6 Disciplined For Alcohol Possession

The spring carnival booth sponsored by Players and Radio Guild was closed Wednesday night by Dean of Men Frank J. Simes. Simes said he caught six students, including two women, in possession of alcoholic beverages at the booth.

The four men have been placed on office probation for an indefinite period, Simes said. Names of the two women were turned over to Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston who said she will turn the name of one, a graduate student, over to Graduate School Dean Harold K. Shilling, and the name of the coed over to the chairman of Judicial for disciplinary action.

Seven Arrested

Simes said he could not be sure the students were drinking, but they did have bottles in the booth. They were disciplined under a College regulation forbidding possession of alcoholic beverages on campus, Simes said.

Simes reported yesterday that seven students, arrested while serenading coeds at Juniata College, Huntingdon, at 1:30 a.m. last Friday and fined for disorderly conduct Tuesday, have been placed on disciplinary probation for an indefinite period by the Senate committee on student affairs.

According to Simes, the students, all freshmen, had driven to Huntingdon to return a borrowed tuxedo. They then decided it would be a nice gesture to serenade the coeds, and proceeded to do so, until a janitor called Huntingdon police. Three of the students were standing on the dormitory's fire escape when police arrived, Simes said.

Warnings Issued

Although the Players-Radio Guild booth was the only one closed, all booths received warnings they should use discretion in barking and show material. Members of the Spring Week committee Wednesday night reported some criticism of various shows on the carnival midway.

Action by Simes was the only instance of administration action at the carnival. After meeting with campus leaders, Director of Student Activities George L. Donovan said the groups preferred to let students take charge of booth discipline. A member of the committee said the Spring Week committee has the right to close any booth ignoring the warning.

"Radio and TV Impersonations" was the title of the Players-Radio Guild booth.

Reds Attack Troops Along Korean Front

SEOUL, Friday, May 15 (AP)—Communist attacks along the restless Korean front rose in fury Thursday as hopes for an early armistice ebbed at Panmunjom.

In the third day of attacks, Chinese Communists overwhelmed six Allied outposts on the East Central Front, were thrown out of four, and lost 400 killed or wounded, the Eighth Army said. The sky war kept pace. Fighter-bombers ripped Red targets all the way from the front to near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Sabre jets clashed with MIGs close to the Manchurian frontier.

Spring Carnival ticket sales for the first night of the carnival totaled approximately $2800, with 28,000 tickets sold, Franklin Kelly, Spring Week business manager, said yesterday. ### Harnett Elected

Dr. Arthur L. Harnett Jr., professor of physical education, has been elected chairman of the college health section of the eastern district Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The second carnival session last night was attended by 5000 persons, Kelly said.

"Adverse Criticism" Reported

A warning to use good taste in shows and barking was extended early last night to all booths participating in the carnival.

George L. Donovan, manager of associated student activities, said there had been some "adverse criticism" of certain booths after the carnival opening Wednesday. At an informal conference of student leaders, it was decided students could handle the problem, and it need not be referred to the administration, Donovan said.

Some booths seemed to be overlooking good taste in the competition for tickets, he added.

6 Booths Withdraw

Richard Lemyre, All-College president, said the Spring Week committee maintained the authority to close booths disregarding the warning.

Six booths had withdrawn from the carnival the first day, Joseph Haines, booth chairman said. Acacia, Alpha Zeta, Daily Collegian, Penn State Club and Leonides, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Sigma Phi Epsilon did not participate. The Penn State Players and Radio Guild booth was closed Wednesday night after alcoholic beverages were found in the possession of students.

Joan Lee, Spring Week chairman, said the carnival was "quite successful" and she was pleased with the enthusiasm and cooperation of all concerned.

Androcles, junior men's hat society, assisted the committee with ticket selling.

Visit to Russia Is Forum Topic

Personal observations of Soviet Russia will be discussed by three Pennsylvania newspaper editors at a forum-discussion at 3 p.m. today in 10 Sparks.

Rebecca F. Gross of the Lock Haven Express; Mrs. Jane McIlvaine, Downingtown Archive; and Eugene A. Simon, Tarentum Valley News, were among a group of seven American newspaper and radio editors who visited the Soviet Union in April.

The group was the first delegation of U.S. newsmen to visit Russia in six years. They were in Moscow seven days.

The program, which is open to the public, is sponsored by the Political Science department with the cooperation of the International Relations Club, Intercollegiate Conference on Government, and Political Science Club. Lee E. Corter, assistant professor of political science, will be moderator for the discussion. A question period will follow.

Trustees Approve Campus Radio Plan

The Board of Trustees has approved a plan by which the proposed campus radio station will operate with the College as licensee and the station subject to administration and policy control by the College, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs, announced yesterday.

The action, which took place at a recent meeting of the executive committee, outlines the purposes of the station as threefold. It is to serve the Departments of Speech, Journalism, Dramatics, Music, and other interested departments in training students for professional radio work; to offer opportunities for other students and student organizations to convey information to the student body, and broadcast activities under trained super-

6-Day Week For Students Is Hinted

The possibility of more Saturday classes in the future, or even under the present plan, may be the outcome of an evaluation of the class schedule of the College now under way by the Council of Administration.

The proposed changes, announced by Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs and spokesman for the group, could not occur before the Spring semester of 1954, it was revealed.

More Saturday Classes

The statement issued by Kenworthy reads:

"It is true that the class schedule of the College is under consideration by the Council of Administration at the present time in an effort to evaluate the present schedule and determine whether or not any improvements can be made. The impression is being given that there are now no Saturday classes and that a 'return' to Saturday classes is contemplated. The fact is that the present schedule provides for Saturday classes, although there are not as many as on other days.

It is possible that there may have to be more Saturday classes in the future under a revised, or even under the present plan. No change in schedule could be effective before the Spring semester of 1954, and as yet no action has been taken to make any major changes.

Factors involved in consideration of the possible increase in Saturday classes are:

1. More effective use of facilities, such as laboratories.
2. Need for spreading the schedule to provide more free hours during the week and some unscheduled time for meetings of organizations and faculty committees."

Further Talk Monday

Kenworthy said the statement was released to combat rumors circulating about campus changes concerning the proposed changes. Many of them have been false or contorted and the statement was designed to set the issue straight, he said.

Further discussion and possible action will take place Monday at the next meeting of the Council of Administration. The council (Continued on page eight)
