

Mr. America Is He-Man Judge

Jim Park, winner of the 1952 Mr. America title and Mr. World for 1953, will be one of three judges Tuesday night for the Spring Week He-Man contest, Joseph Barnett, contest chairman, has announced. John R. Leighton, associate professor of physical education, and Harold B. White, assistant professor of physical education, will also be judges for the He-Man finals.

"Mr. World" was originally from Waynesburg, and is now employed in the machine shop of the York Barbell company. He is five feet nine and weighs 185 pounds. His flexed upper arm measures more than 18 inches.

Clubs Assist Judging

Park won many minor best-physique contests before winning the Mr. America and Mr. World titles. He can clean and press a 250-pound barbell, and has done a full squat with a 415-pound barbell on his shoulders, according to "Strength and Health," York publication.

The Penn State Barbell Club and Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, will assist in judging the He-Man finals.

Point Basis Judging

Applications for the contest are due at 5 p.m. tomorrow at the Student Union desk in Old Main. One contestant may be sponsored by each organization participating in Spring Week activities.

Sponsor of the All-College He-Man titlist will be awarded 100 Spring Week points. Twenty-five points will be awarded for each entry, and 50 points for each of the eight finalists.

Finalists will be judged on a point basis for weight-lifting, costume, a specialty skill test, and physical build in a bathing suit.

Barons Make Carnival Plans

Barons made final plans Monday night for the Spring Week activities sponsored by men in the Nittany-Pollock area. A "passionmeter" will be set up at the carnival as the Nittany-Pollock area booth. The booth will be placed on a wagon acquired from the College farms.

Dressed in high hat and tails, David Haase, as "The Baron" will represent the area in the He-Man contest. Joseph Gardecki is the Ugly Man contestant from the area.

Barons reported signs supporting Gardecki for the Ugly Man title will be posted in dormitories.

Twenty-five men from the Nittany-Pollock area will enter the Mad Hatters Day parade.

Bimber Elected APhiO President

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, recently elected Gail Bimber, sixth semester forestry major, president.

Others elected were Hampton Huff, first vice president; Stanley Ulsh, second vice president; Charles Gibbs, third vice president; John Beiler, corresponding secretary; Robert Conquest, recording secretary; Horace Mitchell, alumni secretary; Marshall Hedges, historian; Richard Updegraff, treasurer; Richard Eyster, sergeant-at-arms, and Charles Hosler, chairman of the advisory committee.

Two new scouting advisers were accepted from the Juniata Valley Council of Boy Scouts to coordinate the work of the council and the local chapter. They are Robert Collins and Leo Gross.

Old and new officers will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in 3 Sparks.

Two Students to Get Chemistry Fellowships

Herbert Segall and Owen Webster will receive College chemistry fellowships for 1953-54. Dr. W. Conrad Fernelius, professor of chemistry, announced recently.

Segall, graduate student in chemistry from New York City, will receive the American Cyanamid Co. fellowship. Webster, graduate student in chemistry from Church's Ferry, N.D., will receive the fellowship offered by Union Carbide and Carbon Co.

Eisenhower To Speak At Luncheon

President Milton S. Eisenhower will address a combined luncheon of Philadelphia Council of Churches and Philadelphia Businessmen today at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

He will speak tomorrow at a special convocation at Beaver College, Jenkintown in connection with its centennial celebration. A spokesman said the Prexy hopes to make the two-day trip by air, but in the case of bad weather he will go by automobile.

In Philadelphia he will talk to business leaders and representatives of some 1600 churches of 35 denominations. Title of his talk will be "A Measure of Faith." Dr. Eisenhower will stress the need for a living religion in the free world's fight against communism.

His speech at the Beaver College centennial will be laudatory to the institution and to the standards it has upheld during the past 100 years. He will ask American colleges to be more concerned with the development of character and give attention to personal growth as well as professional development.

Open Houses Called 'Successful' This Year

The open houses, sponsored by school councils and Reserve Officers' Training Corps groups, were the most successful in several years, according to committee chairmen.

Students, townspeople, parents, high school students, and visitors attended in large groups during the day, chairmen said.

High school students and parents received guidance from faculty members and students in answering questions concerning curriculums.

Pre-Med Test To Be Given By Ed Service

Candidates for admission to medical schools this fall will take the Medical College Admission Test Saturday in 10 Sparks. The test is being given by the Educational Testing Service for the Association of American Medical Colleges.

The tests, required of applicants by almost all medical colleges in the country, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates who take the test will be able to furnish scores to institutions in the early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class. The second test this year will be given in November.

The test consists of individual tests of general scholastic ability, understanding of modern society, and achievement in science. No special preparation other than a review of science subjects is necessary, according to the Educational Testing Service. All questions are objective type.

Application forms and a bulletin of information, which gives details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from pre-medical advisers or directly from the Educational Testing Service, Box 592, Princeton, N.J.

Food Service Jobs Available

Registration for students desiring work next semester in the College Food Service is now open at the Student Employment office, 112 Old Main, John Huber, employment director, has announced.

A number of positions will be vacant this fall, Huber said. They will be open only to students living off campus.

The Student Employment office will accept applications from students living on campus now but who will live off campus next semester, Huber said.

Students signing up before the end of the semester will be included in a training program and will be placed on a preference list. The training program will include all phases of food service.

Over 200 students are employed each semester by College Food Service.

Bivens Joins Staff

Gordon E. Bivens, 1950 graduate and staff member of Iowa State College, has been appointed assistant professor of agriculture extension at the College.

Arena Theater Is Gift Possibility

(This is the fourth in a series of discussions concerning suggestions for the senior class gift.)

There may be an arena theater on main campus in the near future. And if the senior class votes to devote its gift fund to its construction, it would be designed by the nation's top expert in central stage drama and would be 20 years ahead of any other such theater in the world.

Kelley Yeaton, professor of dramatics and number-one authority on arena-type productions, has designed a flexible transportation theater which could be disassembled and reconstructed in short periods of time. Besides his basic arena design, various other theater forms—including the conventional Elizabethan auditorium—could be constructed from it in a matter of hours. Translucent curtains would surround the audience, facilitating environmental production methods such as shadow projections. Also a chase, constructed around the audience area, would provide for dramatic action outside the central stage area. A chorus or special lighting effects may also surround the entire theater auditorium.

One special feature of the proposed theater would be stereophonic sound, experimented with two years ago in the Players' production "The Gentle People." It stems from several areas in the theater and provides for more audible and realistic speech and sound effects.

TUB Could House Stage
The committee supporting the theater as a senior gift proposal suggests that since the Temporary Union Building would be vacated after the new Student Union is complete, it would be an ideal location for the project. Richard Neuweiler, chairman, maintains that there have been alumni proposals to erect a permanent structure to house the Horrors Abound!

FRANKLIN KELLY, one of the entries in Alpha Phi Omega's annual Ugly Man Contest, smiles (ugh) for the cameraman at last night's Ugly Man's parade. The contest is part of the Spring Week festivities. Proceeds of the contest will go to the Campus Chest. Voting opens today on the Mall.

College Sets June 4 As Graduation Date

College commencement exercises have been set tentatively for 10:30 a.m. June 4, in Beaver Field, if the weather permits.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, said in the event of inclement weather exercises will be held in Recreation Hall in two divisions, one at 10:30 a.m. and one at 2 p.m. If inside exercises must be used, he said, they will be announced that morning over radio station WMAJ.

If commencement is held inside, four schools will be graduated at each time. At 10:30 a.m. the Schools of Education, Home Economics, Liberal Arts, and Physical Education will receive degrees. At 2 p.m. the Schools of Agriculture, Chemistry and Physics, Engineering, and Mineral Industries.

Speaker for the ceremonies will be Clarence Manion, former dean of the College of Law of Notre Dame University. He served as dean from 1941 to 1952 and presently is a partner in the law firm of Doran and Manion in South Bend, Ind. He is the author of a book "Key To Peace."

Kenworthy said more information as to procedure to be followed at the exercises will be announced later and detailed instructions will be given to each participating student.

Town Independent Men To Get Picnic Tickets

Free tickets for Saturday's picnic at Whipple Dam State Park, sponsored by Town Council, are available to town independents at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Students will be asked to fill out a questionnaire concerning a program of council activities for next year when they pick up tickets.
