretary-treasurer, announced yesterday. William Hay, chairman of the scholarship committee of cabinet, said yesterday that the fund was not included in Campus Chest this year, although it may be in the Chest drive next year.

WD Lounge Use Denied To Clubs

Permission for student organizations to use lounges and recreation facilities in Hamilton, Irvin and McKee Halls was refused by the West Dorm Council Monday night.

If the lounges are open for meetings of organizations there may be a violation of the West Dorm dating code, Robert Solomon, dating code committee chairman, said. Under the dating code, women are only permitted in the Hamilton, Irvin, and McKee lounges and Hamilton and McKee recreation rooms Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons.

Robert Hance, council president, said there are to be no meetings in the lounges except floor meetings or meetings of the council without consent of the council.

Action Necessary
The action came after Hance received a letter from Ronald Steif, president of the Poultry Club, asking for the Hamilton lounge and recreation room from 7 to 10 p.m. tomorrow. A letter explaining the action of the council was sent to the Poultry Club.

The council felt the action was necessary to prevent the lounges and recreation rooms from being occupied every night by organizations, thus not permitting dormitory students to use the lounge facilities.

Sheet distribution for area students will start at 10 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. Monday, Joseph Somers, housing committee chairman, reported.

A committee to investigate the possibilities of having a television set installed in the main West Dorm lounge was set up by the council.

Extend Deadline
A jazz concert will be held in the main West Dorm lounge after the basketball game from 9:30 p.m. to midnight Dec. 12, George Forsyth, social committee chairman, announced. A Christmas party will be held in the main lounge from 9 p.m. to midnight Dec. 13, Forsyth said. Only couples will be admitted upon showing their meal ticket and matric card, he said. Joey Frank's orchestra will play. The social committee will meet at 7 tonight in 127 Hamilton, Forsyth said.

The council set the deadline for nominations of representatives at large to the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors for 5 p.m. Friday. The deadline was set after only two nominations were filed with the elections committee.

Campus Chest Increases $500

The Campus Chest total increased $500 yesterday over Monday's total of $6400, according to Joseph Haines, student solicitations chairman. The drive closed Nov. 22.

The new total of $6900 represented an increase of $400 from student contributions and an increase of $100 from faculty-administration contributions.

Complete returns are not yet available for tabulation of student contributions, Haines said. He repeated his request that solicitors who have not turned in all International Business Machine cards for student pledges should do so. The cards should be returned whether or not the students have been contacted, he said, as the cards are needed to complete tabulation.

A. H. Imhof, chairman of the faculty-administration solicitations, said complete figures are not yet available for this group.

Deadline Indefinite
The Penn State Scholarship Fund listed among the Campus Chest groups—receiving seven per cent—is an athletic scholarship fund supported by both student and alumni gifts. The Penn State Student Scholarship Fund, which began solicitations through student groups yesterday, is used to offer financial aid to students who find it necessary to work part-time to continue their education.

The recently-initiated drive will continue as long as groups respond, Hay said. He asked that contributions be turned in by Dec. 20 if possible but added that they would be accepted after that date. Organizations that wish to contribute should mail or bring their money or checks to the Student Union office in Old Main and label the donation Penn State Student Scholarship Fund, Hay said.

Plan Spring Awards
Since its origin last year the fund has aided one student with a $25 scholarship. The fund was given a principal of $1000 from the 1951 Spring Carnival when it was set up. The principal is now about $1100.

Hay said the committee is hoping to add to the principal so that a few small scholarships may be given in the spring and that in a few years a number of $100 stipends may be given each spring. The scholarship fund is sponsored by All-College Cabinet.

Tribunal Hears 25 Parking Violation Cases

Tribunal heard 25 cases last night of infractions of campus traffic and parking regulations. A total of $20 in fines was collected.

A second offender was fined $2 for illegal parking in the Mineral Industries service drive. The driver has a permit for a parking area next to the Temporary Classroom Buildings. The student protested that he was susceptible to colds and had to walk in the rain to his classes on center campus and asked that he be allowed to exchange parking permits with a friend who attends classes on Ag Hill but has a parking permit for an area behind Sigma Chi.

James Schulte, Tribunal chairman, explained that according to present regulations such an exchange could not be made without the permission of Captain Philip A. Mark and the Campus Patrol.

Fourteen students without driving permits pleaded guilty to driving on campus during school hours during the rainy period from Nov. 21-23. Schulte warned that campus regulations still apply during inclement weather. Offenders were each fined $1.

A car owner received a $1 suspended sentence for illegal parking. He reported he loaned the car to a friend who incurred the violation. The fine was suspended because the car is no longer on campus.

One case involving an infraction by a graduate student was dismissed. Tribunal has jurisdiction only over undergraduates at the College. Two other cases were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

PS Club Plans Party

The Penn State Club plans to attend the forthcoming Players' production of "Major Barbara" Jan. 9. The club elected Walter Kowalik as its social chairman at a meeting last night.

Let It Snow . . .

—Photo by Boyles
JOSE CARREIRO'S interest in snow snowballed when he recently saw it for the first time. In his native land the only snow seen is either made in Hollywood or is out of reach on the mountaintops.

Azores Student Finds 1st Snow 'Not Very Cold'

Equipped with the first overcoat he's ever needed, Jose F. T. Carreiro, exchange student from the Azores Islands, witnessed his first snowfall during the Thanksgiving vacation.

His report: "It's 'very beautiful,' it's not as cold as expected, and it is worth writing home about. Jose wrote his parents about snow, which he had previously seen only on mountaintops and in the movies; about 14 degree weather, which he experienced in Northwestern Pennsylvania during the vacation period; and about sleighriding.

Surprised that the snow is "not very cold," Jose is looking forward to one or two feet of it. And now Jose too is "dreaming of a white Christmas." Says he: "Christmas without snow is not Christmas."

Only thing that Jose doesn't like about all this is the ice on sidewalks and roads. But if there must be ice, Jose will enjoy this too. He's going ice-skating Saturday.

Council Plans Mixer at TUB

A mixer sponsored by the Chemistry-Physics Student Council will be held tonight at the TUB as the second part of a student-faculty program.

The first part will feature Dr. Erwin Muller of the Physics department. Dr. Muller will lecture on his new electron microscope at 7:45 tonight in 119 Osmond. Slides and a film will supplement his talk.

Following the lecture, refreshments will be served in the TUB. The mixer is open to chem-phys students and faculty.

Santa Suggests . . .

BOBBY GUARDS
a novelty bobby pin holder . . . $1 - $1.50

MAGNETIC SCORE PAD
for bridge and canasta . . . magnet attracts pencil $1.85 to cover . . . $1

The Treasure House
Across from Old Main

Blue Band Sends 17 To Festival

Seventeen members of the Penn State Blue Band will leave for Franklin and Marshall College tomorrow to attend the sixth annual Intercollegiate Band Festival.

Penn State has the largest representation of the 129 students from about 30 Pennsylvania colleges.

Guest conductor will be cornettist Leonard B. Smith. James W. Dunlop, president of the Pennsylvania Collegiate Bandmasters Association, will conduct "Diver-timento for Band" and the accompaniment for Smith's solos.

Rehearsals will be held tomorrow and Friday, and a concert will be presented Saturday. The band will also present a concert Saturday afternoon in the forum of the Education Building in Harrisburg in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association.

Students representing Penn State will be Nancy Schminsky and William Wohlhieter, flute; Thomas Hahn and Robert Grimmer, clarinet; John Jenkins, alto clarinet; Richard Kartlick and Joseph Streamer, bass clarinet.

Donald Rentschler, oboe; Charles Biechler, bassoon; Roger Staub and Charles Springman, cornet; Neil Andre, French horn; Donald Lambert, baritone; George Georgieff, bass; Lloyd Lupier, string bass; Arnold Paparazo, bass horn; and Richard Harris, tympani.

Keene to Give Piano Recital

Constance Keene, pianist, will present the second program in the Community Concert Series at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

The program will include compositions by her husband, Abram Chasins, as well as the works of 18th century composers. Only members of the Community Concert Association will be admitted.

Miss Keene first attracted international attention several years ago when she substituted at the last minute for Vladimir Horowitz in Springfield, Mass.

Since that time she has had a full schedule of concert appearances as well as radio appearances over the NBC and CBS networks.

Only 4 shopping days at home, so

- SHOP NOW for your Christmas gifts.
- Save time.
- Branded merchandise at standard prices.

The Daily Collegian