

Changes Made In Nominations Of WD Leaders

Nominations for awards to outstanding seniors in the West Dorm area will be made by nominations from the various living units, the West Dorm council decided Monday night.

Previously letters addressed to awards committee chairman Hugh Cline were nominations, however, when Cline did not receive any letters, the council proposed that each unit nominate at least one man for each of the three awards: athletics, scholarship, and activities. Winners will receive the awards at the council banquet May 5 after selection by an administrative-student committee.

The council decided it would enter Spring Week on its own rather than join the independent Spring Week coordinating committee. All Spring Week activities will be entered.

Television will be tested in the West Dorm lounge after the Easter vacation, the council was told.

Notices will be posted near laundry facilities and telephones warning outsiders not to use them, the council decided. A letter from Harold W. Perkins, assistant dean of men, assured the council action would be taken against offenders.

'The City' Exhibit On Display Today

A traveling exhibit rented from the Museum of Modern Art in New York may be seen today through April 21 in the lobby of McElwain Hall. A combination of the work of well-known European and American artists, the exhibit, entitled "The City," is composed of originals, mostly oils on canvas. Some are for sale, with prices ranging up to $4000. In charge is Prof. John Y. Roy, exhibits chairman of the division of fine and applied arts, which is sponsoring the exhibit.

The paintings, which are tied together in subject matter only, depict such cities as New York City and Paris. The many moods and rhythms of a city are expressed by diversified techniques, ranging from romantic fantasy to broad realism, and including abstract as well as representational oils and water colors.

NCAA Wrestling Seats Available

General admission seats still remain for the NCAA wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday, but students should not wait until the last minute to purchase them, the Athletic Association office has announced.

While reserved seats are sold out for the finals Saturday night, there are still seats for the other matches.

Alderfer Serves As State Adviser

Dr. Henry F. Alderfer, professor of political science, served as editorial consultant for the Chesterman committee, which studied proposals of cutting costs of the state government about $100 million over a six-year period.

Dr. Alderfer was paid $1525 for his position. The committee, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, estimated the cost of its economic study of the state government and distribution of its report at around $50,000.

ministration's attempts to act on the situation were given considerable attention and sustained fire.

Town merchants Keeler, Metzger, Mateer, and Jenkins were told how they would never be able to triumph over the Used Book Agency and the Book Exchange because of the activities of Franklin Kelly, manager of the Book Exchange. Also lampooned in the skit was the American Legion.

Frank J. Simes, dean of men, gave the rebuttal speech for the victims of the roasting.

Also roasted in skit and song were Richard Neuweiler; Froth editor; William Shifflett, AIM president; Poverty Day; Arthur Rosfeld, IFC president; Lincoln Warrell, Chem-Phys School Council president; student moras;

Junior EE Majors To Leave on Tour

Sixty-six junior electrical engineering majors are expected to leave State College this morning for a week-long inspection trip of electrical plants and installations in the New York City and Philadelphia areas.

The trip, required for graduation in the electrical engineering curriculum, is being directed by A. Harris Forbes, associate professor, and Harold J. Nearhoof, assistant professor of electrical engineering.

Capt. Phillip Mark and the Campus Patrol; Walter Sachs; Robert Hance, West Dorm Council president; Prof. David Mackey of the speech department, and the drinking situation at the College.

President Milton S. Eisenhower was guest of honor.

Seventy persons attended the banquet.
