

Rec Hall
Seating—
See Page 4

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Right
To Govern—
See Page 4

VOL. 53, No. 130

STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 25, 1953

FIVE CENTS

3 Tennis Champs To Perform Tonight

(Pictures Page Two)

Students and residents of Centre County will have an opportunity tonight to witness three of the best tennis and table tennis performers in the world in action.

Sandor Glancz, European table tennis champion and world doubles champion; Peggy McLean, professional women's world champion; and Edward Cooke, international tennis star, will present an exhibition of table tennis and tennis at 7:30 p.m. in Recreation Hall.

Schools Set Open House Programs

A variety of programs has been arranged in seven schools in preparation for the combined open houses to be held next Saturday.

The School of Agriculture will not hold its open house then because of the Little International Livestock Show scheduled today. Program schedules, booklets, and additional publicity materials for the other schools will be distributed from a booth set up by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

A student-teacher clinic in the morning and movies, tours, and refreshments in the afternoon have been planned for the open house of the School of Education. Tours also have been arranged for the Schools of Chemistry and Physics, Home Economics, Mineral Industries, and Physical Education.

In addition to tours, the Liberal Arts Open House will feature a general meeting in Schwab Auditorium and departmental discussion groups.

The winning poster in the engineers' poster design contest will be used on the "open house" issue of the Penn State Engineer.

'Independent' Issued Today

The Independent newsletter will be distributed at the Student Union desk in Old Main and in dormitories today.

This issue contains an interview with newly-elected Leonides officers, Hilda Hogeland, president, and Ruth Israel, vice president, a story on the National Independent Students Association Convention, and cartoon by Packard.

The Independent newsletter publishes bi-weekly.

Tryouts for 'Rondo' Set for Monday

Tryouts for the Penn State Radio Playhouse production "Rondo" will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in 304 Sparks. There are ten male parts and one female role.

The drama will be broadcast at 9:30 p.m. May 4 over WMAJ. The script was written by William Coleman, graduate student in dramatics.

SDX to Hold Smoker

Sigma Delta Chi, men's national professional journalistic fraternity, will hold a smoker for men journalism majors at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Phi Sigma Kappa.

Melville P. Ferguson, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, will speak. A movie "The Keystone Idea," on the problems of publishing a small town newspaper, will be shown.

TODAY'S WEATHER

CLOUDY WITH SHOWERS

Prexy to Preside Over Honors Day

Cabinet Supports Tribunal Sentence

All-College Cabinet Thursday upheld a decision of Tribunal, men's judiciary committee, fining a student $3 and placing him on a two-week Tribunal probation for a parking violation.

The student, Edward Landis, eighth semester dairy husbandry major, appealed the decision in a written report hitting the present campus parking system and the Campus Patrol.

A student committee was appointed to study the campus parking situation to seek possible recommendations to set up a more efficient parking system.

In his appeal, Landis said he hoped cabinet could do something to improve the system. The large number of parking violations shows the present plan is insufficient, he said. He added that many parking places in lots are not being used and the present system is "unjust" because only a fraction of the violators get tickets.

In presenting Tribunal's stand on the case, Chairman James Schulte said Landis had incurred seven parking violations. Landis, he said, had parked in a wrong area after his permit had been changed because of a disability.

Landis said he committed the violations knowingly but that he had a good reason for parking in the lots illegally. The lots are not filled to capacity, he said, and since there is consistently space to park, he had parked.

Landis charged the system with inefficiency and lack of cooperation, centering around the Campus Patrol. He hit conduct of patrolmen who, he said, have an indifferent attitude toward students. He also claimed penalties for violations are unjust.

The decision was based on Tribunal policy, Schulte said. For a second offense such as Landis', a maximum fine of $3 and a two-week probation are the penalty.

Charles Oberbance was appointed chairman of the Penn State Book Exchange Board of Control.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will preside over the 1953 Honors Day program which will note scholastic and professional achievements of students and alumni at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Schwab Auditorium.

Presentation of awards to 20 outstanding students, Distinguished Alumnus awards to five alumni, and the inauguration of newly-elected All-College President Richard Lemyre will highlight the ceremonies.

The Women's Chorus, under the direction of Herbert W. Beatrice, assistant professor of music, will present a program of classical music. Speeches will be given by Dr. Eisenhower, retiring All-College President John Laubach, and the new president.

Laubach to be Honored
Cloide E. Brehm, G. Weidman Groff, James A. McCrory, Arthur G. McKee, and Edwin W. Nick will receive Distinguished Alumnus awards presented by Dr. Eisenhower, Eric A. Walker, dean of the School of Engineering, and Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the School of Agriculture.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs and presiding officer of the presentation of awards at the ceremony, will present the Ralph Dorn Hetzel award to Laubach. This award is given in recognition of outstanding achievements and promise of good citizenship after graduation.

Arthur Rosfeld, retiring Interfraternity Council president, will give the Sigma Chi trophy for improvement in scholarship to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Sigma Delta Tau sorority will receive the Panhellenic award for having the highest sorority average. Ellen Wandel, Panhellenic Council president, will make the presentation.

McElwee to Honor 11
The John W. White medal will go to George Alleman, Jack Shearer and Marion Venzlauskas will receive John W. White fellowships for graduate study. Donald Klinepeter and John Else will be awarded President Sparks medals.

Agnes R. McElwee, president of Honor Society Council, will present Evan Pugh medals to five seniors and six juniors. James Schulte, Tribunal chairman, will administer the oath of office to the new All-College president.

Thespians, Masquerettes To Hold Joint Meeting

Thespians, men's musical comedy group, and Masquerettes, women's musical comedy honorary society, will hold a joint meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in 418 Old Main.

Members will discuss the possible merger of the two groups, which will mean that all women in Masquerettes will be initiated into Thespians. Richard Brugger, Thespians president, asked that all members be present.

LOST

ONE HOUR, throughout some 12 states, between 1:59 and 3:01 a.m. tomorrow. Answers to the name of "2 a.m." Sentimental value. Contact sleepy churchgoers, among others.

One hour will tick off its perennial disappearance at 2 a.m. tomorrow, as Daylight Saving Time goes into effect in most of Pennsylvania, including Centre County, and 11 other states.

The hour will be lost for five months and one day. Exactly at 2 a.m. Sept. 27, it will be restored. Purpose of all this: to supply farmers with more sunshine hours, to give radio announcers nightmares, and to confuse railroad timetable readers.

Bulletin Editor To Speak Here

Melville P. Ferguson, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, will speak at 10:50 a.m. today in 121 Sparks at the opening session of the Pennsylvania High School Press Convention.

The one-day convention will be attended by approximately 500 high school students and teachers. Roundtable discussions and forums will be held from noon to 1 p.m. The convention will close with a general session at 2 p.m. in Schwab Auditorium.

Two freshman journalism scholarships will be announced at this session. Certificates of merit for excellence in advertising and news will also be awarded.

'Little International' Begins Today

A display of horse hitches, a sheep dog demonstration, a pig derby, and a meat raffle will be included in the 36th Little International Livestock Show beginning at 9:30 a.m. today in the Judging Pavilion.

Ninety students will show horses, beef cattle, sheep, and hogs. Fitting and showing awards will be made.

The show, sponsored annually by the Block and Bridle Club, will be held in conjunction with the Ag Hill Open House which starts at 10 a.m.

An eight-pony hitch of the Holland Furnace Co., Holland, Mich., and a hitch of six Percheron horses of the Menzie Dairy Co., McKeesport, will be displayed.

Carroll Schaffner, College shepherd, will present a sheep dog demonstration. His three imported Border Collies are recognized for their ability to obey commands. The sheep dogs have participated in livestock shows all over the country.

Two teams will attempt to capture two greased pigs in the pig derby. Twelve cuts of meat will be raffled off. Tickets for the raffle will be available during the show.

Herman Purdy, Ohio State University, will be among the livestock judges. He was a judge in the Angus division of beef cattle at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago this year. Joseph DePetro is student manager of the show. Edgar Fehnel is assistant manager. Thomas Schmalzried, James Conner, and George Zelegnit were in charge of the parade which inaugurated the show last night.

Guided tours will be included in the open house to give high school students an opportunity to see the facilities of the School of Agriculture.

TWO PERCHERONS of a six-horse hitch from Menzie Dairy Co., McKeesport, trot down College avenue to warm up for the 36th Little International Livestock Show which opens at 9:30 a.m. today in the Judging Pavilion.

a wildlife display in the Agricultural Education Building, and the Agriculture Library will be included in the tours.

Tours will begin every 15 minutes starting at 10 a.m. from the parking lot next to the Jordan fertility plots. The last tour before lunch will begin at 11:15 a.m. Two tours will be held after lunch starting at 1:30 p.m. and 2 p.m.