Lion Party Captures 4 of 6 Class Offices

By MARSHALL O. DONLEY

Lion Party captured the presidencies of both the junior and senior class by a considerable margin, according to the final official figures from the class election. State Party took two of the six class offices—senior class vice president and secretary-treasurer.

Richard Crafton, Lion candidate for senior class president, defeated State candidate Henry Windsor by a 332 vote margin. He received 649 votes to Windsor's 317, or 67.2 per cent of the juniors' voting.

Dairy Queen Entries Due

Entries for the title of Dairy Queen must be submitted by 5 p.m. Monday. The queen will reign over the 28th annual Penn State Dairy Exposition on May 9.

Any fraternity, sorority, or campus group may submit entries. Photographs must be at least 4 by 5 inches. On the back of the photograph should be written the name, address, measurements, the name of sponsoring organization of the coed and her farm experience. Entries should be addressed: Dairy Queen, Dairy Building.

A committee will select three finalists from the candidates, and members of the Dairy Science Club will choose the queen.

The 25-cent fee proposal is part of a plan to aid the College in collecting equal student fees at registration. The College plans to start this new system this fall.

The hike was presented to cabinet by the Interscholar Council Board, a group which studied possible ways of equalizing student fees. The plan was passed with three abstentions and two opposing votes.

Warrell Claims Need

Under the proposed plan, the total amount collected would be distributed to student councils according to the number of students in each school. At present, only the Schools of Home Economics and Agriculture have fees. The 25-cent fee in the Home Economics school is used mainly for the school publication, News and Views.

Chairman of the ISCB Lincoln Warrell said seven of the eight student councils excluding the Engineering school, needed the money. However, Douglas Schoerke, president of the Liberal Arts student council, said the LA council did not need the money. He said the council could find uses for the money, if it were available.

Suggest Student Lounge

The money, Schoerke said, could be used for mixers to promote student-faculty relations in the LA and Engineering schools. But, he added, the councils would probably have more money than they could use.

Interfraternity Council president Thomas Schott said money could be used for purposes other than social. He suggested as a plan for the Engineering Council, a lounge for architects on the fourth floor of the Main Engineering Building.

Approves Seating Plan

Another suggestion presented to cabinet was to build up and improve student publications, especially in the Liberal Arts school.

Cabinet passed the Recreation Hall Ticket Exchange Plan, which will admit faculty, alumni, and townspeople to indoor Recreation Hall athletic events.

Students would exchange coupons from their AA books for admission tickets three to four days before the event. The coupons would be exchanged in offices in Old Main or Recreation Hall.

Maurey, Kois AA Victors

By DICK McDOWELL

Gerald Maurey, fifth semester arts and letters major, was elected president of the Athletic Association in the All-College elections yesterday and Wednesday.

Maurey received 1132 votes, 46.8 per cent of the ballots cast, while Keith Vesling, fifth semester education major, who will serve as vice president, received 682, a 450 vote margin.

In the secretary-treasurer race, Adam Kois, fifth semester animal husbandry major, defeated Huber Kline, fifth semester physical education major, by 465 votes. Kois received 1331 votes, 60.6 per cent of the ballots cast.

Under the AA election methods, the person receiving the second highest number of votes in the presidential race becomes vice president. Only male students were permitted to vote.

Maurey, a varsity wrestler for the past two years, succeeds Joseph Lemyre in the presidential position. As president of the AA, he will work with Harold Gilbert, assistant director of athletics, who is in charge of the organization.

The Athletic Association is entrusted with the job of supervising management and promotion of the Penn State athletic program.

Maurey made this statement following announcement of his election: "I'm very happy about the victory and I'll do my best to live up to the standards of my office. I would like to offer my thanks to all the voters for expressing their confidence in me."

4 Cabinet Posts, 6 Positions Won By Lion Party

By DICK RAU

Lion party won six of the nine offices in All-College and class elections that brought out a record-breaking 44.9 per cent of the eligible voters yesterday and Wednesday.

Continuing a trend that started building since last year's All-College and class elections when the first split occurred since 1948, Edward Haag, David Arnold, Richard Crafton, Joseph Barnett, Jesse Arnelle, and Katherine Reynolds brought victories to the Lion party.

State party took the top position with Richard Lemyre winning the All-College presidency. Walt Back and Carolyn Pelczar won the two lower posts in the senior class contest.

The elections brought out 4132 of the 9212 eligible voters. Last year 4137 of 9367 eligible voters went to the polls producing a percentage of 44.3.

4 Cabinet Seats

Lemyre scored the largest lead over his opponent, Robert Carruthers, with 573 votes. Lemyre's total was 2295 or 57.1 per cent of the votes. Haag drew 2181 votes or 55.5 per cent of the vote to William Shifflett's 1747 producing a lead of 434 votes. Temple Reynolds lost to Arnold by 406 votes. Arnold received 2163 votes, or 55.2 per cent of the votes while Reynolds won 1757.

In taking six of the nine offices, Lion party won four All-College Cabinet seats—All-College vice president and secretary-treasurer, senior class president, and junior class president. State party won one seat with the All-College presidency.

Ronald Thorpe, elections committee chairman, said that the election and campaign were "the cleanest I've seen in a long time." Neither party was fined votes or accused of illegal practices.

Vote Totals

The sophomore class turned out the greatest per cent to vote—53.5 per cent. The senior class, 27.9 per cent of them, provided the smallest number. The junior class had 52.3 per cent at the polls and the freshman class had 47.8 per cent.

The class vote totals of possible votes are senior, 589 of 2113; junior, 1005 of 1923; sophomore, 1282 of 2396; and freshman, 1280 of 2680.

Only a handful of State party faithfuls were present when the vote was announced. This was evidenced by a cheer which went up when the winner of the All-College presidency was announced. (Continued on page eight)
