

Weather—
Cloudy and Cooler

The Daily Collegian

Next Collegian
Out Friday

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 54, No. 2

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 16, 1953

FIVE CENTS

Prexy Greet New Students

—Photo by Schroeder

NEW STUDENTS overflowed Recreation Hall Monday night to hear welcome and advice from President Milton S. Eisenhower. He outlined the opportunities awaiting the College's 3475 new students.

Prexy Emphasizes Steps for Success

By DIEHL McKALIP

Going for advice as soon as difficulty arises and going to the proper person was emphasized by President Milton S. Eisenhower as essential to satisfactory completion of a college career.

In speaking to freshmen and transfer students Monday night in Recreation Hall, he urged students to go for advice at the first sign of difficulty. He said "you and you alone" can iron out trouble, since advisers will not go to the student.

The talk was part of the program of welcome attended by incoming students as part of Orientation Week. Richard Lemyre, All-College president, and E. K. Hibshman, State College burgess, also welcomed new students.

Dr. Eisenhower stressed the need for seeking help quickly and drew the parallel that the first years are important because they supply a foundation which must be strong. Academic uncertainty may be remedied by using the services of academic advisers and professional testing laboratories on the campus, he said.

He listed six benefits on and off campus that may come from an education such as can be secured at the College. They included a depth of knowledge needed to be a bread-winner or a home-maker and a broad understanding of fields other than the one specialized in through a wise choice of electives.

One of the most important in the six was the achievement of a high degree of proficiency in the field of communications which includes reading, writing, speaking, and asking questions with clarity and logic. Dr. Eisenhower urged students to study at least one foreign language in addition to many courses in English.

He said the education awaiting new enrollees would contribute to development of their character or the spiritual side of life composed of character, personality, and judgment. Other points included the attainment of critical thinking

(Continued on page sixteen)

Hatmen to Meet Tomorrow Night

Campus hatmen will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 405 Old Main.

Agenda for the meeting includes distribution of hats and shingles, discussion of customs enforcement, and instructions for pep rallies and football games.

Frosh Cuts Head In WD Accident

Joseph Norman, a freshman, was discharged from the College Infirmary yesterday after being treated for a head cut resulting from a fall in Hamilton Hall Monday.

Norman was unconscious when taken to the Infirmary but was released after X-rays showed no serious effects.

Tuberculin Readings

New students who received tuberculin injections Monday will report to the Infirmary for readings before 5 p.m. today.

Freshman Customs to Begin Monday

By PEGGY McCLAIN

Green dinks will swarm over campus when freshman customs go into effect at 7 a.m. Monday.

Starting today, freshmen may buy dress customs in the Book Exchange in Temporary Union Building. The name of each freshman will be checked off a master list at the time of purchase.

Freshmen who fail to get dress customs will be contacted by Freshman Customs Board, according to Thomas Farrell, co-chairman.

Frosh must wear green dinks and standard size name cards with names, home towns and curriculums printed in heavy black letters. Freshman men must wear black bow ties, with their shirt collars buttoned.

Dress customs will be worn out-

Registration Begins Today for 11,500

By PHIL AUSTIN

Approximately 11,500 students are expected to register before noon Saturday, as seniors and juniors enroll today, the first day of the fall semester registration in Recreation Hall.

Sophomores and freshmen will register tomorrow, Friday, and before noon Saturday. Students will enter Rec Hall in alphabetical order as listed on the front of student timetables. A receipted bill for fees and a matriculation card must be presented for a student to be admitted to Rec Hall. Each student must complete his own registration.

Students who are caught registering for anyone other than themselves will not be permitted to continue registration, and will be turned over to their dean for appropriate disciplinary action, C. O. Williams, dean of admissions and registrar, said yesterday.

Students registering after noon Saturday will be charged a $10 late registration fee, Williams said.

Starlight Dance Tonight to Fete New Students

Freshmen and new students will be feted tonight at the Starlight Dance, sponsored by the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils.

The dance will take place from 8:30 to 10 p.m. in front of Old Main. Lynn Christy and the Campuseers will furnish music for the annual event.

In case of rain, the dance will be held in Temporary Union Building.

New students were familiarized with the programs of student councils at open-house programs last night.

Women's Recreation Association activities will be explained to new women students at 6:45 tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

At the same time, new men students will meet with dormitory counselors in dorm units. Women students will meet with dormitory counselors in their dormitory units at 10 p.m.

New women students will be introduced to the programs of Panhellenic Council and Leonides at a meeting at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow in Schwab Auditorium.

Association of Independent Men representatives will be on hand at men's dormitory units to explain functions of AIM at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow.

Used Book Agency, BX To Open in TUB Today

The Used Book Agency, the Book Exchange, and the student school supply store in the TUB will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday starting today.

Students may buy or sell used text books at the UBA until Sept. 25. The BX will sell freshman customs.

Envelopes containing registration forms must be obtained from faculty advisers, and forms filled out before proceeding to Rec Hall to register.

Classes Scheduled on Main Floor
Entrance to Rec Hall can be obtained only on the north side of the building, near the Nittany Lion Inn. Students will move along the north aisle and proceed through stations until they reach the main floor, where class registration will be held.

On the main floor, students will receive class registration cards from officials of departments in which they desire to schedule classes. Registration officials have suggested students check these cards to be sure they are in the right course and section. Students have been requested not to write their names on these cards. Departments will be located along tables set up in Rec Hall according to the schools they are in.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. today, and 8 a.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Seniors and juniors whose last names begin with Kim to Lap will be the first to register today. Those whose names begin Jan to Kil will end registration. Freshmen and sophomores whose names begin Kna-Kri will begin registration tomorrow, while those whose names begin A-And will start Friday's registration.

Employees Register Saturday
Members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary; women's hat societies; and the football team will register between 8 and 9 a.m. today because of their activities in the Orientation Week program, Harry A. Sperber, assistant scheduling officer, announced yesterday.

Special students and College employees will register from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Students attending school under the G. I. Bill of Rights must complete veterans registration before leaving Rec Hall. Athletic Books will be distributed during registration.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega will assist officials in directing students through registration phases.

Pollock 10 'Conquered' By Coeds

A group of 58 coeds has completed another memorable conquest in the history of women at Penn State with their occupation of Pollock Dormitory 10 on the fringe of men's living units.

It marked the second time in four years that women have taken over men's facilities; the other being when Thompson Hall was absorbed. Both moves were prompted by increased women's enrollment.

Not only is this year's female enrollment larger than usual but Mrs. Cordelia L. Hibbs, assistant to the dean of women, said the usual number of last minute withdrawals did not occur this year. As a result, not only has Pollock 10 been pressed into service but women also are living in many of the regular dormitory lounges.

Mrs. Hibbs says it is the intention of the College to move the women into regular dormitory facilities before the end of the fall semester. This will be done as some drop from school and others leave to student teach.

The coeds, who are mostly transfer students and a few freshmen, live in the western-most row of the Pollock dorms with men's dorms on either side and to the rear. They are separated from McElwain Hall where they eat their meals and receive their mail by a good hundred yard dash through the Windcrest trailer village.

The unit is reported to be in good condition with new floor covering and feminine curtains. Miss Mary E. Brewer, assistant to the dean of women, is acting as house mother in the absence of their regular hostess, Mrs. Iva Beemer.

Nancy Ralph, a marketing major from Philadelphia and a transfer from Stephens College in Missouri, said the dorms, are different but the girls do not really know the difference because they have not had an occasion to compare them with other units.

3 Archaeology Courses Set

Three new archaeology courses, listed under the Department of Sociology, will be offered beginning with the fall semester.

The three credit courses will be taught by Dr. Fredrick R. Matson, professor of archaeology.

Archaeology 1 is the study of the development of man and his culture in Europe, Egypt, and South America. It will be offered as a non-technical elective for engineering and mineral industrial students, and will be accepted as a social science elective in other schools.

Archaeology of the New World, Archaeology 402, involves the study, origin, and antiquity of Indian cultures in the Americas.

Archaeology 400, will be given in the spring semester. It is the study of man and his culture in the Near East and India.