Rector Calls Religion Part of University

The idea that a university must be neutral about the question of religion is increasingly becoming an illusion, the Rev. E. A. deBordenave, rector of Christ Church, Philadelphia, said at the first Religion-In-Life-Week panel discussion Sunday night.

Dormitory Units Plan Open Houses

Open houses sponsored by Leonides will be held next week in the lounges of the women's dormitories, according to Sally McNight, committee publicity chairman.

Each of the dormitories will provide dancing, games, and refreshments from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for independent men.

As part of Independent Week, the open houses are planned for both dormitory and town men. Students living in dormitories may sign up with their presidents if they wish to attend the open houses. Men living in town must sign their names and class at the Student Union desk in Old Main by 5 p.m. tomorrow.

PSCA to Offer Courses

Registration is open in 304 Old Main for two non-credit courses in religion which will start the fourth week of February. Dr. Hans Freund, professor of philosophy, will teach "The Christian Student in the University" and the Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, College chaplain, will teach "The Religion of the New Testament."

Farrell to Speak

Dr. M. A. Farrell, director of the Agriculture Extension Station, will speak to the Clover Club on research at the College at 7:30 tonight in 111 Plant Industries.

PSCA Needs Coeds To Roll Bandages

Women students are needed to help with bandage rolling 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays in 309 Old Main, according to Mary Jane Wyland, program coordinator of the Penn State Christian Association.

There is an urgent need for these bandages in hospitals and in Korea, and all help will be greatly appreciated, she said.

Engagements

Miss Pat Manly

OK Joe?

You'd never know it from this serious study of Pat, but she is as animated as she is attractive. Pat is truly the epitome of a lively but exciting little elf.

Pat, keep your eyes peeled for florist Jimmy Wolfe's delivery wagon.
