

Fall Picnic Theme For Harvest Ball

Amid pumpkins, cornshocks, flowers, and pine trees creating an "Autumn Picnic" atmosphere, the Harvest Ball, sponsored annually by the Agriculture Student Council, will be held from 9 to midnight tonight in Recreation Hall.

For the second year, a queen of the Harvest Ball will be chosen. Finalists vying for the trophy to be presented to the queen tonight are Ann Lederman, Marcia Philips, and Elizabeth Tomlinson.

Engagements

Erickson-Richardson

Mr. P. R. Richardson of Warren announces the engagement of his daughter, Marcia, to Creed Erickson of Warren.

Miss Richardson is a secretary at Sunray Electrical Corp. of Warren. Mr. Erickson is a seventh semester psychology student and a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

Galantino-McSparran

Mr. and Mrs. James McSparran of Oxford announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Gene Galantino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erasmo Galantino of East Lansdowne.

Miss McSparran is a senior in art education. Mr. Galantino received his master's degree from the College in June, 1952, in art education. At present he is employed as an occupational therapist at Kings Park State Hospital, Long Island, N.Y.

'Music of Nations' To Present 'Jotas'

The "Jotas," a lively Spanish mountaineers' dance, will be heard over WMAJ 8:30 p.m. Monday on "Music of the Nations," a program sponsored by the Romance Languages department.

Fernando Perez-Pena, instructor in the Department of Romance Languages, will comment on the records.

The dance, which is at least four centuries old, was named "Jotas," an old Spanish word meaning "jump," because of its liveliness. In northeastern Spain, where it is still popular, the dance is so vigorous that dancers must first dance it, then sing the words.

Nittany-Pollock Barons Plan Skating Party

A roller skating party at the Coliseum open to students living in the Nittany-Pollock area will be sponsored tonight by the Barons, social organization of the two living areas.

The party will be held 7 to 9 p.m. The showing of a Nittany or Pollock meal ticket will gain entrance for its owner and his date. The party is being financed by the Pollock Council.

Pines to Form Entrance

Tickets for the semi-formal dance will be on sale today at the Student Union desk in Old Main and the main hall of Agriculture Building. They are priced at $2 per couple and will be on sale at the door tonight.

An archway of pine trees will form the entrance to the dance and a floral arrangement spelling out "Harvest Ball" will provide a backdrop for the bandstand. At the far end of the hall, a picnic scene will be featured with evergreen trees in the background. In the center of the dance floor will be a farm wagon trimmed with cornshocks and pumpkins.

White to Emcee

The queen will be chosen by a applause during intermission. Judges of the applause are Richard Stanley, president of the Agriculture Student Council; Arthur Rosfeld, president of the Interfraternity Council; and Margaret Lamaster, president of the Physical Education Student Council.

Emcee will be Harold B. White, assistant professor of physical education. White was master of ceremonies at the 1951 Ag Hill party.

Music for the dance will be provided by Jim Erb and his Penn State Blue Notes. Refreshments of punch, sherbert, and cookies will be served during the evening.

Co-Edits

Theta Phi Alpha

Theta Phi Alpha recently pledged Theresa Guinard, Madeleine Reilly, and Barbara Bohrer. Following pledging a pajama party was held in the chapter room.

Rabbi Will Answer Questions at Service

An annual "Ask the Rabbi" question period will be part of the Sabbath Eve service at 8 tonight at the Hillel Foundation, 224 S. Miles Street.

Instead of the sermon, the congregation will be permitted to ask the rabbi questions on Judaism, Israel, and related subjects. Members of Phi Sigma Sigma will be hostesses at the service.

Club to Sell Cookies

The Home Economics Club will sponsor a Christmas cookie sale in the living center of the Home Economics Building 9 a.m. to noon Monday.
