

Soloists Named In Choir Recital

Barbara Troxell, soprano, and Mary Alyce Bennett, contralto, will sing solo parts in the Chapel Choir's presentation of Haydn's "St. Cecilia Mass" in its sixth annual spring concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Schwab Auditorium.

The work is being performed for the second time in the United States. The Chorus Pro Musica in Boston first presented the mass in this country a year ago. Miss Troxell received her B.A. and M.A. degrees in music education at the College where she has appeared with the choir in previous spring programs. She was awarded a scholarship to study voice with Elizabeth Schumann at Curtis Institute in Philadelphia.

Made Met Debut

She sang under the direction of Sir Thomas Beecham and Leonard Bernstein in operatic and concert performances in this country, Mexico, and Canada after completing her work at Curtis.

Since then Miss Troxell has sung on coast-to-coast broadcasts and become a recording artist. During the 1950-51 season she made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera after previous appearances as a finalist on the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air program.

Phillips Gallery Soloist

Miss Bennett has appeared as a contralto soloist at the Phillips Gallery and the National Gallery, Washington, D.C., where she recently sang Hindemith's "Das Marienleben."

She has sung with the American University Chamber Music Society and the Chamber Music Society of Catholic University where she was a member of the music faculty. She is soloist at the Mt. Vernon Methodist Church.

Miss Bennett has also performed solo roles in Bach's "Passion According to St. Matthew" and "B. Minor Mass," Handel's "The Messiah," Haydn's "The Creation" and "The Seven Last Words," and in Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Win A Pirate Maid

WILLIAM FREDERICK (right) collects a kiss from Barbara Wakefield last night at the Penn Haven Club-Philotes Spring Carnival booth. Richard Staples stands guard over the other pirate maids who are (l. to r.) Jeanne Keller and Arlene Borneman.

NYU Prof To Address Art Group

Dr. Howard Lane, professor of child development at New York University, will address the Spring Conference of the Graduate Club in Art Education at 2 p.m. tomorrow in 135 Temporary Classroom Buildings. His topic will be "Art and Child Development."

The conference, which begins today, is organized to provide opportunity for the exchange of ideas and experiences in art education. An open house exhibit in the Temporary Classroom Buildings will begin the conference.

Derwin W. Edwards, head of the Department of Art Education at Miami University, Oxford, O., will give the opening address at 2 p.m. today. Five talks on graduate studies in art education will be presented by students who have attained doctorates.

An exhibit of work by graduate students in art education is being held at Schlow Gallery in conjunction with the conference. The exhibit, including paintings, ceramics, textiles, and craft work, will be open until tomorrow.

The Graduate Club in Art Education is an organization which promotes the exchange of research and professional ideas. This is the first conference held by the professional group. Approximately 200 graduate students in art education comprise the club.

A dinner tomorrow night and entertainment by a creative dance group will conclude the conference.

Army Riflers Finish Season With 132 Wins

Army ROTC Rifle Team completed its 1952-53 season with a record of 132 wins against 39 losses. The team scored 39 victories and seven defeats in varsity competition and a shoulder to shoulder match record of 12 and five.

The team, coached by Maj. H. D. Kinney and M/Sgt. George W. McCloskey, compiled the following record in tournament competition; third in the Second Army Area Hearst trophy match and 10th in the nation, second in the Society of American Engineers national competition, sixth in the Pennsylvania Gallery state championships, fourth in the National Rifle Association sectional match, and 48th in the National Rifle Association National Intercollegiate Championships. The rifle team competed in the NRA National Open Championships and National ROTC Championships. Results have not yet been published. Seventeen members were also awarded medals.

Members of the squad are William Beatty, captain, William Brubaker, Albert Clepper, Dale Fenstemacher, Richard Foster, John Goettel, Donald Greth, James Hager, John Ifft, John Leone, Richard Moorhead, Joel Peabody, John Pfrommer, Carl Scheerer, John Scheerer, Lester Strauch, John Thalimer and James Walczak.

Military Review Set Tomorrow

Six bands and over 3000 men will be in the line of march for the annual Armed Forces Day parade through State College at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The parade will be divided into six divisions each led by a band. Included in the parade will be units of the College Army, Navy, and Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps, Centre County veterans' organizations, Boy and Girl Scout troops, and Civil Defense Units. Participating bands will include Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC bands, Junior American Legion band of Bellefonte, State College High School band, and the Ferguson Township High School band.

E. K. Hibshman, Burgess of State College, will be grand marshal of the parade. Hibshman has called upon State College residents to join in the Armed Forces Day celebration, and has requested business places and homes to display the American flag tomorrow.

Fishermen's Paradise Opens Season Today

Fishermen's Paradise, located on Spring Creek midway between State College and Bellefonte, will open its 20th season at 9 a.m. today.

Dewey Sorenson, superintendent of the project, said yesterday the water is in good condition although it is slightly cloudy.

A large crowd is expected for the opening today, and if weather is good, attendance might top the record crowd of 2053 on opening day 1947.

Last year 1832 anglers tried their luck on opening day, catching a total of 2664 fish.

Mining Editors Named

Donald Eget and Thomas Falke were named new editors of Mining Engineering Society Newsletter.

George Schneider was elected society president; Albert Turchick, vice president; Carl Schrock, secretary; and William Herring, treasurer.

Inspectors Watch AFROTC Drill

The annual federal inspection of the Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps unit on campus was held this week. Classroom and administrative procedure were observed Monday and Tuesday, and the inspection team scrutinized the cadet parade during Tuesday's common hour.

A new plan of guidance and help for AFROTC units is being tested this year in an attempt to secure greater standardization throughout units all over the country. Under this system several officers are designated to assist detachments at various campuses in administration and training. Assistance by correspondence is implemented by actual visits to the campus.

The three-man inspection team will also inspect the Penn State Centers which have Air ROTC units.

Law Honorary Elects Greenberg Chancellor

Philip Greenberg was recently elected chancellor of Pi Lambda Sigma, pre-legal honorary. John Eller was named vice chancellor and John Carpenter keeper of the rolls.

New initiates are Rudolph Dutzman, Theodore Struck, Martha Tait, John Bell, John Collett, Barbara A. Jones, Leslie Handler, George Greer, Leonard Goodman, David Dixon, Ellen Carpenter, Susan Holtzinger, Benjamin Sinclair and Abraham Bavar.

Ag Club Elects Hodge

Recently elected officers of General Agriculture Club are Robert Hodge, president; James Holter, vice president; Bernard Fox, secretary-treasurer; John Thornton, publicity chairman; and James Holter, Agriculture Student Council representative.

12 Students Withdraw

Twelve students withdrew from the College during the past two months.

Reasons given for withdrawal are personal, three; military service, five; illness, two; scholastic, one; and employment, one.

Players' Production Enters Fifth Week

By EDMUND REISS

The Pirandello comedy-mystery, "Right You Are! (If You Think So)" will enter its fifth week of a six weekend run tomorrow night at Center Stage.

Built around an incident picked up and enlarged by local gossip, the play is an example of intriguing suspense by one of the world's greatest modern playwrights.

Dr. Warren S. Smith has directed a play that is very hard for the audience to forget. Everyone seems to have a different viewpoint as to who is actually the villain, but, of course, each idea is correct according to Pirandello, who preaches the doctrine of free thought and reason in this work.

Al Sarkas, as Laudisi, the casual philosopher, reflects the thoughts of the author. Opposing all the gossips of the town, his ideas on the situation are in the end proved to be rational and not so silly as the gossips once thought.

Two mysterious personalities, Signor Ponzia and Signora Frola, are played by Clifton Crosbie and Jolly Oswalt. They show the audience that one can't take everything at its face value, but must investigate the related facts.

Other members of the cast are Dominic Landro, Allen Adair, Alyce Mears, Yvonne Voigt, Betsy Jones, Nancy Fortna and Rochelle Zinger.

Tickets are on sale for $1 at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

College Orchestra To Play Sunday

Works of six composers will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday at a concert by the College Symphony Orchestra in Schwab Auditorium.

The group, conducted by Theodore K. Karhan, associate professor of music, will present Prologue from "Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo), "Symphony in C" (Bizet), "Last Spring" (Grieg), Intermezzo from "Hary Janos Suite" (Kodaly), "Springtime in Angus" from "The Three Elizabeths Suite" (Coates), and Polonaise from "Christmas Night" (Rimsky-Korsakov).

It was a geneticist, Francis Galton, who first suggested the use of fingerprints for the purpose of identification of criminals.

WRITE
Home, Your Friend,
Relatives, Your Steady!

But, by all means, write on
Penn State Stationery
55c, 65c box
$5 in Sales, Get $1 FREE
BX in the TUB

Conclave to Air News Barriers

Barriers to legitimate public information news at local, state and federal government levels will be one of the topics studied today and tomorrow at the Pennsylvania Press Conference at the Nittany Lion Inn.

Three hundred Pennsylvania editors and publishers and their wives are expected at the two-day conference, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors, Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, Pennsylvania Women's Press Association, and the Journalism department.

The Sessions will begin at 1:30 p.m. today under the chairmanship of Melville P. Ferguson, editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and president of PSNE. Dr. Clara E. Cockerille, assistant superintendent of Armstrong County public schools, will speak at 6:30 tonight at a dinner at the Inn.

A rattlesnake can strike a distance of 18 inches.

Today WARNER theatres
Cathaum
3 DIMENSION!!
"HOUSE OF WAX"
in WarnerColor

State
CLIFTON WEBB
BARBARA STANWYCK
"TITANIC"

Nittany
MARILYN MONROE
JOSEPH COTTON
"NIAGARA"

Paper-Mate Pen makes note taking push-button EASY

With a Paper-Mate Pen, you're ready to write at the click of a button. No cap to close. Refill cartridges in blue, red, green and black ink. Change ink colors in writing reports, making charts and graphs, doing accounting work. Get the versatile Paper-Mate today.

- Bankers approve
- Ink can't smear or transfer
- Can't leak
- Guaranteed for 20 years

70,000 word refills ... 49¢

$1.69

On Sale at your college or university store