Television cable customers in Bellefonte and State College will have Altoona's new TV station piped into their homes as soon as WFBG starts telecasting.

Centre Video Engineers, operator of the State College cable system and for Bellefonte's Central Pennsylvania Corp., announced today that the Altoona station would be made available to cable users at no increase in cost.

Preparations are underway now to add the Altoona station to the system that now carries WJAC from Johnstown. Aerials, for masts now already up, and strips to insert in distribution boxes throughout the two towns are on order. Central Pennsylvania Corp. has a converter in Philadelphia now being set up to change the channel signal from channel 10 to channel 4.

Channel 4 is where cable-users will tune in Altoona.

The new station plans to go on the air about Feb. 1. Pattern testing is expected to begin soon.

College Draft Rule Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draft officials soon may be looking at college students with "something more than an appraising eye"—and tightening up on other deferments as well—the director of selective service says.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the director, said growing draft calls, and legal limits on the ages of eligibles, were producing "a physical—perhaps I should say a mathematical—impossibility to . . . stay within the law without substantial tightening of deferments."

Hershey declared that "students will not be the only men affected by this tightening." But he also said selective service, "relatively speaking" had taken an "infinitesimal" number of men so far from the colleges, while inducting industrial workers and farmers and facing "an imminent necessity in the not so distant future" of drafting married men.

Eisenhower--

Eisenhower's third suggestion is that industry and labor should provide a broader reservoir of voluntary leadership. He pointed out that almost every community has a small core of devoted people who are always persuaded to take key posts of responsibility in health campaigns. This gives rise to situations in which leadership becomes confused with sponsorship and in which education may be forgotten in the feverish drive for funds, he added.

"The fourth and final suggestion I have gathered from my professional friends, concerns the relationship of business and industrial corporations with the several health organizations. Business and industry with their millions of stockholders have a tremendous stake in programs designed to keep our nation strong. I'm sure that as they equate the future of private enterprise with the future of the voluntary agencies that are rooted in the same free soil, they will join in the cooperative effort."

The dinner was jointly sponsored in New York by the American and New York Heart Associations. Other speakers included Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Dr. Irving Wright, president of the American Heart Association.

Judd Tells--

(Continued from page one) rights and principles of the free world, Judd said. At the Teheran, Yalta, and Potsdam conferences more and more power and territory was yielded to Russia.

U.S. Cannot Stay Neutral World revolution is the primary object of Stalin, said Judd. The Communist doctrine is dedicated to spreading war, strife, and a world proletariat.

Nations of the world cannot ignore this by assuming a policy of isolationism as our colonial forefathers, Judd said. Nor can we face the problem by maintaining an attitude of neutralism like India today. Nehru retains his Communist sympathy because he does not realize the alternative. He thinks it is too dangerous to be an ally of the United States, because Russia is winning her silent "cold war," he said.

Judd emphasized the need to divide the forces of Communist strength in Asia by striking through Formosa. He criticized the use of the Seventh Fleet for merely protective purposes. There is no hope for a policy of defeatism and negativism, Judd said.

The world needs not wealth, but the secret of wealth so every country can make its own economic stability. The secret of wealth is equal opportunity based on the right of the individual and equal opportunity can not exist in a Communist dominated world, Judd said.
