Orientation Begins for 3475

Freshmen Register Thursday, Friday

Freshmen will register for fall semester classes Thursday and Friday in Recreation Hall.

Before registering, students will meet with advisers to decide what courses to take. Advisers generally suggest that a student schedule some courses required in his curriculum in order to get them out of the way. This enables the student to take courses in his major field which have prerequisites in future semesters. A prerequisite is a course which must be taken before a student will be accepted in another, usually more advanced course. Taking required courses first also gives a student greater leeway in choosing electives later on.

While meeting with advisers, students fill out a trial schedule form, making use of the College timetable, which lists the meeting hours for each class.

Registrees may have to alter this schedule in Rec Hall if the section of a course a student has listed on his trial schedule is filled, and thereby closed to further admissions.

In that case, the student will refer to the timetable to find a section of the course which is not filled. Filled sections are listed by number on boards placed above the department station.

If the hours of the new section conflict with the meeting hours of another course on the trial schedule, the schedule will have to be altered once again. In some cases it is necessary to drop a course completely and select another course of the same number of credits to take its place.

Prior to registering, students must pay fees in the Bursar's office in the basement of Willard Hall. Students will not be admitted to Rec Hall without a receipted bill.

Registration must follow the alphabetical listing printed on the cover of the timetable and the registration envelope supplied by advisers.

Once in Rec Hall, a student will receive a pair of cards for each course he is scheduling. Cards are supplied at department stations in Rec Hall.

The College has specified that each student must register for himself at the proper time in the alphabetical listing.

Students who register late will be charged a $10 late registration fee.

Psych Students Get Loan Fund

A loan fund, available to undergraduate and graduate students in psychology, has been established at the College to provide emergency loans not in excess of $100.

The fund will be known as the Bruce Victor Moore loan fund, in honor of Dr. Bruce V. Moore, who retired Oct. 1 as head of the Department of Psychology.

Students Welcomed By Prexy

On behalf of all the members of The Pennsylvania State College, I extend a hearty welcome—together with my own personal greeting—to all the new students who have just arrived on campus to become members of our university.

I know that you will soon feel completely at home among us; that soon you will think with pride and satisfaction: "I am a Penn Stater!"

You will learn very quickly that Penn State is a friendly college, and a purposeful one. Very soon, I hope, you will realize that the whole vast machinery of the institution has one primary aim as far as you are concerned: to provide opportunities for your self-development, to help you acquire the knowledge, and skills and understanding that will equip you for both a rewarding place in our economic system and a satisfying and contributing adulthood as an individual and a citizen.

I hope each of you will become aware of this primary goal early in your college career, and that you will perceive the relationship between your future as a mature man or woman and all the varied activities and interests of your years at Penn State.

Penn State offers opportunity unlimited. I urge you to accept your full share from the very beginning of your college days. Good luck to all of you.

Men, Women Fill Dorms; Prexy Speaks Tomorrow

By PHIL AUSTIN

Approximately 3475 students, including 2825 freshmen, arrived here today to begin a week of orientation.

During Orientation Week, new students will take many tests and familiarize themselves with the College's facilities and personalities. Freshman will receive instruction preparing them for customs next week.

Dorms in all three men's dormitory areas have been filled except for Pollock Circle, where a majority of dorms have been filled. Women's dorms have been filled.

John Fishburn, Housing department room clerk, said remaining rooms in Pollock may be filled, depending upon last minute admissions and inability of some upperclassmen to find rooms elsewhere.

President Milton S. Eisenhower will welcome new students at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Recreation Hall. Richard Lemyre, All-College president, will also speak.

350 Transfers Admitted

Dean of Admissions C. O. Williams said 2065 freshman men and 760 freshman women will be admitted this fall. About 500 students are transferring from centers to campus, 150 of them women.

Two hundred twenty-five men and 125 women will be admitted as transfer students with advance standing. Eighty men and 26 women will be readmitted to the College. These students will not be required to attend orientation sessions.

About 650 students will be enrolled as freshmen in Penn State centers, Williams said. Of these, 170 will be women and 480 men. One hundred men will be admitted to the Mont Alto Forestry School, he said.

11,500 Expected

Mrs. Cordelia L. Hibbs, assistant to the dean of women, said the number of women admitted this year is not the largest group ever admitted. Twelve hundred, admitted in 1949 when McElwain Hall was opened, is the largest group ever admitted.

The total enrollment is expected to be about 11,500 students. Williams said. This includes graduate students. About 50 per cent of admitted students have paid fees by mail before coming to campus, David C. Hogan, bursar, has reported. He said he did not know what percentage of those paying their fees were freshmen.

Mrs. Rebecca Doerner, secretary at the veterans and foreign students registration office, said approximately 600 Korean War veterans are expected. However, only 250 letters of eligibility have been received, she said.

Besides filling dormitories, whose combined capacities for men and women total 5287, students have rented nearly all rooms on the dean of men's approved town housing list. Others have secured housing in homes other

New School Of Business Established

For the first time in the history of the College, Penn State now has a separate School of Business. Formerly under the department of Economics and Commerce in the Liberal Arts school, the school was established in January by Trustee action and opened July 1.

The school offers majors in accounting, business management, economics, finance, insurance and real estate, marketing, secretarial science, and trade and transportation.

B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees will be offered.

Students majoring in economics qualify for the B.S. degree by taking the business administration curriculum. They earn a B.A. degree by matriculating in the Liberal Arts school and conforming to requirements of that school. In this case, economics courses would be taken in the School of Business.

The Business school will offer only one curriculum, business administration. Approximately 130 courses are offered in accounting, commerce, economics, and business statistics.

The curriculum requires 139 credits and 139 grade points for graduation.

Students desiring to enter the school must have been graduated from an accredited high school and have completed 15 units of preparatory work. The business school requires no language credits for entrance or graduation.

Prexy Awarded Degree

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower president of the College, was awarded the degree of Doctor Honoris Causa by the Central University of Venezuela while on a month-long good-will tour of South America as personal representative of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Today ...

The Nittany Lion Roars

A hearty welcome to the 3475 new students at Penn State.

During their Orientation Week, new students, including 2825 freshmen, will take many tests and be caught in a whirlwind of activity, trying to acquaint themselves with the College and the people here. As these new students start their first year, the year starts its 99th.

Timetables on Sale
Timetables may be purchased from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily in Willard Hall, the Scheduling office has announced.

Penn Ticket Sale Starts On Sept. 24

Tickets to the Oct. 3 University of Pennsylvania-Penn State football game at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, will go on sale at the Athletic Association ticket window in Old Main the morning of Sept. 24.

Approximately 14,000 tickets have been allocated to the College, about half of these will go to alumni.

Reserved seats, at $3.90, are located from goalpost to goalpost in west stands. Tickets selling for $2.60 are behind the goalpost in the end-zone.

Ticket requests have been running 10 per cent above last year's record demand. Harold R. Gilbert, assistant director of athletics, has reported.

Tickets ordered through the mail by students and alumni will be mailed out by Sept. 23, Gilbert said.

Students who wish to sit in groups should buy their tickets together, Gilbert advised.

The Athletic Advisory Board, meeting with a group of students, devised a plan whereby students will get seats in the first ten rows from goal to goal at away games, with the exception of 200 reserved for disabled persons.

This policy was adopted after complaints from students charged the Athletic Association with giving good seats to the alumni and saving only behind-the-goal-line seats for students.

Sixty-seven thousand persons watched Penn State defeat Penn at Franklin Field last year.

Students at the College are admitted to home athletic events through their Athletic Association books received at registration.

Summer Enrollment 4663

A total of 4663 students matriculated at the College during the inter-session and main session programs. Of these 520 were awarded degrees, including 213 bachelor degrees and 307 advanced degrees.

Dr. Raymond Kistler, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, addressed the graduates at the close of main session.
