

Prexy Featured In New 'Digest'

By SHIRLEY MUSGRAVE

The Man Closest to the President, is the title of an article concerning Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower in the June issue of the Reader's Digest, on the newsstands today.

In the three and one-half page article, author Stanley High says "the most influential person in the new government is not, officially, in the government at all. He is not and never has been in politics. He is 'Prexy' Milton Eisenhower, Ike's younger brother."

Although the two brothers are nine years apart in age, says High, they "think alike and their thinking has led them to like conclusions and convictions." Ike's middle-of-the-road doctrine was largely worked out by himself and Milton years ago, "in battling ideas back and forth."

"Few men know more than Milton Eisenhower knows about the vast mechanism of our federal government," the article reports. "He has been a college president for ten years, but his previous record of government service covered 19 years—eight of them under Republican, 11 under Democratic administrations—and an amazing variety of jobs."

At 24, graduating from Kansas State College, after winning top honors in diplomatic examinations, Dr. Eisenhower was sent to Edinburgh as vice counsel. After two years there he was appointed administrative assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture. Dr. Eisenhower served under four different secretaries, and was Land-Use Coordinator when he resigned from the department in 1942 because he did not agree with the "political perversion" of the agricultural program.

During the war, among other things, Dr. Eisenhower directed the relocation of the West Coast Japanese and directed the Office of War Information.

In 1943 he became the president of the Kansas State College.

Today Dr. Eisenhower works many hours on the President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization. The results of its work can be seen in the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, and in the lifting of the Federal Security Agency to cabinet status.

According to High, Dr. Eisenhower regards as perhaps his most important assignment the firm establishment of the middle road doctrine as the basic ideology of the Eisenhower administration. "If that happens," High observes, "the United States and the rest of the free world beset so long by extremists, will be gainers."

Botany Professor To Retire in June

Dr. Julia M. Haber, associate professor of botany, will retire June 30, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced yesterday.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Dr. Haber received her B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Cornell University. She served on the faculty at Cornell, Elmira College and Meredith College and served as an instructor in zoology at the College from 1924 to 1936. Returning to the faculty in 1947, she was appointed instructor in botany.

Naval Electronics Unit To Have Inspection

The annual inspection of the Naval Reserve Electronics unit 4-3 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 300 Engineering E.

Commander H. D. Gibson, district reserve electronics program officer on the staff of Commandant of the Fourth Naval District, will answer questions about students' status in the naval reserve program.

Saturn May Be Observed

Saturn, the ringed planet, will be visible at the College observatory between 8:30 and 10:30 tonight, weather permitting, the Physics department has announced.

Time Tables on Sale

Time table schedules for the fall semester will be on sale for the remainder of the semester at the College Scheduling office, basement of Willard Hall, according to Ray V. Watkins, College scheduling officer.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower Featured in 'Digest'

Five Students Given Awards By NROTC

The Navy Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit has cited five students for outstanding work in the ROTC program.

John Harrison was presented the U.S. Naval Institute award by President Milton S. Eisenhower, and the Navy League plaque by Capt. Rowland H. Groff, professor of naval science.

Dr. Eisenhower presented a Naval Institute award to Robert Gehman, and Capt. Groff presented the Marine Corps meritorious achievement award to Joseph Browne.

Capt. S. P. Comly, Fourth Naval District, presented the district's annual award to Harvey Bolan. Maj. Harry Detwiler, president of the Centre County chapter, Reserve Officers Association, presented the ROA medal to Creed Erickson.

Parents of the boys honored were present for the parade and decoration ceremony.

UBA to Accept Books Monday

The Used Book Agency of the Book Exchange will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in the Temporary Union Building to receive used books for next semester. This will be the first time the agency collected books at the end of the spring semester, Ronald Lench, BX treasurer, said.

It is being done, Lench said, so the agency will have books ready for sale early next fall. In previous years, there have not been enough books at the opening of the semester because students forgot to bring them back after summer vacation, he said.

Books will be stored over vacation in the TUB. All books except language texts will be accepted.

Chem Prof to Discuss Dissolution of Metals

Dr. A. B. Garrett of Ohio State University will discuss metal dissolution at 2:10 p.m. today in 119 Osmond. The lecture, sponsored by the Department of Chemistry, will cover the mechanism of dissolution of metals in acid solution from a temperature of -65 degrees Centigrade to room temperature.

Colbourn Gets Grant

H. Trevor Colbourn, instructor of history, has been given a grant-in-aid supporting a research project on "Historical Origins of American Independence" by the Institute of Early American History and Culture, Williamsburg, Va.

Publications Workshop To Be Held

A workshop on student publications will be held at the second annual student encampment at Mont-Alto Forestry School, Sept. 10-12, Edgar Fehnel, encampment committee chairman, has announced.

David Jones, editor of the Daily Collegian and chairman of the Board of Publications, will head the workshop, Fehnel said. The workshop was originally scheduled to discuss the student press, but discussion is completed on the student press, Fehnel said, and it was dropped. The group will cover every publication on campus including the Daily Collegian, Pivot, Inking, Froth and others, he said.

Students may still leave suggestions of possible discussion problems at the Student Union desk in Old Main, Fehnel said. Problems may cover any aspect of the areas that will be discussed by student leaders before the beginning of the fall term. Action on many of the problems discussed at last year's encampment has already been taken to put them into effect.

Other workshops scheduled are cultural aspects, student-town relations, operation of the Student Union Building, student recreation, leadership, campus political conventions, book exchange, judicial, academic honesty and cabinet finances.

Invitations to 160 students, faculty and townspeople, were mailed yesterday.

Alumni Membership Drive Progressing

Progress in the Alumni Association membership drive is "very, very good," Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the association, said yesterday. While he did not reveal the number of applications received from graduating seniors, he termed the first three days of the drive "most satisfactory."

The drive opened Tuesday and will continue until June 4, Commencement D.

Each night this week 20 student leaders, under the direction of Arthur Rosfeld, are visiting fraternity houses to give short talks on why seniors should join the Alumni Association.

According to Lehman, the role of an alumnus cannot be understood until after graduation. These students are trying to point out how the Alumni Association helps graduates keep in contact with the College. As an example, he said, the weekly "Football Letter," edited by Ridge Riley, association executive secretary, gives former athletes a behind-the-scenes picture of each football game.

Lehman also stressed that membership in one of the 68 district Alumni clubs can help the graduate become acquainted in his new community, by providing both social and business contacts.

For the duration of the membership drive, graduating seniors can join the association for $2 for one year instead of the regular $3 rate. Seniors may mail their applications to the Alumni Association or take them to the Alumni Office, 104 Old Main.

Goduscik Gets Award

John M. Goduscik, tenth semester architecture major, has been awarded second prize of $150 in a design competition sponsored by Carrier Weathermaker Corp.

Kenyon Is Selected For Phys Ed Award

By BILL SNYDER

Robert Kenyon, eighth semester physical education major, won the seventh annual Paul Smith Memorial Trophy, awarded each year to the outstanding boy graduating from the Physical Education school. It was announced at the All-College Cabinet meeting last night by Barbara Lusk, president of the Physical Education Student Council.

Kurt Klaus finished second and Robert Kreidler third in choices made Wednesday by the outgoing council. Kenyon will receive a trophy class day, June 3, and his name will be inscribed on the large Paul Smith Memorial trophy kept in Rec Hall.

Each year since 1946 the award has been made on the basis of scholarship, character, and activities. Last year's recipient was Dave Bischoff, son of Eugene Bischoff, director of intramural athletics.

Kenyon is captain of the gymnastic team, president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education honorary, and a member of the Physical Education Student Council, and Androcles, men's honorary hat society. His all-college average is 2.57. He won Phi Epsilon Kappa's scholarship key this year.

Margaret Lamaster, outgoing president of the Physical Education Student Council, said this is the first year the council has made the award. Previously it was made by a special committee composed of the dean of the Physical Education school, the director of student affairs, the president of the physical education council, and the editor of the Daily Collegian. The award honors Paul Smith, a physical education major, who died in 1946, just three months before he was to have been graduated.

Foreign Students' Work

Foreign students planning to work this summer may apply for necessary permission from Immigration Authorities at the Foreign Student office in Willard Hall.

European Tour For Students Begins June 9

A European tour sponsored by the Association of International Relations Clubs will leave June 9 for a study trip. The tour is open to college students.

Seminars are planned for Sheffield, London, Paris and Geneva, with time for individual or group sight-seeing and independent travel.

A group of 25 students and the tour manager will sail from Quebec. In addition to the scheduled seminars during the month's stay in Britain, side trips are planned to Stratford-on-Avon, Windsor Castle, Oxford and Parliament.

The month of August will be spent in travel through Italy, Germany, Scandinavia, Belgium, the Netherlands and Yugoslavia.

The group expects to return September 12 to Quebec. The $550 basic cost for the non-profit tour includes trans-Atlantic passage, seminars, and living expenses. Free time expenses are not included in this amount.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained by writing AIRC Tour Manager, 405 W. 117th St., New York 27, N.Y.

Deadline Revealed For Senior Grades

Grades for graduating seniors must be reported by 9 a.m. June 1 to the Recorder's office, basement of Willard Hall, C. O. Williams, dean of admissions and registrar, has announced.

Student grades must be in the Recorder's office within 48 hours after the final examination, and in no case later than 12:30 p.m. June 5, Williams said.

Final examinations will end at 12:30 p.m. June 3.

State Party Workshop To Be Held Sept. 24

Kenneth White, newly elected State Party clique chairman, has announced the party will meet Sept. 24 to prepare for a party workshop.

White has requested committee chairmen to submit written reports to Peggy Shierson, party secretary, before the end of the semester.

Engineers Elect Martell

New officers of the student chapter, American Society of Civil Engineers are Francis Martell, president; Therhune Dickel, vice president; Francis Wunderle, secretary; and Jacque Vail, treasurer.

STOP!!

Don't Carry Those Books Home

The Used Book Agency in the TUB will be open every afternoon during finals week from 1 to 5 p.m. (May 25 - 29) to receive your used books that will be sold next semester. (Sorry, No Language Books).

$5.00 in Sales, $1.00 Free, PENN STATE BOOK EXCHANGE Located in the TUB

STUDENT OPERATED — NON-PROFIT — SCHOOL SUPPLY STORE