

Alumni Enroll 150 Members

By FRANK KELLY

More than 150 graduating seniors have taken advantage of the special $2 rate for Alumni Association membership according to Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the association.

Seniors may join the Alumni Association at the special rate on or before Commencement day on June 4. Lehman suggested seniors visit the Alumni office in 104 Old Main before leaving campus.

Frosh Night Is Planned September 19

The tentative program for the third annual Fun Night, to be held from 7 to 10:30 p.m. Sept. 19, has been announced by Gerald Maurey, chairman of the Fun Night committee.

The purpose of Fun Night, sponsored by All-College Cabinet, is to have the new students meet informally before the beginning of Customs and to provide an evening of entertainment in the Penn State style, Maurey said. Fun Night will be the last Orientation Week event, he said.

Hatmen and hatwomen will wear their hats to the program and show the incoming freshmen that they are not their enemies but their friends, Maurey said.

Volleyball, ping pong, indoor soccer, shuffleboard, quoits, basketball, and round and square dancing will be some of the evening's activities, Maurey said.

Dr. Hummel Fishburn, professor of music and music education, and Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, will lead group singing of Penn State songs, Maurey said.

A skit will be presented by a group headed by Charles Oberance, Book Exchange Board of Control chairman, to explain the Used Book Agency to the freshmen.

Job Applicants May Register

Students interested in part-time jobs at the College this summer should register with the Student Employment office in 112 Old Main as soon as they complete class schedules, John Huber, student employment director, said yesterday.

He asked students desiring jobs in the fall to follow the same procedure when they return to school in September.

There is no list of jobs available, he said, since job requests come in day by day.

The student employment service filled more than 3000 jobs requests during the past school year, and expects to fill an equal number in the coming year, Huber said.

Marine Training Offered to Coeds

Qualified young women still enrolled in college, or graduating in June, are eligible to enroll in the June class of the Marine Corps Women Officers Training class, in Quantico, Va., according to Maj. Richard R. Bucher, USMC. Major Bucher said interested women must submit applications by June 1 to Marine Corps headquarters.

Application blanks and information about the class are available at 201 Engineering E.

Names of Officers Due At SU for Directory

Names of officers of all honorary and professional societies, fraternities, sororities, clubs and other organized groups should be turned in immediately at the Student Union desk in Old Main to be included in the Student Union directory.

Delegates Recommend AIM Survey

Delegates to the National Independent Student Association convention at Purdue in April recommended a regional survey of colleges during a recent meeting of the Association of Independent Men.

Presenting the preliminary report of the delegation, Philip Austin, Town Council representative, asked such a check to promote NISA participation at other state colleges.

The college is now a member of the NISA eastern region. A move to transfer to the northeast region was voted down by the College delegation at the convention.

Austin, attending the workshop group in campus relations with other organizations, recommended a fostering of better relationships between fraternity and independent groups.

A possible series of exchange dinners and dances was suggested.

It was the opinion of the delegation asked that AIM sponsor a brochure as part of the orientation of freshman program. This might include, Austin said, the purpose of AIM, its organization and activities.

Assistance to Cornell, host of next year's convention, has been offered, he reported.

Chem Society Picnic

The American Chemical Society student affiliate will hold its annual picnic today, near Linden Hall, at the farm of Dr. John M. Schempf, assistant professor of chemistry.

The group will meet at 3 p.m. behind Osmond Laboratory.

5700 Are Expected For Summer School

Fifty-seven hundred students are expected to register for 1953 summer sessions at the College, according to John E. Miller, administrative assistant to the director of summer sessions.

Enrollment for the main session is expected to be 3000; while 1500 are expected to register for the inter-session and 1200 for the post-session. Undergraduate enrollment for summer sessions is lower than in previous years, Miller said.

Students will enroll in the inter-session, main summer session, and post-session, or for any sequence or approved parts of these sessions according to alphabetical registration. This schedule will be used to facilitate registration, Miller stated.

Enrollment for the inter-session will take place on June 9. Registration date for the main session is June 29. Students will register August 10 for post session. Registration will be in Recreation Hall.

Housing for students enrolled in summer sessions will be in West Dorm. Men students will be assigned to Hamilton Hall. Women students will be housed in Thompson and McKee Halls.

Housing accommodations will be provided in McAllister Hall for married couples without children. A number of cottages have been equipped to house married couples with children.

Food service in the West Dining Hall will be provided for students enrolled in summer sessions.

Fees Named LaVie Art Editor for 1954

Juliana Fees, sixth semester arts and letters major, has been named art editor of the 1954 LaVie.

Senior board art staff members are Dorothy Lacey, Nancy May and Betty Perna. On junior board are Barbara Lederer, Marilyn Schadt and Andrew Schoerke.

A call for more junior board members will be made in the fall.

Coed Is Placed On Probation

A sixth-semester coed has been placed on administrative probation for the remainder of the semester pending further action by the Dean of Women's office, Dean Pearl O. Weston, announced yesterday.

Further action by the Dean of Women's office will be put off until after the final examination period, Miss Weston said.

Action by Judicial, women's disciplinary committee, has been "indefinitely postponed," according to Miss Weston.

Temporary administrative action was taken according to Miss Weston, when the coed was discovered missing from her room after signing in Friday following the Senior Ball. The coed had, Miss Weston said, signed in about 11:30 p.m., changed clothes, stuck pillows in her bed and then latedated another student.

Student Teacher Photos

Seniors who will be student teaching in the fall should have LaVie photographs taken at the Penn State Photo Shop before going home for the summer, Editor Herman Golomb has announced.

A member of the Alumni association is entitled to the Alumni news, a 32-page magazine, published seven times a year; the Penn Stater, a quarterly newspaper; and the Football Letter, a personalized printed account of every football contest which is mailed out each Tuesday following the Saturday game.

The Athletic Association grants first priority on reserved football tickets, both home and away games, to active members of the Alumni Association.

The association sponsors 62 district clubs in all parts of the United States, providing regular programs for nearby organizations including speakers from the faculty and coaching staff.

The Alumni office maintains the only biographical and occupational records of 50,000 alumni and former students and has the only active alumni mailing list at the College. The mailing room of the association maintains an active addressograph plate file arranged by geographical areas and classes.

President Milton S. Eisenhower said recently in a published letter that it is essential to the continued growth and welfare of Penn State that every alumnus maintain a bond with the College and that he be interested and active as a Penn State alumnus. Mr. Lehman said, "As an active member of the Alumni Association, you will keep informed about College affairs and will therefore become a valuable interpreter of the College to the public at large."

Band to Play 13 Selections

Thirteen musical selections will be presented by the Penn State Concert Band in the final concert of the season at 3 p.m. tomorrow on the steps of Pattee Library.

In case of rain, the program will be held in Schwab Auditorium.

Donald Rentschler and Samuel Moldovan, eighth semester music education majors, will conduct "Marcho Poco" (Moore) and "Colossus of Columbia March" (Alexander).

The program will open with The National Anthem followed by "The Trumpeters" (Leidzen), "Ariane Overture" (Boyer), "Irish Tune from County Derry" (Grainger), "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (Kern), "American Patrol" (Meacham), "Carnival Day in New Orleans" (Morrissey), and "The Phantom Regiment" (Anderson).

Concluding numbers will be "Zampa Overture" (Herold), "Vincent Youmans Fantasy" (Yoder), and "The Stars and Stripes Forever" (Sousa).

Mears Elected President of Foundry Society

New officers of the American Foundry Society are Francis Mears, president; Leon Gruber, vice president; George Bortle, recording secretary; Paul Soltie, treasurer; and Richard Dennis, corresponding secretary.

The society named Thomas Jester, assistant superintendent of Darling-Valve, Williamsport as industrial adviser.

Get Out of That Summer Rut!

By DOLLY FINO

If you're tired of spending your summers in the same old way, the United States National Student Association has a practically custom-made European tour for you.

These programs are managed and operated by American college students as part of an extensive extra-curricular national and international program sponsored by the USNSA. The organization sponsors tours but not for the type of tourist immortalized by Henry James in his novel, "The Americans."

According to James, these travelers were of the upper-middle classes whose chief delight was in finding more of themselves while absorbing the sights and sounds of the Old World.

NSA trips are run with the average student in mind. The organization arranges for minimum costs, maximum experience and a variety of programming facilities including contacts with government leaders, outstanding educators, work camps and special festivals.

There is an NSA tour for practically every interest. Costs for tours range from $550 for 63 days to $825 for 74 days. This price includes trans-Atlantic transportation, all land transport, food, lodging, tickets, program expenses and incidental charges.

There are study tours for students of sociology, economics, politics and industry who want to study major interests first hand in the country they visit.

Some of the most famous museums and collections in the West will be included in the arts tour.

Hospitality tours give students a chance to really get to know the country they visit by living with families of European students for two-week periods.

A constructive summer rebuilding and harvesting at the lowest possible cost is offered by the work camps.

There is even an international tour for the sightseer who has no specific study goal, but desires to learn something about each country visited.

NSA also provides "shorter tours for shorter budgets." One of these is a cycle rally through the countryside of the Netherlands and Belgium with accommodations in university towns enroute. Cost and length of this tour, exclusive of trans-Atlantic travel, is $55 for 21 days.

Programs are open to students of the United States and Canada. More information may be obtained at the Student Union desk in Old Main or by writing to USNSA Travel Department, 48 W. 48th street, New York, N.Y.
