

Lion Nine Beats Dickinson, 4-1, For Ninth Win; Trackmen Seek First Win, Meet Bucks Here

The Penn State baseball team jumped back to the winning side of the ledger yesterday, defeating Dickinson, 4-1, behind the six hit hurling of pitcher Keith Vesling.

The Nittanians, who dropped two to Pittsburgh Saturday, won their ninth game of the season, but could only muster five hits themselves while Vesling, back in form after two straight losses kept the Red Devils well in hand.

The Lions made their hits count yesterday, however they bunched three of them in the fifth frame, scoring three tallies. Hubie Kline, leading off, walked and went to second on a balk. Rex Bradley singled through the hole at short sending Kline to third, and Bradley took second on the throw in.

Score in First

Pat Kennedy lined a single to left scoring both Kline and Bradley and then Vesling was safe on a bunt single sending Kennedy to third. Charlie Russo hit into an inning-ending double play, but Kennedy scored on the play.

The Lions scored their other marker in the first inning without the aid of a base hit. Russo led off with a walk and went to second on a balk. Ron Weidenhammer sacrificed him to third and he romped home on Tom Werner's long fly ball.

Dickinson started the scoring in the top half of that frame, sending across their only run of the game. Third baseman Bob Beaver singled to center and stole second. Then after Vesling got Al Barilar on a ground out, pitcher Joe Minkevitch singled to left sending him home.

Was Last Home Game

After that frame Vesling, who won his fifth of the season, was never in trouble, although Dickinson batters sent a lot of long flies to the outfield.

The Lions go back on the road this weekend with a three game trip to Syracuse and Colgate. The Bedenkmen play a single game Friday with Colgate and meet Syracuse Saturday in a double bill. The rest of the contests this year will be played on foreign soil. A double header is scheduled for next Wednesday with West Virginia and the season wrap up with Temple is slated for May 23.

The Dickinson win boosts the Lion season record to 9-3-1. Seven of these were against District Two teams.

Tennis Upset

ROME, May 13 (AP)—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., pulled off one of the year's most stunning tennis upsets today when she conquered Maureen Connolly, American triple crown holder, in an exhausting three-set match for Rome's International championship.

The Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox were tabbed by rival club officials as the most improved teams in the major leagues.

Soccer Demonstration At Lycoming Canceled

The soccer demonstration scheduled today by 22 Penn State players at Lycoming College, Williamsport, has been canceled.

With the absence of football at Lycoming College, the school was interested in the possibility of initiating soccer as a winter sport. This past school year a few Penn State men visited Lycoming and reported an interest in the sport. Today's demonstration by the Penn Staters was to point out the values of soccer in the college program.

CHUCK RUSSO, Lion second baseman watches intently while coach Joe Bedenk gives him a few pointers at a Beaver Field practice session. Russo is one of five sophomores in the Nittany starting lineup. A smooth fielder at the keystone sack, he's been a big help to the Lions both offensively and defensively.

Midnight Is Deadline For Baseball Cuts

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP)—The major league clubs were busy today pruning their rosters down to the 25-player limit before the deadline tomorrow at midnight.

The New York Giants trimmed three men off their roster to reduce their total to 26 players, the number they will be permitted to carry this year because catcher Sam Calderone is a service returnee. Five returning servicemen can be carried by a club in addition to the 25-player limit.

The Giants sold southpaw Roger Bowman to Pittsburgh for the $10,000 waiver price, and have asked waivers on veteran left-hander Max Lanier and right-hander George Spencer. Lanier will be granted his unconditional release as he is a 10-year man.

Senators Sell Baker

The Philadelphia Athletics sold outfielder Allie Clark to the Chicago White Sox to trim their squad to 28 men. Either Frank Fanovich, a rookie southpaw, or Don Kolloway, veteran infielder, is expected to get the axe.

Washington sold utility infielder Floyd Baker to the Boston Red Sox and optioned pitcher Dean Stone to Chattanooga of the Southern Association and must drop one more player to conform to the player limit.

Besides the Giants, the Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Phillies, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee are within the player limit. The Phils have but 21 players. Milwaukee has 25. Cleveland has 29 but Jim Lemon, Al Aber, Bob Kennedy and Dick Weik are returning servicemen. Detroit has 28 with Ray Hebert, Owen Friend and Kent Fremming as returnees. The Cubs have 27 including servicemen Carl Sawatski and Preston Ward.

Late Trades

The Boston Red Sox sent Bill Werle, southpaw relief pitcher, on option to the Louisville American Association farm club.

The Chicago White Sox bought pitcher Sandalio Consuegra from the Washington Senators a few

Chick Werner's much-improved trackmen will try to give the Ohio State Buckeyes some "black eyes" starting at 3:30 this afternoon on the Beaver Field track.

Although the Lions have dropped their two dual meets—Navy and Michigan State—Werner said he felt those two teams were playing over their heads and were "set" for his squad.

The Lions are improved, but they will be up against some rough competition, and Werner said that he is anticipating another in the series of rip-roaring battles that have taken place whenever the two teams meet. He said he felt that such factors as being at home for the first time this campaign and the support of the student body might be enough to pull the Nittanians over the hill and into the victory column.

The Lions' times in all the running events were better at East Lansing than they were at Annapolis, with the exception of the 120-yard high hurdles, where the best Lion time each week was 0:15.2 and the mile, where Red Hollen was missing last week. Hollen's return to the lineup will put the Lions at full strength once again for this meet.

In the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Skip Slocum has drawn third every time so far, but he has also improved his times in both events. He clipped two and one-half seconds off his 100-yard time.

At Annapolis the top quarter-miler for the Lions was Ollie Sax, who finished at 0:50.2. In the Spartan meet Dave Leathem turned in the best Nittany 440 time of the year with a fast 0:49.5.

The spectacular half-mile by Don Austin in the Middie meet was lowered by one-tenth of a second by Roy Brunjes when he was clocked at 1:54.6. He was closely followed by Bob Roessler in this event.

Bill Youkers cut his time in the 220-yard low hurdles by a full second, although he slipped from first to third in the order of finish.

In the two-mile run Hollen and Lamont Smith finished in a dead heat for first at Annapolis in a time of 9:55. At East Lansing Smith shaved 13 seconds from his

Minor League Club Owner Hits Radio Operator

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—

The Justice Department and radio man Gordon McLendon got a rough going over today in the wind-up of hearings on a bill Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) says is needed to save baseball.

Nathan R. Kobey, Denver attorney who formerly operated the Wichita (Western League) club, said of McLendon:

"Apparently what he wants is a complete license to steal baseball games. He is opposed to monopoly to the extent it prevents him from stealing baseball games."

McLendon operated the now defunct Liberty Broadcasting System. He appeared yesterday in opposition to Johnson's bill, which would permit agreements among ball clubs not to invade each other's territory with broadcasts or telecasts of games. McLendon has pending in Chicago a two million dollar monopoly suit against 13 of the 16 major league clubs.

Johnson and Kobey vied with each other in saying critical things about the Justice Department's anti-trust division.

Under threat of a criminal anti-trust proceeding, the major leagues in 1949 modified and in 1951 repealed a rule—1D8 which permitted restrictions on broadcasting and televising of their games.

"The Justice Department, just like a quack doctor, is curing a disease that never existed," Kobey commented.

Rio Grande Slates Eastern Quintets

RIO GRANDE, O., May 12 (AP)

High-scoring Bevo Francis and his basketball teammates of tiny Rio Grande College will take an Eastern tour next December, probably including games in New York, Boston, Buffalo and Philadelphia.

Coach Newt Oliver confirmed the tour today but refused to say if his boys would play in New York's Madison Square Garden, or if Boston and Philadelphia actually were on the schedule.

First baseman Dee Fondy blasted his first homer of the season in the 11th inning today to score Eddie Miksis ahead of him to give the seventh-place Chicago Cubs a 6-4 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The blow into the left center bleachers opened the Cubs' long home stand before 8,077 paid customers in Wrigley Field.

Roy Campanella, Dodger catcher on a great hitting streak, hammered a run-scoring double during a three-run sixth inning and also singled in the 10th. He collected the two hits in four official trips and ran his league-pacing runs-batted-in total to 40.

Brooklyn tied the score 4-4 in the eighth on George Shuba's triple that scored Campanella, who had walked.

The Cubs grabbed a 2-0 lead in the fifth. Both runs were unearned. With one out, Ransom Jackson drew the first walk off Russ Meyer. Roy Smalley then tapped to the mound when Meyer's pitch hit his bat as he was withdrawing it. Meyer pounced on the ball and threw wide to Junior Gilliam at second trying to force Smalley. The ball sailed into the outfield and Jackson romped to third.

Turk Lown, the Cubs' starter, then rolled to Meyer and Jackson tallied when Smalley was forced at second. Miksis followed with a double off the left center wall, scoring Lown.

Hoyt Wilhelm, the New York Giants' sophomore relief specialist, came up with a near-perfect earned run average of 0.00 in the season's first compilation of that important pitching statistic today.

Wilhelm's record topped just short of perfection, after 14 appearances in relief roles, because lapses by his teammates had cost him one game and three unearned runs.

Whitey Ford, the New York Yankee southpaw who is belatedly defying the same sophomore jinx that hasn't bothered Wilhelm so far, shares the top billing in the major leagues. Figures compiled by the Associated Press through games of Sunday show Ford as the American League leader with a mark of 1.20.

A pair of young portiders, Curt Simmons of the Phils and Wilmer (Vinegar Benz) Mizell of the Cards, rank behind Wilhelm for National League laurels.

In the American League Lefty Gene Bearden of the Chicago White Sox is runner-up to Ford in earned run effectiveness with 2.16.

Is It a Rabbit Ball?

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP)—Grand slam homers already, have played a big part in the infant 1953 major league season. To date, seven home runs have been struck with the bases filled and three provided the winning margins.
