

Weather:
Mild with Showers

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Judicial Probe
Hits 4 Areas—
See Page 4

VOL. 53, No. 136

STATE COLLEGE, PA., TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 5, 1953

FIVE CENTS

Chest X-rays Now Available At Mobile Unit

A mobile chest X-ray unit will be at the College today through Thursday to give free X-ray service to graduating seniors, undergraduates, College employees, and townspeople.

The unit will be located on Pollock road directly in front of the College Infirmary and will be open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. daily.

The unit has been brought to the campus by the College Health Service in cooperation with the Tuberculosis Control division of the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the College Health service, said yesterday the X-ray unit was brought to the campus primarily for the benefit of graduating seniors.

He explained many other large colleges and universities offer X-ray service to graduating seniors, but this is the first time it has been offered at Penn State. He pointed out many graduating seniors will be required to have chest X-rays when they seek jobs after graduation and this will give them an opportunity to get one free.

Dr. Glenn explained that although the unit was brought to campus chiefly for the seniors' benefit, and other interested undergraduates, College employees, or town residents, may have an X-ray taken.

The entire process will take only a few minutes, Dr. Glenn said, and this will allow students plenty of time to stop in between classes.

Dr. Anna O. Stephens, physician on the Health Service staff, said if the response is good, every effort will be made to have the unit come to the College each year.

O'Brien Will Address Cabinet Projects Council

Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of public speaking, will address Cabinet Projects Council at 7 tonight in 317 Willard.

New members of the council will be introduced and given information concerning proposed council projects.

Parade Applications

Applications for Spring Week carnival parade must be filed by noon tomorrow at the Student Union desk in Old Main, George Richards, parade director, said yesterday. Richards said blanks are available at the desk for groups that do not have them.

The Winners

ADMIRING THE TROPHY won by the women's debate squad in the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate Tournament are Guyla Woodward, Marian Ungar, Susan Holzinger, and Clayton H. Schug, coach. The women tied for first place in the tournament.

Women's Debate Squad Ties for First Position In Eastern Tournament

Penn State women's debate team received a championship trophy last weekend for tying for first place honors in the second annual Eastern Intercollegiate Debate Tournament at Temple University.

The tournament was sponsored by the eastern division of the American Forensic Association.

Winning nine out of 12 debates and receiving ratings of excellent in three contests, the women tied with Dartmouth for first place with a total of 34 out of 44 possible points.

Wins Four Out of Six

Members of the women's teams are Susan Holtzinger and Guyla Woodward, affirmative, and Marian Ungar and Nancy Nelsen, negative. The negative team had a record of five wins and one loss, defeating University of Rhode Island, College Misericordia, University of Pennsylvania, University of West Virginia, and Houghton College. The team lost to Boston University.

The affirmative team defeated U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, Temple University men, Fordham, and Howard, but lost to Marywood College and University of Pittsburgh women for a four out of six record.

Receiving ratings of excellent in the three contests were Miss Holtzinger and Miss Woodward, discussion; Miss Holtzinger, extemporaneous speaking; and Miss Ungar, public speaking. Excellent was the highest rating given at the tournament.

Negative Team Loses 3

Penn State men won seven debates and lost five to place fourth in the tournament. The men's affirmative team, consisting of Meyer Bushman and David Swanson, defeated Lehigh University, Barnard College, University of West Virginia, and University of Pennsylvania. They lost to Houghton College and College Misericordia.

The men's negative team, Richard Kirschner and Thomas K. White, defeated Dartmouth, U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, and University of Pittsburgh, and lost to St. Peter's, Temple men, and Temple women, for a three out of six record.

White received a rating of excellent in the public speaking contest. Kirschner, in extemporaneous speaking, and Swanson and Bushman, in discussion, received good ratings.

Places Third at Dartmouth

Last year the men placed first and the women tied for fifth place in the tournament.

In the Dartmouth Novice Debate Tournament last Friday and Saturday, Penn State men placed

Clark Elected WD President On First Ballot

Ross Clark, fourth semester accounting major, was elected council president last night by West Dormitory Council. Clark defeated Robert Lawrence, sixth semester pre-medical major, and Lewis Goslin, sixth semester geo-physics major.

Clark won on the first ballot by a substantial majority vote of the fifteen members of the sixteen-member council who were present.

Clark reviewed three planks of his present office platform. First, to obtain better all-around cooperation among the West Dorm, Nittany-Pollock, and Town Councils. Second, to invite representatives from each of the College's eight student councils to council meetings. Third, to begin the social calendar of the West Dorm area during the first week of school in the fall.

The Council appointed Ephram Goldthorp head of the committee to obtain a permanent room for next year's council meetings.

Clark will appoint a social chairman Monday night at the council meeting. It will be the social chairman's job to plan and help the president to begin the social activities of the West Dorm area during Orientation Week.

Williams Named Editor Of Ag Hill Breeze

George Williams, third semester animal husbandry major, has been named editor of the Ag Hill Breeze. He succeeds Robert Dahle.

John Robinson was appointed managing editor, Robert Sutter, feature editor; and Clarence Hasler, club editor.

The Breeze issued a call for students interested in working on the publication. They should apply between 7 and 10 p.m. on Monday nights in 10 Agriculture.

Conflict Deadline

Students who have not filed cards for conflict examinations must do so today in 2 Willard, according to Ray V. Watkins, scheduling officer.

Recreation Conclave To Open Tomorrow

A camping area set-up by the Recreation 430 class in Hort Woods and a Folk Dance Festival from 7:30 to 11:00 p.m. Thursday in Rec Hall will be included in the Sixth Annual Pennsylvania Recreation Conference beginning tomorrow and ending Friday, Fred Coombs, professor of physical education, has announced.

David Dunbar, assistant camping director of Boy Scouts of America, will conduct a camp skills demonstration at the camp site at 2:30 p.m. Thursday for those interested in crafts, skills, venture camping, and counseling.

The camp will feature tinfoil and tin can cookery, a Chippewa kitchen, outdoor refrigerators, camping tents and bed setups, a tepee, a weather station, camp workshop with library, a model water front with canoe, and a totem pole.

Dance groups include the Senior Extension Clubs of Agricultural Extension, Altoona Square and Folk Dance Club, the New Bavarian Schuhplattlers, Sheppard Dance Group, Community Folk Dance group, and the Fifty-Fifty Club.

Women, except first semester

Arts Festival Will Continue With New Play

"Sanctuary," an original script-in-hand production by Hughie Brown, will be presented by a cast of five Little Theater players today at 5 p.m. as part of the Combined Arts Festival being held this week. Ruth Lyne is director of the production, John Price, designer; and Jolly Oswald, technician.

The Combined Arts Exhibit in the second floor lounge of Old Main will continue until Sunday. The exhibition includes water colors, sculptures, architectural drawings, and designs—projects of the various fine arts departments.

A modern dance recital will be given May 6 in White Hall. Dorothy Briant, assistant professor of physical education, is in charge of the recital.

The Art Education department open house is also being held this week in the Temporary Classroom building. Paintings, sculptures, graphics, ceramics, and a puppet show are on display. The architecture department is also holding its open house this week on the fourth floor of Main Engineering.

Seniors May Get LaVie at SU

Seniors will be able to pick up copies of LaVie within the next two weeks at the Student Union desk in Old Main, George L. Donovan, director of student union, has announced.

Most seniors have paid for their LaVies through student fees, but some transfer students from other colleges and centers have not. Students who have not paid will receive postcards notifying them of the amount they owe.

Engineer Available

The semester's final issue of the Penn State Engineer, will be available today without cost at the Student Union desk in Old Main, co-editors Paul Brobst and Richard Dorshimer have announced.

Plot to Kill Nehru Stopped by Police

BOMBAY, India, May 4 (AP)—A policeman foiled an attempt to assassinate Prime Minister Nehru today when he picked up a live bomb from a railway track in the locomotive headlight glare of the Indian leader's own onrushing train.

The incident occurred at Kalvan railroad hub, 35 miles from Bombay, at 5 a.m., a few minutes before the Amritsar Express thundered along carrying Nehru from Jalna to Bombay.

Patrolling the track, the policeman fired on an unidentified man believed to have placed the bomb on the track. His bullets went wide and the trespasser escaped in the early morning gloom.

As Nehru's train bore down, the engine's headlight reflected on the bomb and the policeman removed the explosive, without recognizing it at the moment for what it was.

Nehru went on from Bombay to New Delhi by plane, arriving late in the day, unaware of his narrow escape. He was concluding a 1200-mile tour of the Maharashtra famine areas, ending at Jalna.

The bomb, probably of a type to explode under pressure, was examined at Ambernath Ordnance Factory and later sent to Bombay for analysis.

Nehru, 63, a lifelong battler for Indian independence, became India's first Prime Minister on Aug. 15, 1947, after Britain relinquished sovereignty. Communists have sought to stir up trouble throughout India and Nehru fought back by jailing more than 6000 of them in the first year of independence.

When Mohandas K. Gandhi, the great Indian spiritual and political leader, was assassinated on Jan. 30, 1948, Nehru fell heir to Gandhi's leadership.

Riding Team Places 3d In Horse Show

The College riding team placed third over the weekend in the intercollegiate modified three-phase event at the Riding Club's fourth annual horse show at the College stables.

The team compiled 614 points, of which 267 were collected by Reserve Champion Gail Smith, fourth semester journalism major.

Penn Hall Junior College won the event with 690 points. Grier School placed second with 648.

Douglas Gets Trophy

The modified Olympic event was composed of three phases, an obedience test, cross-country jumping over the outside course and ring jumping. Edward Campbell, Patricia Gilbert, Miss Smith, and Nancy Wild rode for the College.

The Riding Club trophy was won by Matthew Douglas riding his horse, the Accident. Jean Lathlaen on Gretchen copped third. White Star, ridden by Miss Smith taking fifth.

Equitation class winners were: novice horsemanship—Robert Romig, Janet Kirchner and Robert Schrier; intermediate horsemanship—Barbara Ewig, Bernard Gerber, Janet Chase, Bettie Caskey, Gerry Aquist and Marilyn Yingst.

Horsemanship jumping—Miss Lathlaen, Ruth King, Barry Fein, Miss Caskey and Miss Chase; advanced horsemanship—William Brodnax and Thomas Zerbe; advanced horsemanship jumping—Miss Smith and Brodnax.

College Placings Listed

Other College placings were: open hunter—My Surprise ridden by Edna Grabiak; hunt teams—White Star ridden by Miss Smith, Queen Bee ridden by Miss Wild and Pixie ridden by Campbell; Morgan under saddle—Todd ridden by Miss King and Colonel Lee ridden by Brodnax; pairs of

(Continued on page eight)