

Official Envelope Lists Times for Registration

Registration must be made for the spring semester at the time designated on the official registration envelope, H. A. Sperber, assistant scheduling officer, has reminded students.

To be admitted, students must present matriculation cards at the north exit to Recreation Hall, opposite the Nittany Lion Inn.

Seniors and juniors will register Jan. 28, sophomores and freshmen Jan. 29 and 30, and special students Jan. 31.

Students should return to campus 24 hours before they are scheduled to report to Rec Hall in order to see their advisers and pick up and fill out forms in the registration envelope, Sperber said. Students in the Division of Intermediate Registration should report to their advisers 48 hours before they are scheduled to report to Rec Hall.

Special students and College employees will register before noon Jan. 31. Necessary forms for registration can be obtained at 4 Willard, Sperber said.

Graduate students may register anytime between Jan. 28 and noon Jan. 31.

Any student registering after noon Jan. 31 will be charged a $10 late registration fee.

Students should keep an up-to-date schedule handy at all times during registration, Dean of Admissions C. O. Williams has announced. This will be the only copy of the schedule students will possess on completion of registration.

In case major changes in the schedule are necessary, students should report to the dean's representatives in the middle of the Rec Hall floor. Students will not be permitted to leave Rec Hall until registration has been completed, Williams said.

Registration booths will be set up according to schools in the same places as last semester, Sperber said. A map of the Rec Hall floor is printed on the registration envelope.

Sophs Consider Spring Revival Of Poverty Day

The sophomore class last night discussed the possibility of reviving Poverty Day, an old Penn State custom popular during the twenties.

Although no decision was made on that proposal last night, the class did choose "poverty" as the theme for its dance March 20 and postponed further discussion of Poverty Day until its next meeting.

The title of the dance will be chosen by the decoration committee from a list of five submitted by the class last night.

Committee chairmen for the affair are William Rother, dance chairman; Lu Weber and Ronald Safier, decorations; Albert Benning, tickets; John Speer and John Kelly, intermission; Barry Kay, requisitions; Tom Kidd, music; Richard Bouchet, publicity; and Faith Gallagher, posters.

The class talent show to be held March 18 will consist of a Barbershop Quartet contest, supervised by John Kelly.

Admission to the dance in Recreation Hall will be free to sophomores and their dates.

State Police Called To Probe Theft

State police will be called in to investigate the theft of two aluminum cylinder heads valued at $50 from an automobile belonging to William Bieber, first semester mechanical engineering major.

Capt. Philip Mark of the Campus Patrol yesterday revealed he would call in the State Police to check on fingerprints taken from the vehicle.

The cylinder heads were stolen yesterday between 1 and 8 a.m. Additional damage estimated between $30 and $40 was done to the car, Bieber said.

Group to See Film

"Human Bridge," an industrial film on human relations from the library of the Ford Motor Co., will be shown at the Society for the Advancement of Management meeting at 7 tonight in 107 Main Engineering.

Eng Council Open House Set for May

The Engineering Student Council last night at its last meeting of the semester voted to hold its annual open house in conjunction with the other schools of the College.

The event is to be held the first weekend in May. Each engineering department will be asked by the council to prepare exhibits and cooperate in presenting the program.

Also, due to the many complaints regarding the English proficiency test, the council accepted a suggestion of the administration that one night before the test be set aside for briefing of those taking the test in the aims and purposes of the test.

The complaints had originated in the claim that there was no direct preparation given for the test, and that the course given after the test to those failing did not give the necessary specialized instruction engineers need.

The budget for the year was also presented to the council by treasurer Frank Leader and approved. Nearly twice the funds of last year were provided. Much of the increase will go to the open house program.

Council keys were presented to each of the members at the close of the meeting.

Staff Members To Be Judges In Farm Show

Many of the judges of the competitive exhibits at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg this week are members of the College staff.

Carroll S. Shaffner, superintendent of sheep, will judge sheep and wool; P. Thomas Ziegler, professor of animal husbandry, will place the dressed lamb carcasses; and Dr. J. Frank Cone, professor of bacteriology, will judge milk.

Other judges will be Dr. Glenn O. Bressler, professor of poultry husbandry, eggs; Dr. Arthur J. G. Maw, professor of poultry husbandry, baby chicks and poultry; Paul H. Margolf, professor of poultry husbandry, poultry, dressed turkeys, and broiler, fryer, and roasting chickens; Miss Myrtle E. Swanson, associate professor of foods and nutrition, foods; Arthur W. Clyde, professor of agricultural engineering, and Frank Anthony, instructor in agricultural education, tractor driving contest.

Barlett to Close Lecture Series

Dr. Paul D. Bartlett of Harvard University will close the organic chemistry lecture series with three speeches today and tomorrow in Osmond Laboratory.

He will speak at 4:10 p.m. today in 117 Osmond on "Cage Ring Systems and Organic Reaction Mechanisms." This evening he will discuss "Recent Developments in the Carbonium Ion Theory" at 7:30 p.m. in 119 Osmond. His lecture at 4:10 p.m. tomorrow in 117 Osmond will be "Some Reactions of Elemental Sulfur with Compounds."

Ag Group Hears Prexy

President Milton S. Eisenhower addressed the 35th annual meeting of the Centre County Agricultural Extension Association Jan. 8 at Logan Hall. He discussed the history of national agricultural extension programs and outlined major agriculture problems of the next ten years.

King of Gods Desires Mortal In Players' 'Amphitryon 38'

A four-level stylized set will enable the king of the gods, while standing on a cloud, to see and desire a warrior's mortal wife in the Players' production of "Amphitryon 38" at 8 p.m. tomorrow through Saturday at Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets for S. N. Behrman's liberal translation of Jean Giraudoux's comedy are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main at 60 cents for tomorrow night and $1 for Friday and Saturday nights.

Original Set Realistic
The set was designed by Russell Whaley and executed by Mesrop Kesdekian, instructor in dramatics, with the aid of the construction crew and dramatics classes.

The stylized set differs from the set used for the original 1937 production which starred the Lunts and featured Sydney Greenstreet, according to Dennis Sherk, graduate assistant in dramatics and director of the Players' production.

While the original production used three sets in an attempt for realism, only the properties will be changed for each act in the unrealistic, stylized set.

Biography Presented
The coloring through lights and paints is obviously unrealistic in its attempt to approach an aesthetic feeling. The basic Greek costumes have also been stylized and dyed and painted to fit in the general effect.

Another Behrman comedy, "Biography," was presented by Players last spring at Center Stage with Fran Stridinger in the Ina Claire role of Marian Froge.

A FULL-SIZED REPLICA of the above model will be the stage setting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium when Players present their new production, "Amphitryon 38." The S. N. Behrman liberal translation of the Greek legend will also be staged Friday and Saturday.

Besides "Amphitryon 38," the Lunts have appeared in two other Behrman plays, "The Second Man," and "I Know My Love." Other Behrman hits include "No Time for Comedy," "End of Summer," "Jane," "Brief Moment," and "Rain from Heaven."

Giraudoux's "The Madwoman of Chaillot" and "The Enchanted" have been well-received on Broadway.

Before coming to the College, Sherk was director of theater at Kansas State Teachers College.

High School Bandsmen To Convene for Festival

Band members from approximately 180 high schools throughout Western Pennsylvania will convene in State College Feb. 4 through Feb. 7 for four days of practice and concerts at the western division All-State Band Festival.

Paul Yoder, arranger and publisher of school band music, will be guest conductor for the Western All-State Band. Yoder has had over 600 compositions published in 50 catalogs of music publishers.

The band will be composed of 185 selected musicians from schools throughout the western division. Only one musician may represent each school with the exception of State College High School, which as host will place five in the band. The 185 bandsters will be selected from over 355 high schools at district band meetings held this month.

Sixty high schools from the central district, of which State College High School is a member, will meet this weekend in Martinsburg. Selection of musicians from the central district to play in the Western All-State Band will be made by band directors Sunday at the Nittany Lion Inn.

In addition to band members approximately 100 high school band directors will attend the

Orientation Set For Jan. 27-31

Spring semester Orientation Week for new freshman and transfer students will be Jan. 27 to Jan. 31, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, chairman of the Orientation Week committee, has announced.

Orientation will begin with lunch Jan. 27, followed in the afternoon by talks with faculty advisers, Kenworthy said. All men will then meet with orientation counselors according to the schools, he said. Members of the Orientation Week committee will serve as counselors.

At 8 p.m., President Milton S. Eisenhower will address the new students in Schwab Auditorium.

New students will register with returning students according to alphabetical division Jan. 28, 29, and 30. Health examinations will be given Jan. 30.

The dean of women will meet with new women students in Atherton lounge at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 27.

Wrestling Show Tonight at TUB

"Know Your Wrestling," a program of information and entertainment pertaining to the mat sport, will be presented at 7:30 tonight in the TUB. The program is sponsored by Blue Key, junior men's hat society.

Members of the varsity wrestling team will demonstrate basic wrestling holds and scoring techniques. Movies of last year's Eastern Intercollegiate championships will be shown. Nittany wrestling Coach Charles Speidel will narrate the films.

The program is open to students and townspeople, and no admission will be charged.

Thespian Officers

Thespians recently re-elected Richard Brugger, president; Donald Stohl, secretary; and Alan McChesney, treasurer.

Newly-elected officers are Ray Barr, vice president; Clifford Holgate, historian; and Lincoln Warrell, member-at-large.
