

Jobs Open In Arctic Operations

Students interested in summer employment as student assistants in the U.S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau's Arctic Operations Project can secure applications for the positions through the College's Division of Meteorology.

The U.S. Weather Bureau each year undertakes the project whereby student assistants are employed in the bureau's summer occupation of shipping and flying supplies to Arctic weather outposts. The main duties of the student assistants are loading and checking supplies, construction work, and delivery of these supplies to weather outposts.

Requirements for the positions are U.S. citizenship, satisfactory scholastic standing, and draft board clearance if the applicant is of draft age. Particularly sought are juniors, seniors, and graduates between the ages of 20 and 24.

Wages for the job are a dollar a day while in the service of the bureau. Living expenses of eight dollars a day will also be provided while the assistant is in Boston, the point of embarkation. Outer winter clothing, medical, mailing, and hunting facilities will also be provided by the bureau.

Employment will be approximately from June 15 to Sept. 15. After reporting to Boston June 15 an applicant will help load a U.S. Navy cargo vessel with supplies for the weather stations. Embarkation for either Thule, Greenland, or Resolute Bay would be about July 15.

Additional information and application forms are available in Dr. Hans Neuberger's office, Division of Meteorology, 323 Mineral Industries.

AROTC Unit Will Expand To Division

The College Air Force ROTC unit will be expanded from a wing to an air division this spring, Commandant of Cadets Major George W. Casey has announced.

The AFROTC corps, comprising about 2800 members, has been recently officially ranked third among the nation's 189 Air Force ROTC groups.

The expansion of the corps has been necessitated by this recent growth of the AFROTC unit in relation to the limited space for marching in front of Old Main. It has also been expanded in order that all advanced students in the program would receive training as commissioned cadets.

The air division will be composed of two wings. One wing will still meet in front of Old Main, while the other will meet on the golf course recreation area. The two wings will alternate common hour activities between the two areas.

Cadets to Hear Pershing Head

Cadet Col. David Odiorne, commander of the Fifth Pershing Rifle Regiment, will address commanders of 17 companies in the College armory tomorrow. The regimental headquarters and Company B-5 are located at the College.

Company commanders will come from colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and Washington, D.C.

Odiorne will discuss the Pershing Rifle drill meet to be held in Pittsburgh in May, and reorganization of the 1800-man regiment. Col. Lucius E. Bolduc, professor of military science and tactics at the College, will open the meeting.

The hot springs and geysers of Yellowstone National Park give off enough heat every minute to melt 3 tons of ice each second.

218 Students Dropped for Scholarship

The office of the registrar said yesterday 218 students were dropped from the College at the end of the fall semester for poor scholarship.

The students were dropped under one of four drop rules prescribed in the Regulations for Undergraduates. Seventeen of the students have been reinstated by the Senate committee on academic standards.

The main campus had the highest number of scholastically ineligible students with 197 students being dropped from school. The Hazelton Center had nine, Ogontz six, Altoona three, and DuBois three.

The School of Home Economics had the best record among the schools of the College with only one of its students dropped. The School of Physical Education and Athletics was next with four, Education five, Mineral Industries six, Agriculture 17, Chemistry and Physics 15, Engineering 24, Liberal Arts 38, and the Division of Intermediate Registration 108.

It was also announced that 43 students have withdrawn from College. Reasons given were personal nine, transferring three, scholastic 18, financial four, unknown one, military service six, and illness two.
