

WSGA Approves Booklet Changes

Two revisions of the Women's Student Government Association handbook were approved by WSGA Senate last night.

Senate passed the recommendation of Irene Taylor, Judicial chairman, that the handbook regulation concerning daytime traveling be modified. The revision requires that women traveling more than 25 miles from the College sign out for the destination in the

Engagements

Thomas-Ruffell

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Ruffell, Bedford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to Eugene Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Thomas of Clairton.

Miss Ruffell, who was graduated in June in music education, is a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She is now teaching in Gettysburg.

Mr. Thomas, an eighth semester chemistry major, is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Blue Band, and Phi Mu Alpha.

Baptist Fellowship Elects Officers

The Roger Williams Fellowship (Baptist) elected Helen Lineaweaver, seventh semester home economics major, president Sunday night.

Other officers are James Justin and Margaret Stevenson, vice presidents; Lucinda Manarin, secretary; and David Irons, treasurer.

The committee chairmen include Ruth Hammell, Isaac Aurelio, and Jerry Lewis in charge of devotions; Ruth Graves and Richard Parsons, supper; Richard Knauss, deputations; Dorothy McLain, recreation; and Ralph Schwirian, radio.

Dona Hooper and Barry Keiser are in charge of social action; Joyce Gardner and David Leatham, membership; Edna Peterson, Inter-Church Student Fellowship; Richard Lighty and Ernest Cooke, publicity; Ronald Jochen, Richard Daily and Carl Black, Link.

5 Women Added To Debate Squad

Five members have been added to the women's debate squad, Marian Ungar, debate manager, announced yesterday.

Alice Murray, Margaret Troutman, Lois Hummel, Ann Leh, and Susanne Berleue were selected for the team following spring semester tryouts. Candidates were required to present a five minute talk on the national intercollegiate topic, Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should enact a fair employment practices' law.

Enrollment Deadline Set For Dancing Class

Today is the last day students may enroll in the seven-week beginning dance class, sponsored again this semester by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary. Interested students can sign up for the class at the Student Union desk. Enrollment fee is $1 for seven lessons, the first beginning Monday.

The dance class will be held 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Monday through

12 Profs To Lead RILW Talks

Religion-in-Life Week fireside discussion leaders should possess a personal theology of life which is evident in their methods of classroom instruction, William Griffith, RILW chairman, told 12 faculty members Tuesday night.

The instructors, whose names had been suggested to the RILW general committee by students, met with Griffith to discuss the duties of a fireside leader.

Will Receive Assignments
Griffith told the group the basis of their individual selection was an obvious set of philosophical standards to which they adhered consistently.

The faculty leaders will receive assignments to fraternity and dormitory firesides requesting a guest speaker. They will be expected to speak on their personal philosophy for a short period and then open the floor to discussion.

May Arrange Interviews
Any group of 25 or more persons wanting a guest speaker during Religion-in-Life Week may contract one by calling the Penn State Christian Association and stating the hour and place of the meeting and discussion topic desired, according to Griffith.

Those persons wishing a personal interview with a guest speaker, may make arrangements for one by calling or stopping at the PSCA.

Luyben Elected Editor

Chimes elected Helen Luyben editor of Keynotes, national Chimes magazine, to replace Julia Ibbotson at a recent meeting.

WRA Dance Funds To Aid Polish Orphan

By BEV DICKINSON

Proceeds of the WRA Sweetheart Dance, to be held from 9 p.m. to midnight Saturday in White Hall, will go for aid to Marie Aftanas, a 13-year-old refugee Polish girl.

Maria, adopted by the Women's Recreation Association through the Foster Parent's Plan for War Children, Inc., is the youngest of three children. She and her two older brothers were born in Alexandria, Poland, where her father, a fisherman, provided comfortably for his growing family. But in July, 1941, he was seized by a German patrol and taken away, no one knows why. In spite of unceasing efforts, no trace of him has been found.

After the Ribbentrop-Molotov agreement for population dispersement, Maria, her mother, and brothers were deported to a farm in Germany to work as slave-laborers. In the spring of 1945, after hours of long, hard work, the Aftanas family was liberated by American troops, and they were placed in a DP camp in the American zone.

Maria and her family are now living in two rooms of an old wooden barracks; the wooden floors are bare, and there is no running water. The furnishings are old and broken down, and there is only a small stove to keep the shack heated. The family's total income after deductions for light and fuel is $20.63 a month.

Maria is a demure, serious little girl with grey-green eyes and long dark hair. After receiving a package from WRA, Maria wrote in her last letter, "I am very happy that my dear Foster Parents do not forget me, and I believe now that God has not forgotten me."

Players to Hold New Workshop

Players will hold a workshop for technical crew volunteers at 7 tonight in the loft of Schwab Auditorium. William Nudorf will be in charge. Patricia Jenkins will instruct a workshop in costuming at 7 p.m. in the basement of Schwab.

Students attending workshops will receive instructions in the production end of a play. Set construction and costuming will also be planned in workshops for "Aria de Copa" and "A Phoenix Too Frequent," opening Feb. 27 at Center Stage, and "Lute Song," Schwab production scheduled for March 12, 13, and 14.

Fran Stridinger, Players president, said volunteers must attend the three-week workshop sessions to be qualified as crew members for Player points.

Sealing Wax—

hostess' office. This does not pertain to overnights. The ruling formerly specified that women traveling farther than a 20-mile radius during the day sign out on a pink slip and send a post-card home.

More Changes Possible

A second revision approved by Senate will omit the clause which states that Freshman Council will aid in disciplining customs violators. The joint Freshman Customs and Regulations Board is now in charge of disciplinary action for violators.

Joan Hutchon, Senate president, said that other proposals for revision of the handbook, given to all new women on campus each year, may be presented to Patricia Ellis, chairman of the revisions committee, for Senate approval.

Convention Delegates

The request of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, that election of the annual "Quill Girl" be held during WSGA-Women's Recreation Association elections March 10 and 12 was granted. Women vote annually for the Quill Girl, who is honored at the fraternity's Matrix Dinner each spring. Presidents of WSGA, WRA, and Mortar Board are candidates for the title.

Senate decided to send the retiring president of the group, Miss Hutchon, and the incoming president, who will be elected in March, to the Eastern College Convention of WSGA. The convention will be April 2-5 at Ohio State University.

The organization recommended that not more than half the women selected for membership in the new senior women's honorary to be organized from the present junior class be former members of Chimes and Cwens, junior and sophomore women's honoraries.

Kaye Kinsley was appointed to succeed Helen Sidman as freshman senator.
