

Nominations Set For AIM Posts

By DIEHL McKALIP

Nominations for next year's Association of Independent Men officers were opened at last night's AIM Board of Governors' meeting. They will close Wednesday, April 15, and elections will be held at the April 30 meeting of the Board of Governors.

All nominations will be made by members of the board who will submit or recommend possible candidates to the AIM elections committee. The committee will screen the candidates, check their qualifications, and at the April 30 meeting present them to the board for an interview prior to the vote.

Reaction 'Poor' Toward New Parking Policy

Student reaction toward a new Tribunal policy concerning parking violations has been very poor so far, according to Tribunal Chairman James Schulte.

The new system, which has been in effect for a week, provides that any violator accused of his first offense by the court may pay his fine at the Student Union desk in Old Main or appear before the court from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays.

Schulte said that many students have not been appearing at the SU or before the court. He added that the new plan was made partly for the student's convenience, and warned that students who do not acknowledge such summons promptly can be referred to the dean of men for disciplinary action.

Payments at the Student Union can be made only by first offenders, as second and third offenders must appear before the court. The summons that a violator receives states where he may pay the fine.

Cabinet OK's 2 Committees

All-College Cabinet has approved appointments to two committees.

Michael Jordan was named chairman of the Orientation Week committee and Edward Fleming was named secretary. Other committee members named are Rodney Stegall, Robert Walsh, Joan Craft, Ronald Johnson, and Richard Hauck.

Charles Gibbs was named chairman of the Orientation Week Coordinating Committee of Cabinet Projects Council. Other members are Charlotte Lutinski, vice chairman, Faith Gallagher, secretary, Andrew Jaros, James Dunlap, Warren Haffner, Patricia Colgan, James Snyder, Gail Smith, Nina Finkle, Lois Freed, Joan Hill, and Margaret Fleisher.

Air Group Accepts Lead of Area C

An invitation to be the newly designated headquarters of Area C has been accepted by the Harry Armstrong Squadron of the Arnold Air Society. The invitation was extended by national headquarters. Area C includes 19 squadrons in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Virginia.

Positions to be filled for the 1953-54 term are president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. Requirements are that the applicant have a 1.0 all-College average, be an independent, and have an interest and/or experience in student government.

Nomination Procedure Changed
The AIM election committee, composed of Ross Clark, Robert Harding, and John Lyon, will check the averages of the candidates and compile a folder on their qualifications. At the election meeting they will introduce the candidates to the board and present the folders.

The work of the committee was altered somewhat at last night's meeting. In previous years, candidates for AIM offices had been nominated from the floor and the committee served as a supplementary group by recommending other men who were overlooked in the formal nominations.

Will Order AIM Pins
A motion, presented by Peter Prinxivalli, head of the AIM key committee, provided that members of the board be given keys in recognition of their service. The keys will be given to all members of the executive committee and all other members of the board providing that the latter have not missed more than two meetings.

The group voted to give a pin and guard signifying his office to each member of the executive committee. A motion to make them a substitute for the keys was defeated.

Home Ec Council Approves Dues
The Home Economics Student Council voted Tuesday night to pay dues of 50 cents to the Student Faculty Board for each of the council's members sitting on the board.

The Student Faculty Board is made up of professors in the school of home economics and the president and vice president of all home economics organizations.

Andree Bloom will be in charge of the senior faculty tea to be held this spring in honor of the graduating seniors and professors of the Home Economics school.

Council elections for the sophomore, junior, and senior class representatives will be held April 29-30. Election of council officers will be held May 5.

Becomes First 'Mr. Ag'

Story on page one

BOYD WOLFF, (right) selected Mr. Agriculture of Penn State at the Ag Hill Achievement Day program last night, is presented a gold loving cup by Paul H. Margolf, professor of poultry husbandry. He was chosen from 1400 students on the basis of his agriculture activities.

Campus Patrol Has 'Fowl Play' In West Dorms

Campus Patrol to the rescue! Yesterday morning the patrol had a call from the West Dorm area that some chickens were loose in the courtyard. Five Bantams belonging to Alex Buchan at the Beef Barn had been taken and then let loose.

Capt. Philip Mark, an assistant, and four or five students surrounded and caught five of the Bantams; one is still loose, probably in the same area.

Last year a turkey was put in a counselor's room as a joke, with the expectation that the counselor would return that evening to find it there. Unfortunately the counselor didn't return. The patrol was called, but it was too late.

An even more daring prankster put a skunk in a phone booth in McElwain. It is questionable who was saved from whom in this episode.

The Campus Patrol will soon be the animal rescue crew.

Matson to Speak Today

Dr. Fredrick R. Matson, professor of ceramics, will speak to the Mineral Economics Seminar on "Refractory Problems in the Iron and Steel Industry" at 4 p.m. today in 225 Mineral Industries.

Guild to Host 2 Presidents

Arthur Rosfeld, president of Interfraternity Council, and Ellen Wandel, Panhellenic Council president, will be interviewed by Albert Dame on Radio Guild's "Spotlight on State" at 9:30 tonight over WMAJ.

Marian Ungar will read "Bill's Eyes," a short story by William March, at 9:45 on "Call Card," also sponsored by Radio Guild over WMAJ. Sally Lowry will direct. Others in the cast are Jay Murphy, announcer; Robert Murrer, voice; Lael Meixsell, engineer; Patricia Troxell, sound; and Johanne Llewelyn, librarian.

Spring Recess Jobs Open in State College

Students who want part-time employment in State College during spring recess have been advised to register in the Student Employment Service office, 112 Old Main, by Jack Huber, director.

Students who registered for employment last semester and have not re-registered are placed on an inactive list, Huber said.

It takes 13 bushels of corn and 40 pounds of supplement a year to keep a sow.

Players To Revive 'Bard' Era

Twenty characters, including College instructors, veteran Players, and new faces behind the footlights, will revive a Shakespearean era when Director Walter H. Walters brings "Merry Wives of Windsor" to Schwab Auditorium in May.

David Wagoner, instructor in English composition, will play the roguish Falstaff. Mesrop Kesdikian, instructor in dramatics, will be seen as Justus Shallow.

The part of Mistress Ford will be portrayed by April Heinsohn, last seen as Center Stage's "Major Barbara." Joan Kronenwetter will play Mistress Page. Velma Kaiser goes straight from her role in "Lute Song" into the role of Anne Page.

Slender, Evans, and Caius will be played by Arthur Diamond, Jack Kutz, and Myron Cole. Leonard Tarnowski will be Ford, and Charles Gauntt, Page.

Jean Risler will be seen as Mrs. Quickly. As Robin, Patricia Pool will don boy's clothes and manners.

Others in the cast are Paul Randig, Bardolph; Ed Grove, Nym; William Musser, Pistol; Lyle Pelton, Simple; Albert Kallson, Rugby; and Robert Klein, Host.

According to Walters, the construction crew will extend the stage level out to the first row of the audience for the production and transform Schwab into a complete Elizabethan theater.

Home Ec Faculty Talk

Five French educators visiting the College will speak on education in France at a home economics faculty meeting at 4:10 p.m. today in 105 White Hall.

The meeting is open to home economics students and members of the Homemakers Club of State College.

THEY SAY:
"Very good. Wayne and Coburn both outstandingly well cast in an excellent story."
