Folk Dance Festival Part of Conference

Highlighting the square and folk dance program of the Recreation Conference to be held at the College Wednesday to Friday, a folk dance festival will be held from 7:30 to 11 p.m. tomorrow at Rec Hall.

A square dance workshop will be directed by Floyd Woodhull, nationally known R.C.A. Victor recording artist, at 2:20 p.m. tomorrow in the West Dorm lounge. To assist Woodhull, Margaret Covert, and Irma Schaffnit, well known in the Pittsburgh area, will help at the workshop.

These three noted square dance callers will be guests at the square dance festival later in the evening at Rec Hall. Open to all folk and square dance enthusiasts free of charge, the dance will feature demonstrations by local and county organizations.

The New Bavarian Schuhplattlers, student group from the College, will lead the array of demonstrational groups. The Sheppard Dance Group and the Fifty-Fifty Club, both from State College, will participate in addition to the Altoona Square and Folk Dance Club and senior extension clubs from Adams County and Indiana.

Ross Lytle will conduct the student orchestra for the occasion. Upperclass women will be given 11 o'clock permissions, while freshman women will be granted 10 o'clock permissions.

The workshop in the afternoon will also be free of charge to interested students, faculty, and townspeople.

We Just Couldn't Find An "Okay Joe"

Check This

Our rush season, which starts in September, is finally over. No longer will you have to wait a week to ten days for an appointment. You can practically name your own sitting time now. And since we now have some free time, this would be a fine week for you so-called "difficult ones" to have a portrait made.

If you have to have a tooth replaced, an eyeball moved, a nose shifted or lifted, this doesn't make you a "difficult one." "Operations" like these are performed on our retouching desk all the time. If you're a person who has never been satisfied before with previous portraits then and only then are you a "difficult one." Anyway, make your appointment this week and we'll soon disprove your notions.

Stop Pouting

If you're one of the many people who have attended fraternity and sorority parties and somehow missed out on receiving one of the group pictures that were taken, then harken—

We have on stock a few extra party pictures that were taken between September and now of the following sororities and fraternities. These will be sold today and tomorrow only on a first come first serve basis.
