

Party Platforms OK'd 126 in Liberal Arts By Elections Committee Attain Dean's List

Lion and State Party platforms to be used in the campaign beginning Saturday for All-College, senior, and junior class offices were given final approval and released yesterday by the All-College elections committee.

Elections will be held April 22 and 23 in the second floor lounge of Old Main. Balloting for all candidates will be done on five voting machines obtained from the Automatic Voting Machine Corp. of Jamestown, N.Y.

Candidates will campaign in fraternities and campus living and dining units starting at 8 a.m. Saturday. Campaigning will end at 8 a.m. April 22, the first day of voting.

Seeking the All-College presidency are State Party candidate Richard Lemyre and Lion Party candidate Robert Carruthers. Running for All-College vice president and secretary-treasurer are Lion candidates Edward Haag and David Arnold and State candidates William Shifflett and Temple Reynolds.

On the Lion slate for senior class offices are Richard Crafton for president, Fury Feraco for vice president, and Betsy Siegler for secretary-treasurer. Opposing them will be State candidates Henry Windsor, Walt Back, and Carolyn Pelczar.

State Party candidates for junior class offices are John Carey for president, Benjamin Sinclair for vice president, and Joan Shierson for secretary-treasurer. Also seeking the posts will be Lion Party candidates Joseph Barnett, Jesse Arnelle, and Katherine Reynolds.

STATE PLATFORM

1. To work with the employment office to centralize scholarship and job opportunity lists along with descriptive literature on all such opportunities. To establish summer employment opportunity lists with representatives from interested companies coming to the College from local areas for interviews to help the student get a summer job before he goes home. And further, to cooperate with the College in establishing an interview technique training program with full-time instructors to enable the Penn State graduate to get the job for which he is qualified.

2. To encourage the immediate establishment of an adequate centralized bluebook file for all schools. Bluebook files will be set up in the main library according to schools. Contents of the files will be contributed by professors, students, fraternities, sororities, and independent groups.

3. To increase the indoor recreational facilities in the Nittany-Pollock area by converting one of the vacant Nittany dorms into a recreational dorm.

4. To secure space in a College building, when it becomes available, for a Central Promotion Agency designed to carry on publicity campaigns for student organizations and publications.

5. To encourage the establishment of All-College political conventions to increase interest and participation in student government. The structure and function of these conventions would follow the pattern set by national political conventions. Students would be elected from each living unit according to population to serve as representatives and delegates. Candidates would be elected and policies formulated for the ensuing campaign.

6. To establish an All-College Supreme Court as a judicial branch of student government which will coordinate the functions of existing disciplinary bodies by offering the right of final appeal to all students. The Supreme Court would include both students and administration and would be designed to protect the rights of all students.

7. To expand the Cabinet Projects Council so that it may provide more students with opportunities for participation in student government. Further, it will take away many burdens from All-College Cabinet by functioning as a major student investigating body and as a main artery for cabinet legislation.

Five Machines To Be Installed To Tabulate Votes

Five voting machines will be used in the spring elections April 22 and 23 instead of four as originally planned, according to Ronald Thorpe, elections committee chairman.

Thorpe said the Automatic Voting Machine Corp. of Jamestown, N.Y., will supply the machines. Originally the committee planned to get the machines from the Centre County commissioners.

The company will send Frank A. Stone as a representative of the company to supervise the use of the machines; Thorpe said.

A sample ballot arrangement has been forwarded by the company to Thorpe, who had supplied them with a list of the offices open for election. The company will also provide sample voting machines so that students will have a chance to familiarize themselves with the operation of the machines.

Offices that will be on the mechanical ballot are All-College president, vice president, secretary-treasurer; senior class president, vice president, secretary-treasurer; junior class president, vice president, secretary-treasurer; Athletic Association president and secretary-treasurer.

Guild to Interview Mark on WMAJ

Capt. Philip A. Mark of the Campus Patrol will be interviewed by Albert Dame on Radio Guild's "Spotlight on State," at 9:30 tonight over WMAJ. Jay Murphy will direct.

Margaret Troutman will read Marjorie Rawlings' short story, "A Mother in Mannville," at 9:45 tonight over WMAJ on "Call Card," also sponsored by Radio Guild. Director is Sally Lowry. Others in the cast are Jay Murphy, announcer; Robert Murrer, voice; Johanne Llewelyn, librarian; Patricia Troxell, sound; and Craig Sanders, engineer.

Markel to Speak

R. A. Markel of the Philadelphia Electric Co. will speak on "Planning for the Future Expansion of Electric Power Systems" at 4:10 p.m. today in 110 Electrical Engineering.

LION PLATFORM

1. The Lion Party will work to establish a student discount card system whereby students will be given discounts when purchasing goods or services from town merchants who participate in the program.

2. The Lion Party will work through All-College Cabinet to establish absentee voting in All-College elections for students, who for curricular reasons such as student teaching, must reside away from campus during the elections.

3. The Lion Party will advocate a revision in the West Dorm admittance code so that more upperclassmen may reside in that area.

4. The Lion Party will advocate and recommend the following addition to the College Health Service:

That first aid stations be set up in each living area. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

5. The Lion Party will work through All-College Cabinet for the establishment of an All-College Supreme Court and an improved campus judicial system.

6. The Lion Party, in order to gain more interest and participation from the student body with regard to the nomination of candidates, will work toward and encourage the establishment of a convention system (similar to national conventions) for the nomination of party candidates.

Group Studies Pool Prospects

A committee has been set up by the State College Area Chamber of Commerce to investigate the possibility of a public swimming pool for the borough.

The action came as a result of current discussion on the need for a pool and possible methods of securing it. The planning committee has been asked to select and recommend several sites that are available.

William Welch, chairman of the swimming pool committee, said it will conduct preliminary studies for a week or more and then call a meeting with other organizations interested in the project.

Prexy Emphasizes Value Of College Alumni Fund

President Milton S. Eisenhower explained the value of the Penn State Alumni Fund Monday at the first in a series of four meetings for class agents.

He stated that each of the three facets of the College's work—research, resident instruction, and extension—is financed by this group.

Some of the factors that go to make up Penn State's environment will never be provided by public funds, and that, he explained, is where the Alumni Fund can be of great help to the College.

President Eisenhower also listed specific projects much needed by the College that will probably never be provided by public funds.

Examples of these include an all-faith chapel, furnishings for the new Student Union Building, and scholarships.

John M. Spangler, general chairman of the fund, explained the selling job required of the alumni to make the fund a success.

President Eisenhower and Spangler will be the principal speakers at similar alumni meetings to be held this week in New York City, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh. It is expected that about 1000 of the 3200 class agents will have attended one of the four meetings.

Bernard P. Taylor, executive director of the Penn State Foundation, announced that more than $50,000 has already been contributed by more than 1000 alumni.

One hundred twenty six students have been named to the fall semester dean's list in the School of Liberal Arts. Twenty three students finished the semester with a 3.0 average.

Lewistown to Get TV

Construction of a television station in Lewistown has been authorized by the Federal Communications Commission. The permit was issued to the Lewistown Broadcasting Co. for channel 38.

Bad Check Artists May Be in Area

The State College Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday warned against alleged bad check artists who may move into the area. Reports have been made that they are operating in the Harrisburg and Utica, N.Y., areas.

The chamber asked the cooperation of the public and all business places in preventing any bad-check activity. Two persons reported to be passing bad checks are Dora Storm and F. R. King.

2 Ag Scholarships Set

Two scholarships, available to graduates of Zelenople and Ellwood City high schools who enroll in the School of Agriculture, have been established by the C. William Carbeau Jr. Foundation, Inc., of Pittsburgh.

EE Scholarship Is Established

The Square D Co., manufacturer of electrical equipment, has established a $450 engineering scholarship at the College for fourth semester students enrolled in electrical, mechanical, industrial, or general engineering.

Three to five candidates for the award will be nominated by College officials on the basis of potentialities for success as demonstrated by past record, leadership, personality, and character, and on the basis of need.

Final selection, however, will be made by the Square D Co. The scholarship will be renewable in the next year, and summer jobs on the company will be made available.
