Tribunal Fines 13 Students; 2 on Probation

Sixteen dollars was collected in fines from 13 students, two students were placed on probation for incurring second violations, and three warnings were issued in action taken by Tribunal Tuesday night.

Tribunal recommended to Campus Patrol Captain Philip Mark that three special permits be issued, one to a student who twice a month delivers advertising material to various places on campus, one to a student who must use his car for hauling for a Mineral Industries Building project, and one to a student who works in the West Dorm dining hall.

The committee emphasized that parking and driving on campus, as bounded by College avenue, North Atherton street, Park avenue, and the College farms, is prohibited unless a permit has been issued by the Campus Patrol. Persons having permits are responsible for the cars even when they are driven by others.

Five fines amounting to $7 were suspended because of special circumstances involved. Suspended fines are recalled in the case of a second offense.

Two cases were dismissed because they involved visitors to the campus. Tribunal has jurisdiction only over students.

Another case was canceled until next week pending further investigation by Tribunal.
