

Ag Student Wins Prize For Display

William Hartman, first semester agricultural economics major, won the $5 first prize in the Christmas window display contest in the West Dorm area Saturday.

Barbara Repscha and Thomas Butler were awarded second and third prize.

Hartman's winning display depicts an 18th century lantern with a candle inside and boughs of pine along the bottom.

Miss Repscha, first semester home economics major, won second prize of $3 for the scene of a young shepherd kneeling before a bird stand with an image of the Virgin Mary above it. Miss Repscha and her roommate, Nancy Schade, who aided, will share the prize winnings.

Thomas Butler, first semester architecture major, was awarded third prize of $2 for his candle holder, covering the entire window, with green holly and blue spruce around the base of the holder.

Committee of judges was Lewis Goslin and Ross Clark, co-chairmen, Mrs. L. Jacobson, C. J. Sprankle, and Jack McCauslin.

LA Angles Available Today at Student Union

Dickens--

(Continued from page two) troubles was not the only motive behind Dickens' public readings. He was undertaking something he had always longed to do—performing the role of actor. He had always loved to act as a child, and his rival, Thackeray, is reported to have rolled out of his chair in laughter at one of Dickens' Christmas plays.

Theresa and Richard Murphy point out in their book, "Charles Dickens as Professional Reader," that acting was not so well suited to Dickens' temperament as was reading. He was an autocrat and could not take directions. In reality, he had to be the complete show.

Ambandos, 1948 graduate, will read an hour's portion of the 'Carol.' Ambandos last read the memorable classic in 1947 when he was a student in an oral interpretation class.

Splinterville --

The Timbre Four, Roland Mann, Richard Berger, Joseph Flemming and Paul Strenge sang "Oh, Evelon," "Til We Meet Again," and the "Dartmouth Winter Song."

Anthony Marko on the trumpet won a warm reception for playing "Star dust," "Tenderly" and "Sugar Blues."

For the finale the Schuhplattlers returned in the "Dance of Jealousy," to show what happens when two Tyrolean yokels want the same girl.

Student Employment Offered for Holiday

Students remaining in State College during the Christmas holidays should notify the Student Employment service if they are interested in part-time jobs during that time, John Huber, director, has announced.

Huber anticipates that people will be needed for housework, baby sitting and odd jobs.

The Student Employment office in 112 Old Main will remain open during the holiday period, with the exception of Dec. 24, 25, 26, 27, and Jan. 1.

Dairy Club to Meet

The Dairy Science Club will hold an open meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 103 Agriculture. William Juzi, secretary, fieldman of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Cattle Club, will speak on "What's New in Pennsylvania Dairying." Refreshments will be served.

80 Foreign Students

More than 80 foreign research students and visiting teachers are enrolled in the Graduate School this semester, according to Dean Harold K. Schilling.
