FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Vol. 53, No. 67

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 7, 1953

FIVE CENTS

SU Construction Date Monday

Commission Objects To New Vet School

A regular veterinary school should not be established at the College at this time, according to a report from the joint state government commission to the General Assembly of the Commonwealth. A copy of the report, in recommendation form, was given to Lyman E. Jackson, Dean of the School of Agriculture, who released the report yesterday.

Altoona TV To Operate Next Month

The installation of a new television station in Altoona may bring more emphasis on TV in State College and surrounding areas in the near future.

The station, WFBG-TV, operating on channel 10, will begin telecasting about Feb. 1. Because of the station's relative nearness and strong output (316,000 watts), it is expected that a clear picture will be received in the borough.

Television consultant W. N. Brown Jr. of State College said best results in receiving the new station necessitate use of an aerial for channel 10. Many borough residents now have aerials for channel 6, on which WJAC telecasts from Johnstown.

Brown said Bellefonte residents may be able to receive the Altoona signals, depending on the position of their homes.

WFBG-TV will begin its signal on about 75,000 watts and will expand to its permanent facilities with 316,000 watts, with a range of from 60 to 90 miles from Altoona. Channel 10, on which WFBG will operate, is an ultra-high frequency channel.

WFBG's director, Jack Snyder, said the station will select programs from NBC, ABC, Columbia, and Dumont networks. President of the company, George P. Gable, estimated the cost of building the station at more than a half million dollars.

Third Forum To Hear Judd

Walter H. Judd, Republican congressman from Minnesota, will discuss "Problems America Faces Today at Home and Abroad" at the third Community Forum program at 8 p.m. Friday in Schwab Auditorium.

Single reserved seat tickets at $1.20 will be on sale Friday until lecture time at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Originally a physician and surgeon, Judd entered politics in 1942. He is now serving his fifth consecutive term in the House of Representatives, where he is a member of the committee on foreign affairs.

Eng Dean to Lecture

Dean Eric A. Walker will lecture to Engineering 2 students Friday in 110 Electrical Engineering on "The Economic Position of Engineers." The second and final lecture will be given next Friday, the Dean's office announced.

Prof Rates Gridders East's Best

Penn State had the best football team in the East during the last season, according to Roger B. Saylor, associate professor of economics. Saylor computes football ratings for a hobby.

The former U.S. Coast Guardsman, who perfected his system while serving in the South Pacific during World War II, has been computing high school ratings in Pennsylvania and New Jersey for years. This is his first published effort in the college field.

Prof. R. B. Saylor

Says State best in East

"I've tested my college ratings for two years," Saylor says, "and now am satisfied the results are sound."

Saylor nominated Georgia Tech for the top spot in America's 1952 gridiron sweepstakes. He credited the Engineers with the tougher schedule as he rated them over unbeaten Michigan State in his national ratings.

Trailing Georgia Tech and Michigan State in the standings are UCLA, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, and Southern California in that order. Penn State is rated 13th in the nation.

Town Parking Changes Set

Parking will be prohibited on the south side of Beaver avenue from Pugh street to Atherton street, effective Jan. 14, according to a recent decision of State College Borough Council.

This decision was made in an effort to eliminate a bottleneck which has created traffic and safety hazards on the thoroughfare.

In order to make available parking space which will be eliminated by Beaver avenue restrictions, it was also decided to place meters on the west sides of S. Allen and S. Frazier streets from Beaver to Foster avenues.

A special traffic committee called into session last week by Burgess E. K. Hibshman recommended these changes to the council. Beaver avenue business men, who also attended the meeting, agreed the changes were necessary.

Student Dry Cleaning

The Student Dry Cleaning Agency reopens at 7:30 a.m. today. Students who left clothing at the agency to be cleaned during vacation may pick it up.

Hemlock Cottage to Go; Students Move to Maple

By ROBERT LANDIS

Students living in Hemlock Cottage were told last night to clear out within the next day or so. Reason: to make room for the Student Union Building. Walter Wiegand, director of housing, last night revealed that construction on the $2,876,000 building will begin Monday.

Hemlock residents were informed at 5 p.m. yesterday by Allen C. St. Claire, director of purchasing, that they would have to move to Maple Cottage across the street since the building will be torn down.

"Very soon students will be seeing a lot of activity around the site," Wiegand said. A simple ground-breaking ceremony is being planned, but no special date has been set, he said.

Students Good-Natured
Sub-lets are now being given out," Wiegand said, and students will soon see visible evidence of construction on the site.

The students living in Hemlock Cottage took their deportation good naturedly, St. Claire said, although they did have a preference for the cottage.

The contract for the work was let Dec. 16 to Irwin and Leighton, Philadelphia contractors. The site of the building will be on Holmes Field, across from Osmond Laboratory.

The building will be what architects term functional and known to the layman as modern. It will be large (three stories) and sprawling (a wing and two terraces).

Fees Rise to $10
Its three floors will satisfy most, if not all, the needs that students have for a student union. Room will be made for a large ballroom, a lecture hall, music room for rehearsals, a library, cafeteria, soda bar, coffee shop, meeting rooms and offices for student organizations, four lounges, and game areas for table tennis and pool.

As the building rises so will the student fees: from $7.50 to $10. The SU is expected to be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1954.

Other new equipment will be added at a later date, McComb said. The room will serve as an anteroom for two large reading rooms when the new $1,400,000 wing is opened in the fall. McComb hopes that later the room will be further converted to a "browsing room," an informal, recreational reading room.

Present plans call for closing the room during mid-semesters to add finishing touches, including a new rubber tile floor, an acoustical soundproof tile ceiling, a large fluorescent fixture, and new plaster and rose paint for the walls.

Children of Veterans To Be Vaccinated
Vaccinations for small pox will be given to children of student veterans at 9 a.m. Friday in the Windcrest Community Hall.

The vaccinations will be given by a College Health Service physician to children six months old or more. The vaccinations will be checked Jan. 19.

Volunteers Seek Enrollment Hike
Students have again been asked to aid in increasing the enrollment of the College by returning to their high schools to discuss student life and to give general information concerning the College.

Volunteers will return to their high schools during the period after finals of this semester and the start of next semester, Feb. 2, Andrew McNeillie, student enrollment committee chairman, said. The enrollment committee, set up by All-College Cabinet, will provide the necessary information in brochures, catalogues, and pamphlets.

Students may apply by signing an application list from 1 to 5 p.m. today, tomorrow, and Friday in the second floor lounge of Old Main. Those accepted will receive instructions and an outline of the program at 7 p.m. Jan. 15 in 110 Electrical Engineering.

Student participation in the past has been commendable, McNeillie said. He urged Penn State students to take part again this year as it offers an opportunity for each student speaker to aid his college.

Students interested in participating in the Radio Guild-sponsored Radio Day must attend the meeting at 7 tonight in 228 Sparks, according to David R. Mackey, Radio Guild adviser.

The Radio Guild will simulate a regular day in a radio station from 7 a.m. to midnight Jan. 12. Mackey emphasizes that interested students must attend tonight's meeting, when permanent lists of casts and crews, including script, production, continuity, acting, and announcing, will be drawn up.

A list of the heads of these units will be posted after noon today in 316 Sparks. James Bloxham will be student manager of Radio Day. Students are eligible to participate, regardless of curriculum, Mackey said.

Amole Improves, No Longer Critical
Robert Amole, graduate student injured by a bull on his father's farm during Thanksgiving vacation, is "over the critical stage," according to members of his fraternity, Alpha Sigma Phi.

Amole, no longer under an oxygen tent, is still paralyzed from the waist down. An aunt found Amole lying in a bull's stall shortly after he had returned home from the College for Thanksgiving vacation. He had apparently entered the stall of the dehorned bull and been knocked against the barn's stone wall and then trampled. Amole is in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia.

5 Fraternities Fined For Ordinance Violation
Five fraternities have been fined by the State College borough for violation of the rubbish ordinance.

Alpha Epsilon Pi, Phi Kappa, Alpha Sigma Phi, Kappa Delta Rho, and Delta Tau Delta paid fines after being apprehended by the State College police department.
