

Greeks to Hold Pledge Banquet

Pollock Council Asks Change In Constitution

The Outstanding Pledge Banquet, as part of Greek Week, will be held at 7 tonight at the Allencrest Tea Room. Each fraternity and sorority has selected a pledge to represent it at the banquet, which was originated this year to honor pledges who have contributed to College and fraternity activities.

Tickets for the banquet may be picked up by fraternities at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Each house will receive one ticket.

Main speaker at the banquet will be John R. Hunter Jr., architect and sportsman, a graduate of the College and past national president of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity. Hunter is presently president of the property association of Alpha Chi Rho and a member of the alumni scholarship fund.

While at the College, Hunter was a member of the varsity teams in baseball, basketball, and football, and was president of Alpha Chi Rho.

Cups for the sorority and fraternity winners of the Greek Week poster contest will be awarded at the banquet, according to Richard Gibbs, fraternity chairman of the week. The posters were placed in downtown store windows Friday and were judged by members of the division of fine and applied arts.

One sorority and one fraternity will be named winners.

Last night the Greek Week program continued with exchange dinners held at fraternities and in dormitories and open houses held in the fraternities. Linda Jacobs and Joseph Katz were co-chairmen of the dinners and open houses. The committee planned the exchanges in such a way as to have fraternity men and sorority women dining together.

Tomorrow night the Interfraternity Council-Panhellenic Council Ball, with Johnny Long as the band of the evening, will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in Recreation Hall. Saturday night house parties are planned as part of Greek Week.

H Ec Council Positions Open

Pollock Council suggested an amendment to the Pollock Circle constitution Tuesday night to provide for awarding honorary keys to outstanding members of the council. John Quigley and Lewis Schatz were appointed to write the amendment and present it at the next meeting of the group.

Dorm presidents were also asked to poll their living units for suggestions for work projects to be assigned to persons convicted by the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review. These projects would take the place of the probationary period which is now imposed on offenders.

Members were asked to nominate candidates for the He-Man Contest as representative of the Barons, Nittany-Pollock social organization, at the next meeting. Members were also asked to turn in their nominations for AIM officers to President Joseph Gardecki, so they could be presented at last night's AIM meeting.

Nominations for sophomore, junior, and senior representatives on the Home Economics Student Council will open Monday. Students from the school who wish to serve on the council may nominate themselves. Nominations may be deposited in a box which will be located in the Home Economics Building.

At a meeting of the council Tuesday night, Janet Corsey, Gale Grimm, and Rachael Withrow were appointed to serve on a nominating committee for the elections of student council officers. Students wishing to run for president, vice president, or secretary-treasurer of the council may submit their names to the committee on or before Tuesday. Nominees must not be higher than sixth semester and must have served on the council for one year.

A senior-faculty tea will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. April 26.

Agriculture Jobs

A. W. Moise, director of personnel, Ralston Purina Co., will speak to pre-vet, animal husbandry, and other interested students on applications and qualifications for jobs at 4:10 p.m. today in 109 Agriculture.

Johnson to Speak

Dr. George F. Johnson, professor of agricultural extension, will speak on "America, the Beautiful," at the Penn State Poultry Club meeting at 7 tonight in 108 Plant Industries.

Weisel on Dean's List

Henry Weisel, fifth semester chemical engineering major, has been named to the fall semester dean's list of the Chemistry and Physics school with a 2.61 average.

Donley Is New Editor Of Froth

Marshall Donley, sixth semester journalism major, has been named 1953-54 editor of Froth, campus humor magazine, Richard Neuweiler, this year's editor, announced last night. Donley had been a staff member of Froth and was recently named managing editor of the Daily Collegian for 1953-54.

Myron Enelow was named business manager of Froth. Enelow, a sixth semester arts and letters major, was formerly circulation manager of the magazine. New circulation manager is Burton Triester, sixth semester arts and letters major.

A former member of the art staff of the magazine, Carl McGrew, has been named managing editor. McGrew is a fourth semester physics major.

Co-directors of the advertising board of Froth are James Hamill, fourth semester commerce major, and Ronald Angerman, sixth semester commerce major. Rodney Stegall, sixth semester journalism major, has been named director of the Froth circulation board.

Other staff members of Froth for 1953-54 are Margot Grossman, director of the editorial board; and Bruce Schroeder, director of the photography board.

Junior Hat Society Applications Open

Blue Key, junior men's hat society, is accepting applications for membership from fourth semester men, Edwin Kohn, president, has announced.

Applicants must have an All-College average of at least 1.0, and are asked to list their campus activities. Applications must be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main no later than Tuesday.

Nomination Period Extended by AIM

The deadline for nominating candidates for Association of Independent Men Board of Governors offices was extended to noon Saturday at last night's Board of Governors meeting.

The action was taken at the request of Ross Clark, chairman of the AIM elections committee, who said he felt that the original closing, set for 7 p.m. last night, was premature. He also announced the nomination of three new secretarial candidates and one new name for the treasurer's position.

Now running for secretary are: Jay Byerley, first semester arts and letters major; Leonard Goodman, third semester arts and letters major; and Andrew Jaros, seventh semester arts and letters major. Jaros was declared eligible because, although seventh semester, he will be here all of next year. Duane Holm, fifth semester forestry major, was named as a candidate for treasurer.

Clark said the names of independents with a 1.0 All-College average would still be accepted for screening by the elections committee and that they should be recommended by members of the Board of Governors. He added that men could be nominated without the backing of a board member if they would present a petition with 300 signatures to the committee.

The board also voted, on the recommendation of Edward Thieme, Town Council president, to have those who nominated men for AIM positions present them at the election meeting April 30. Formerly their presentation was to be made by the election committee.

Pirandello Comedy To Open Tomorrow

The virtues and foibles of Sicilian playwright Luigi Pirandello will be brought to Center Stage at 8 p.m. tomorrow when Players present the opening of "Right You Are! (If You Think So)." The comedy-mystery will play a six weekend run at the arena theater.

Tickets, priced at $1 for tomorrow and Saturday night's performances, are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

First produced in America by the Theater Guild in 1916, both the play and its author were immediately hailed by New York critics. His "Six Characters in Search of an Author," "As You Desire Me," and "Light Masks" have also been translated into English from the original Italian. Since he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1934, Pirandello has often been called the leading playwright of 20th century Italy. Critics describe his works as a mixture of "chicanery, whimsy, irony, philosophy, dramatically effective scenes, excellent acting parts and tempting ideas."

"Right You Are" tells the consequences when a group of gossips begin probing to determine the truth about the incredible relationship between a town official, Signor Ponza, played by Clifton Crosbie, and his wife and mother-in-law. One of this shady triumvirate is obviously insane, but each claims a logical explanation and keeps it well hidden.

In addition to a cast of 15 actors, 43 students have toiled backstage for several weeks to prepare the show for tomorrow night's opening.

Jo Palmer is stage manager in charge of combined crews for the run of the play. Makeup will be applied by Sylvia Brown, manager, Antoinette Denisof, assistant, and Bob Kaiser.

Jane Howland is wardrobe manager. On the costume crew are assistant manager Lucille Dorsey, Jill Milly, Doris Sheek, Shirley Dierof, and Agnes Funk.

Properties have been collected by manager Mal Gable; assistants Dona Hooper, Dolores McHugh, Isabel Furey, and Ron Field.

Manager Si Morrill will handle lighting, assisted by Al Kalson and a crew of John Clark, Ron Hicks, and Art Edwards.

Polly Moore is in charge of the sound crew manned by Jo Llewelyn, and Arlene Borgeson.

House crew manager is John Wamsley. On the crew are assistant Bill Nudorf, Bill Norman, Mary Loubric, and Evelyn Kizlar.

Working on the advertising crew are Manager Nudorf, Annette Hartman, Barbara Schmidt, Joan Clarey, Alice Noble, Rosalie Maiorana, Nancy Hicks, Lyn Moore, Ruth Kluger, Rhoda Resneck, Fay Goldstein, Cindy Fetterman, Sue Leib, Jan Schuetz, Elda Ruth Morgan, Dorn Howlett, and Lois Stellmack.

Watson Gives Fee Rejection Explanation

The Engineering Student Council feels that at the present time it cannot profitably use the additional funds that would be allotted the council if the 25 cent raise in fees were to pass, Robert Watson, president of the council, has stated.

The statement came in further explanation of the council's rejection of the proposed consolidated fee of 25 cents at the Tuesday meeting.

Watson said the council cannot see the wisdom in collecting the fees, then attempting to locate some means of disposing of the funds collected.

It would not seem right, he said, to assess the engineers because councils of other schools need the additional funds.

No alternative proposal was suggested by the council, though many members voiced approval of the Inter-school Council Board's suggestion that each council collect its own fee either through the College or by a personal representative at registration time, he said.

This, however, was opposed by the school on the grounds that the fee would still not be consolidated or simplified, since 23 combinations of fees would be possible, he added.

Players will meet at 7:30 tonight at Center Stage for a theater party and advance showing of "Right You Are! (If You Think So)." According to President Frances Stridinger, each Player may bring one guest. Refreshments will be served.
