

IFC Coordinates Social Fraternities

Interfraternity Council is the coordinating body for fraternities at the College. It is a central organization designed to provide a voice for member fraternities.

Each fraternity has three members on IFC. They include the chapter president, an elected representative who has a vote in business matters, and an elected sophomore. IFC elects its own president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer. IFC president is a member of All-College Cabinet, representing fraternities in student affairs.

Serving as an advisory group is the IFC executive committee, composed of IFC president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, chairman of the Board of Control, and two elected representatives.

Sponsors Social Events

The IFC Board of Control consists of a chairman, appointed by the officers of IFC, and seven members appointed by the executive committee. The board of control enforces IFC rushing and dating codes and administers penalties for violations.

IFC with Panhellenic Council sponsors several social activities including IFC-Panhel Weekend and Spring Week. Each house participates in the annual spring carnival, parades, and other events during Spring Week.

Presents Christmas Baskets

Last fall IFC sponsored a Latin-American dancing class for more than 200 students. IFC also sponsors an outstanding fraternity award. Fraternities enter into a year-round competition for the award. The winning fraternity is selected on a point basis. Points are awarded for scholarship, intramural sports, house activities, and evaluation by other houses.

Each year IFC presents Christmas baskets to needy families in the community, and with Panhellenic Council sponsors a party for underprivileged children of Centre County.

Traced College History

Dr. Eisenhower traced the history of the College and explained how the land grant act provided federal land grants for educational institutions as a means of financial aid and enabled the college to be set up in 1863.

The virtues of Penn State's educational system were also mentioned. The President listed Penn State as one of the eight largest colleges and universities in the country with 13,000 students on and off campus, and standing first in adult education and among the top ten in research.

Class Attendance Stressed

He said that the people of Pennsylvania are investing about $600 per year in each student's education and asked only that they not waste the College's time, money, or facilities and that they conduct themselves in a manner of which all can be proud. This conduct does not include dormitory raids, which are mob action, and academic dishonesty, and if these two situations occur, the offenders will be severely punished, he said.

Class attendance was also stressed by Dr. Eisenhower as he attempted to erase any ideas the new students had about cuts. He talked of the necessity of one to two hours of preparation for each credit carried to do satisfactory work, and mentioned the Division of Intermediate Registration for students who find themselves dissatisfied with their field.

4 Formosans Arrive As Exchange Students

Under the exchange program four Formosans have come to the College, and Robert M. Knoebel, associate professor of industrial education, has gone to Taipei, Formosa, to teach.

Knoebel will teach industrial education at Taiwan Teachers College during the next two years.

Four Freshmen To Be Elected For LA Council

Freshman representatives to the Liberal Arts Student Councils will be elected this fall. Freshmen may nominate themselves by submitting to the dean's office a petition signed by 25 freshmen. Four students will be elected.

The purpose of LA council is to further interests of liberal arts students and to review problems arising during the year. The council acts as a general discussion group in airing questions concerning LA majors in college functions.

Richard Kirschner, council president, will represent the council on All-College Cabinet. He will introduce topics to the council for discussion and decision.

LA Angles, council newsletter, is printed to acquaint LA students with the council and to create interest in council activities.

Some 38,000 U.S. Indian children are enrolled in government-operated schools.

2 Chinese Engineers To Study at College

Two Chinese engineers from Formosa have arrived at the College to begin a semester of special work in sanitary engineering.

The students have been brought to this country under the Mutual Security Agency program. They have been working with the U.S. Public Health Service in Cincinnati and upon completion of their work at the College, will go to Milwaukee, for on-the-job training.
