

Nittany Council Banquet -- To Give Keys

Nittany Council last night unanimously passed a motion to provide honorary keys for all present eligible council members. Persons considered eligible for the award would be those with less than three absences at council meetings.

Corresponding Secretary J. A. Byerley was appointed to investigate into the cost of the keys and report on the number of persons eligible to receive them at the next session of the council.

The Council also voted to establish a policy for compulsory attendance at meetings. A motion was passed to have Corresponding Secretary Byerley investigate these presidents who miss meetings and make a report to council so that some action could be taken.

In other action, the group voted to back Joseph Gerdecki, entry in the Ugly Man Contest for the Barons, Nittany-Pollock social organization.

Brown, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, listed four places fraternities owed service: to their college, to the fraternity members, to the community and to the population at large.

The winners of the IFC-Panhel Sing, Alpha Xi Delta and Tau Kappa Epsilon, were presented with their victory cups at the banquet. Officers of IFC for next year were installed and a welcoming of new Panhel officers took place.

Exchange Dinners Tomorrow
Another banquet, the Outstanding Pledge Banquet, will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Allencrest as a part of Greek Week, which continues until Saturday. Tickets for the banquet may be picked up today, tomorrow, and Thursday at the Student Union desk in Old Main, Richard Gibbs, Greek Week co-chairman said last night.

Tomorrow the Greek Week program includes Exchange Dinners at fraternities and dormitories, and open houses at fraternities at 8 p.m. The night has been designated Meet-Your-Neighbor Night by the Greek Week chairmen, Mary J. Carstenson and Gibbs.

Nine acts, from both fraternity, sorority and townspeople talent, will take part in the Benefit Revue tonight. Master of ceremonies for the revue will be Phillip Wein, freshman ventriloquist. Intermission and other music will be presented by the Modernaires, a State College high school dance band.

Revue Acts Listed
The acts, in their order of appearance are:
Songs by the Mellowaires quartette (George Georgeieff and Jack you get off the ground, you get a better view.

Moore said there are three ends in architecture—commodity, firmness, and delight. Everything that is built is based on these principles. He then explained a list of technical terms, such as spatial arrangement and optical measure, in a way that resulted in confusion for the non-architect.

Moore explained that setting is very important in the design of some buildings and showed a slide of the Parthenon in Athens as proof. Showing St. Mark's square in Venice, he pointed out the merits and fallacies of symmetry.

Moore showed the plans for Goucher College in Maryland which he designed. This is the first college a single man has designed since Thomas Jefferson's University of Virginia. The buildings are stone with tile roofs and are in a style adapted to the rolling Maryland countryside.

Jenkins of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Robert Burns of Alpha Tau Omega, and Thomas Shaw of Theta Chi. A piano duet by Barbara Butler and Jane Cowell, a vocal solo by Phoebe Erickson, an Irish jig by the students of Mrs. Jane Sheppard (local dance instructor), an act by Pahel and Pahel (father and son team from the borough), a violin solo by Angelo Vespa, a trumpet solo by Tony Marco, a vocal solo by Mrs. John Truby, and songs by combined groups of fraternity and sorority voices.

stores Saturday were torn down, Myron Enelow, party chairman, claimed yesterday. He made no direct charges.
Lion Party Chairman Richard Kirschner said things like this were to be expected. He added that he expected Lion Party posters to be torn down too. He said posters were usually torn down indiscriminately, not only those of one party.

forward to a period of military service after graduation, Dr. Oliver said. He agreed that the United States is becoming somewhat like Plato's ideal state, wherein a period of military service is a definite part of a young man's education.

The United Nations wants a "free, democratic and united" Korea. The Korean government itself will not settle for a divided Korea. The Communists have never yet been willing to compromise on any peace terms, and they are demanding now a division of Korea at the 38th parallel.

Dr. Oliver said that he believed the Communists would not surrender to a plan of voluntary repatriation of prisoners, either. The Communists had originally demanded forcible repatriation; now they are proposing that prisoners who do not want to be repatriated be turned over to a neutral country, but that they be "open to interview" by both sides.

Anyone here named "Cannonball" Frobisher?

BASES FULL. Fat part of the opposition batting order coming up. The manager needs a new pitcher—fast!

So he did what most everybody does in an emergency—reached for the telephone. It connects bull pen and dugout. "Cannonball" was elected to put out the fire.

Ever wonder why people place so much faith in telephones in time of emergency? It's because they know it is dependable—a real friend.

This dependability is a tribute to the men and women of the Bell System. They are forever working on new ideas or improving old ones to give the nation the best telephone service in the world.

The interesting and rewarding work they do could be yours as well. Your Placement Officer will be happy to give you details about the many opportunities for employment in the Bell System.

One Test of a Battery Is In Engine 'Kick Off' ...

How long do you hold the starter button before your engine "kicks off?" If it's more than three seconds, be warned that it's time to check the battery and electrical system. Putting it off may find you with a dead battery at a most inconvenient time. Better drive up!
