FIVE CENTS

Blue Band to Play At Sendoff Tonight

Members of the Blue Band will provide the music for the joint pep rally at 6:45 tonight in front of Recreation Hall for the wrestling, boxing, and gymnastics squads.

Androcles, junior men's hat society, is sponsoring the rally as which are participating in inter-collegiate competitions this week.

Home Ec To Rate Faculty

A system of faculty rating in the School of Home Economics was presented at a meeting of the Home Economics Student Council held last night. A committee of four students and two faculty members is in the process of preparing a questionnaire which would rate faculty on the basis of subject matter, method, assignments, examinations, grading, and attitude.

Questionnaires would be distributed to students, filled out, and then returned to the instructor. Results would not be made public, yet instructors would know where their good points and weaknesses lie. The questionnaires should be ready for distribution in the early part of May.

A tea for graduating seniors in the school and faculty members will be held 4 to 5:30 p.m. May 3 in Simmons Hall lounge.

Plans for an open house, in addition to Spring Weekend, were discussed. The open house is to be held May 2, at the same time of the open houses in the other schools. There will be student guides throughout the building to take visitors on a tour of the building, advisers to speak on vocations in home economics, and exhibits.

Council elections will be held April 29 and 30. All members and officers of the council will be elected at this time except freshman members, who are elected in the fall.

Tribunal Fines Meter Dodger

The case of a student who parked in the lot near the Engineering Building to avoid paying a parking meter was heard by Tribunal last night. The violator was fined $1.

The student further maintained that he does not have a permit of any kind, but that he is living a good distance from campus. Chairman James Schulte pointed out, however, that he is living within the distance that forbids the issuing of campus parking permits, but added that efforts are being made to move in the boundary. This would accommodate more students for areas.

Another first offender pleaded that he has a class at Engineering B where he was caught illegally parked, then immediately goes to Ag Hill for a horseback riding class, and then attends a ROTC common hour at Schwab Auditorium.

There were a total of 17 first offenders and two second offenses. A total of $18 in fines was levied.

TODAY'S WEATHER
CLOUDY AND COLDER

Richard Neuweiler, eighth semester arts and letters major, will act as master of ceremonies for the rally, and Head Cheerleader Alan McChesney will take charge of cheering activities.

Booster Tags Available
Captains and coaches of the three teams are expected to speak at the rally.

Booster tags for the rally have been distributed at the Student Union desk in Old Main, the main desk in the West Dorms, the Corner Room, the Athletic Store, and Metzgers. Students are asked to pick up slogan tags at one of these points or from Androcles members.

Hatmen will come through the West Dorm area to get out students, especially freshmen, for the rally. Officers of the society have asked that all students, particularly those living in the West Dorm area, turn out to honor the three squads.

Individual Competitions Slated
The boxing team will leave tomorrow for Syracuse to compete for the Eastern boxing championship. The wrestlers will also leave tomorrow for Princeton to take part in the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association meet. The gymnastics squad will leave Friday for West Point.

Each man from Penn State's Eastern championship gym team will compete in the Eastern individual titles competition.

Sachs Faces Trial At Next Session

The charge against Walter Sachs, eighth semester liberal arts major, was referred to court yesterday by Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills, following a public hearing.

Sachs was arrested by State College police early this month on charges of driving while intoxicated, after his car crashed head on into a parked car in State College.

He was released on $300 bail until the Centre County court goes into session in April.

Chinese Play's Opening Nears

By CHIZ MATHIAS

Players will seek to add new lustre to the established spectacle of the Chinese "Lute Song" when the musical fantasy opens a weekend run at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Tickets, priced at 60 cents for tomorrow and $1 for Friday and Saturday night's performances, are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

"Lute Song," adapted loosely from the ancient Chinese classic Pi-Pa-Ki, has had the longest continuous run of any play in history. Borrowing a folk tale from vagabond players and show boat troupes, Kao-Tong-Kia, a Chinese schoolmaster, produced the first written script in 1391. It became a hit in the northern provinces but was never produced at court until the blind poet, Mao-Tsen, revised it in the 15th century. From then until revolution uprooted China in 1909 the play was produced almost weekly. The Chinese are much more fond of their classics than American audiences.

Broadway writer Will Irwin fell in love with the play at the Jackson Street Theater in San Francisco's Chinatown back at the turn of the century. He had to

Wallace, Lusk Are WRA Candidates

64% Women Cast Ballots In Primaries

Barbara Wallace and Nancy Lusk are final candidates for Women's Recreation Association president as a result of Women's Student Government Association, and WRA primary elections yesterday. The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes for each of five WSGA and three WRA offices will compete in final elections tomorrow.

Sixty-four per cent of the 2300 women students eligible voted in the primary elections. McAllister Hall residents had the highest voting percentage, with 99 per cent casting ballots. Grange Dorm was second highest, with 88 per cent.

The lowest percentage was for town students, of whom six per cent voted. Barbara Denniston said she hoped town women would show a higher vote count in the finals.

Vice Presidential Finalists
The total percentage of voters is 15 per cent lower than the 79 per cent voting in last year's spring primaries.

WSGA vice presidential candidates are Maud Strawn and Patricia Ellis.

Susan Rice and Frances Riley are finalists for WSGA treasurer. Senior senatorial candidates are Marilyn Busby and Peggy Crooks.

Arlene Borgeson and Ann Cunningham are final candidates for junior senator. Barbara Larpen-teur and Barbara Stock are finalists for sophomore senator.

WSGA Presidential Candidates
Carol Avery and Elizabeth George are candidates for WRA vice president, and Martha Ro-jahn and Marie Wagner will run for intramural chairman.

Candidates for WSGA president, who will run in tomorrow's finals, are Nancy D. White and Barbara Werts. Jane Reber and Patricia Jones will compete for town senator.

Roberta Sankey and Peggy Trevor-rov are candidates for WRA secretary-treasurer, and Patricia Farrell and Shirley Frye will vie for the assistant intramural chair-manship.

Sophs to Apply For WD Rooms

Next year's sophomores may apply for rooms in the West Dormitories for next year from 7 to 9 tonight in 108 Old Main. Sixty applications will be accepted. Applicants must have a 2.0 or better All-College average. Allen C. St. Clair, acting director of housing, has announced.

Between 85 and 90 students who will be seniors next year applied for West Dorm rooms Monday night. If they have a 1.0 average they will be accepted, St. Clair said.

St. Clair emphasized that payment of the $35 room and key deposit automatically binds the applicant to live in the dormitories next year.

Students who wish to room together should apply together, St. Clair said. Other West Dorm rooms will go to freshmen and students who sign up on the priority list.

Velde Discounts Plan To Investigate Clergy

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) of the un-American activities committee said today he does not plan "at this time" to launch a hunt for Communists among the clergy.

Remarks Velde made last night led to the expectation that such an investigation might be forthcoming. But today several other members of the Velde committee registered strong opposition to such a probe.

Velde said he is afraid his remarks last night were misinterpreted. "All I said," he declared, "was that it is within the realm of possibility that individual clergymen might be investigated."

He issued a statement saying: "I want to make clear that no investigation of Communists among the clergy has been discussed by members of the un-

American activities committee in a meeting and such an investigation is not contemplated at this time by me or as far as I know by any member of the committee.

"With all of our investigators' time completely occupied with current investigations of other matters there is no need as I see it to consider this matter further now. This statement does not, however, preclude the possibility of such investigations in the future nor does it preclude the possibility of there being Communists and ex-Communists among the clergy or men who have left the clergy for politics or other professions."

It was afternoon before Velde could be reached for comment on remarks he made last night on a radio program, "Reporters Roundup," over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Smile a While! It's Smile Week

This is National Smile Week, so the Daily Collegian, in patriotic spirit, joyfully conducted a survey of sorts. Well, actually, it was a survey of people.

The first gentleman we asked "How are you going to celebrate National Smile Week?" listed himself as a professor of polysynthesis 482. Upon being questioned, he laughed hysterically and continued to sharpen red pencils with a blood-stained butcher knife in preparation for an unannounced blue book.

To get the student opinion, we queried a fifth semester polysynthesis major on how he was going to celebrate the merry occasion. He curtly grinned, continuing to stick sharp needles in a voodoo doll, which strangely resembled the professor of polysynthesis 482, and with his free hand cleaned his teeth with a nine-inch switchblade knife.

LA Evaluation Tests Complete

The faculty-evaluation committee, set up by the Liberal Arts Student Council, has completed the compilation of tests for the purpose of students' evaluation of the professors in the School of Liberal Arts.

A letter and copy of the test will be delivered to each instructor within a week. Each instructor is asked to reply to the council's letter by ordering the number of tests he needs.

The use of the test is left to the discretion of the instructor. The results are for his personal information only.

The tests are made up of a series of questions pertaining to the student's evaluation of the instructor regarding dress, teaching technique, use of examinations, and other phases of instruction.

"LUTE SONG," Players' musical fantasy, will take over Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow with a cast of 35 including coolie Barton Burke (left), Nancy Levitt, and Cameron Iseman, a priest.
