

McCoy Cites Need for New Sports Areas

Plans to provide 19 new areas for campus recreation were explained Wednesday night by Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics.

Speaking before the Penn State Alumni Club of Centre County, McCoy cited the need for expanded recreation facilities and said that 12 new areas have been mapped out for softball, two or three for touch football fields, and other spaces for general recreation.

McCoy indicated the progress made in the construction of the new wing of Recreation Hall. He pointed out the present need for a field house for track, basketball, baseball, wrestling, and boxing as well as additional locker and training rooms. Another College need is adequate facilities for co-ed recreation, he said.

He complimented the work being done in the school and said that the combined academic, professional, coaching, and administration standing of the school was the best in the country and would rank second to no other school.

Trail Riding Starts Today

The Riding Club will hold its first recreational trail ride of the season today. This is the first ride since they were discontinued last fall for the winter months.

The rides are open to members of the Riding Club only, and a donation of $1 an hour will be asked. Club members must sign up in advance at the College stables, either in person or by phone.

Riders will be divided into three groups: one group leaving at 9 a.m., one at 1:30 p.m., and one at 3 p.m. They will be led by advanced riding students.

The rides, which will be held every Saturday throughout the rest of the semester, offer students the opportunity of group horseback riding on College owned horses, in addition to instruction from advanced riders.

If She's Lovely, She's Engaged— In 'Roberta'

College coeds will have a chance to put John Robert Powers and Harry Conover to shame at Thespian tryouts at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Schwab Auditorium. Thespians are searching the campus for female pulchritude to model the latest creations in the big fashion show number of Jerome Kern's "Roberta."

According to Moylan Mills, assistant to General Director Ray Fortunato, 18 models will be selected to appear in the musical comedy. Women interested in auditioning should report in cocktail dresses and high heels, Mills said.

Impersonators of popular singers ranging from "Schnozzola" Jimmy Durante to Ethel "The Mouth" Merman are also needed for spots in the show and will audition at the same time in Schwab.

Thespians will present "Roberta" IFC Weekend, April 16, 17 and 18 in Schwab.

Autobiography Will Describe Pattee Career

The autobiography of the late Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, who retired in 1928 as professor emeritus of American literature, will be published by friends of Pattee and the College.

The autobiography, "My World as in My Time," was completed two years before Pattee's death in 1950. It has been deposited in the Library along with the extensive writings.

A large part of the autobiography tells of campus history during Pattee's 34 years as professor, department head, and chaplain. The book points out that when Pattee joined the faculty in 1894, he was the entire English department and there was only one novel in the Library.

Another large section of the autobiography is devoted to the Pattee family, home in New Hampshire where they lived for five generations. The final section is concerned with his last years of teaching at Rollins College in Florida and at Bread Loaf Summer School of English in Vermont.

During his years at Penn State, Pattee took an interest in many activities. He was one of the two founders of the Penn State Thespians. Also in 1901, he wrote the lyrics for the Alma Mater.

The Fred Lewis Pattee Library was named in his honor, after Pattee's death at the age of 87.
