

Elections Group OK's Nominees

The All-College elections committee last night approved both the Lion and State party candidates and the party platforms with two reservations.

The committee asked Myron Enelow, State party clique chairman, to consult with the All-College recreation committee before definitely including a plank that would pledge the establishment

WD Council Selects Finalist For Contest

Sara Sensenig, second semester psychology major, was selected finalist for the "Miss Penn State Contest" by the West Dorm Council last night.

Miss Sensenig will represent the West Dormitory area in the contest, which will open Spring Week activities May 11. Miss Sensenig's photograph will be submitted with photographs of other candidates sponsored by either fraternities, sororities, or independent groups for the contest. Five finalists will be chosen from the entries. The winner will be selected by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower prior to her crowning by the First Lady.

Outstanding seniors of the West Dormitory area in scholarship, sports, and participation in college activities were selected by the council. The seniors will be presented cups by the council at a banquet to be held May 5.

Plans for a record dance to be held in the main Hamilton Hall lounge were presented by the chairman of the social committee. Other social activities of the council will include a dance April 24 with music to be provided by a dance band.

Tests for the television set are to be conducted in the near future in the Hamilton Hall lounge, Robert Solomon, vice president of the council announced.

Council Drops Softball Plans

Town Council last night dropped its softball league project because no fields are available which could be scheduled for league action. The only fields available are used by athletic teams at indefinite times, thus making a league schedule impossible, the softball committee reported. Next year three fields may be set up for softball by the College, the committee was told.

Council voted to pay the bill for a television reception test to be given in the Temporary Union Building after spring recess. Since the College Architectural Board would not approve an aerial outside the building, an outside aerial will be placed on the rafters inside the roof of the TUB. At the same time, indoor reception tests will be held in the West Dormitory main lounge.

To find out what future projects town independents will support, a questionnaire will be given to independent men as they register for the picnic council will sponsor in May. The questionnaire will list a number of possible projects, and the men will check the ones they are willing to support. This will aid next year's council in making plans.

Spring Vacation Begins Tomorrow

Classes will end at 11:50 a.m. tomorrow for spring recess and will be resumed 1:10 p.m. April 8.

Lunch tomorrow will be the last meal served in the College dining halls before recess, and lunch April 8 the first meal served after the vacation. Dormitories close at 5 p.m. tomorrow and reopen at noon April 7.

Part-time employment is available in State College during the vacation for students who do not leave, the Student Employment Service, 112 Old Main, has announced. Information about part-time employment is available at the Employment Service office.

3 Fee Plans Considered By ISCB

Three plans were discussed by the Inter-school Council Board for establishing a uniform student fee at a meeting last night. No definite recommendation was proposed, however.

It was decided to postpone a definite recommendation to All-College Cabinet until the council presidents could discuss the various plans with their groups.

Among the various proposals were:

1. Payment of a set fee by all students, which would be divided equally among the various schools. One objection to this plan was that it was felt the larger schools do not need the money, with the exception of the School of Agriculture.

2. It was also suggested that an estimate be made of the amount needed by each school, and that these amounts be spread proportionately throughout the College.

3. A third solution was the possibility of having the various schools collect needed fees on their own, possibly at the time of registration.

The next meeting of the ISCB will be held on Thursday, April 9, before the cabinet meeting. At that time members of the board will make further recommendations, but no specific proposal will be made to cabinet until later.

5 O'clock Theater Will Present Millay Adaptation

Five O'clock Theater will depart from its policy of original student-written plays when Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Conversation at Midnight" is presented at 5 p.m. today in the Little Theater, basement of Old Main.

Director John Price has adapted a reading condensation of the original. Robert D. Reifneider, associate professor of dramatics, Dennis Sherk, graduate assistant in dramatics, Clifton Crosbie, and Allen Adair will read the play in the style popularized by Charles Laughton and the First Drama Quartet.

Designer for the production is Mesrop Kesdekian, instructor in dramatics. Sylvia Brown will act as technician, and Jo Palmer will be in charge of sound.

"Conversation at Midnight" is the story of four men who meet to discuss life over a drink and philosophize on everything from love to communism.

Prexy Will Present Alumni Fund Talks

President Milton S. Eisenhower will speak to alumni groups in State College, New York City, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh on behalf of the Alumni Fund April 6 to 9.

The meetings, called "Onward State" meetings, are being held to "kick off" the work of class agents in getting money for the Alumni Fund, Bernard P. Taylor, executive director of the Penn State Foundation who will accompany Dr. Eisenhower, has said.

The Alumni Fund accepts money from alumni for both specific and general purposes. Donors may specify uses for their donations or may contribute to the general fund which will be spent where needed by the College.

Class Chairmen Invited

At all meetings, Dr. Eisenhower will speak on "Penn State: Its Present and Future." John Spangler, general chairman of the Alumni Fund, will also speak at the meetings.

Class chairmen and class agents have been invited to these meetings. Also invited to the meeting are members of the College Board of Trustees, members of the executive board of the Alumni Association, and members of the Penn State Foundation.

Tannehill Is Chairman

Charles T. Doubs, 1922 graduate and a member of the executive committee of the Alumni Association, will be chairman of the New York meeting April 7 at the Princeton Club.

Ray S. Tannehill, 1923 graduate, vice chairman of the Alumni Fund, and vice president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, will be chairman of the Philadelphia meeting April 8 at the University Club.

The State College meeting will be held April 6 in the West Dormitory lounge. Eugene Fulmer, president of the Center County Alumni Club, will be chairman.

John Ryan of the class of 1934 will be chairman of the last meeting April 9 at the University Club in Pittsburgh.

Prexy to Tour South America

President Milton S. Eisenhower has accepted an invitation to tour ten South American capitals this summer as a special emissary of the President of the United States.

His purpose will be to extend to the heads of each country the greetings and best wishes of the executive. He will report directly to Washington on his return.

His wife and a high official of the United States State department will accompany him. While plans are still indefinite, he expects to fly to and from South America.

Dr. Eisenhower said he expects to leave early in July. He accepted the assignment only after being assured that it would correspond with his usual month's vacation.

Social Committee Cancels Frosh Revue

The freshman class social committee has decided to abandon its musical revue due to lack of cooperation from the class in the project, according to Albert Jordan.

Details will be discussed at the next committee meeting for a class talent show to take the place of the revue.
