

Extension of Hours Granted for Mixers

Freshman women will receive 10:30 p.m. permissions for Saturday night church mixers, if they present name tags from the mixers to dormitory hostesses, according to a motion passed last night by the Senate of Women's Student Government Association.

A recommendation for permissions was made by the Freshman Customs and Regulations Board and presented to Senate by Joyce Shusman, co-chairman of the board.

9 Changes In Faculty Announced

Major changes occurring in the College faculty over the summer included four leaves of absences, two retirements and three resignations.

Francis T. Hall Jr., professor of electrical engineering, has been granted a leave for one year while Viktor Lowenfield, professor of art education; Dr. Hummel Fishburn, professor and head of the Department of Music and Music Education; and George J. Free, professor of education, have been granted leaves from Feb. 1 to June 30, 1954.

Russell to Leave
Dr. David C. Duncan, former professor and acting head of the Department of Physics, has retired with emeritus rank after 35 years on the faculty. Dr. John A. Sauer, who has been professor and head of the Department of Engineering Mechanics, was appointed department head last year but spent the year studying in Europe. John T. Larkins Jr., former associate professor of engineering drawing, has retired after 33 years.

Resignations include Dr. Seth W. Russell, assistant dean of the School of the Liberal Arts and head of the Department of Sociology, who will assume the position of dean of applied arts and sciences at North Dakota Agricultural College. He served on the College faculty since 1937 and had been assistant dean for seven years.

Air Force Research
Dr. William N. Leonard, professor of economics and head of the Department of Economics and Commerce, has resigned to head the division of social science at Hofstra College, Hempstead, N.Y. He had been at the College since 1949.

Dr. Paul R. Beall, associate professor of speech, who had been on the faculty since 1941, resigned to serve as scientific adviser to the Commanding General, Air Research and Development Command, U.S. Air Force.

Registration Due For PSCA Party

Students may register before 5 p.m. today in 304 Old Main if they wish to attend the Penn State Christian Association Frosh Cabin Party tomorrow night.

Cars will leave from the front of Old Main at 4 and 5 p.m. for Watts Lodge, the PSCA cabin, located about four miles from campus overlooking the Nittany Valley.

Dinner will be included in the party's cost of 25 cents per person.

All students interested in learning to call square dances at the Tuesday night Circle and Square Dancing Club may also sign up in 304 Old Main.

Outing Club to Meet

The Outing Club of Women's Recreation Association will hold an organizational meeting at 6:30 tonight in the White Hall playroom.

Plans for a freshman cabin party this weekend will be discussed.

Electric fencing cannot be used for sheep because their fleece acts as insulation.

EUTAW HOUSE
POTTERS MILLS
Featuring Thick Prime
STEAKS

Maud Strawn, WSGA vice president, announced nominations for officers of upperclasswomen's dormitory units will be made Sunday night in unit meetings. Officers will be president, vice president and secretary-treasurer.

Separate nominations for secretary and treasurer may be made if members of the living unit desire. Unit presidents will represent their groups in the WSGA House of Representatives.

The big-little sister tea will be held Oct. 11 in Atherton Hall rather than in the spring as has been the previous custom. The change was approved last year by Senate to make possible the introduction of 15 nominees for two freshman senators.

Carolyn Cunningham and Kay Kingsley, present freshman senators, will be co-chairmen of the tea. The committee which planned the tea last spring will take charge of this year's event.

Freshman women may nominate themselves for freshman senator by filling out a form in the Dean of Women's office. Elections for senators will take place Oct. 13 and 15. An elections chairman will be named and plans for nominations and elections will be announced later.

ADS to Meet Sunday

Alpha Delta Sigma, men's professional advertising fraternity, will meet at 8:30 p.m. Sunday at Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Nittany Valley Substitutes For West Indian Island

By NANCY GRAY

Aruba, an island in the West Indies, is a tropical paradise. It was the home of a Penn State sophomore.

William Mello is the fortunate person. For the past five years he had enjoyed the beautiful coral beaches and constant warm climate of the island. He lived with his family in the American colony. His former home was Boston.

After coming to Penn State, Mello decided that the College in the valley of the Nittany Mountains is one of the best schools for petroleum and natural gas engineering. His interest in this field was aroused by the atmosphere of Aruba. The island has an oil refinery and fueling station for ships. Mello's father is a shipman's representative for the oil company.

Provides Entertainment
The settlement for the Americans is an Esso Refining Co. project. The company maintains a school system to the 12th grade, from which Mello was graduated; a commissary, selling food, clothing, and other needs; and a club with a movie, lounges, dance floor, recreation rooms and bowling alleys.

The population of the island is getting larger and graduating classes have grown quickly. The 1952 class totaled 23. Previous years averaged less than ten. Some teachers at Aruba High School are Penn State graduates which probably contributed to Mello's choice of a college.

Much of the colony's entertainment is provided by the school. It has the social and athletic events found in many large United States high schools. Mello was active on the basketball, soccer, softball and swimming teams. Mello and his friends enjoyed spearfishing, a very dangerous

Collegian Will Print Society Information

Information concerning marriages and engagements of present or former students may be turned into the Daily Collegian office, basement of Carnegie Hall.

Data should include full names of both sets of parents, home towns of both persons, semester standings, and curricular and extra-curricular activities. Present occupations of former students may also be submitted.

In marriage announcements the time and place of the wedding and attendants from the College may be added.

Marriages

Kirschner-Yanoff

Beverly Yanoff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Yanoff of Philadelphia, was married to Richard Kirschner June 7 at the Penn Sheraton Hotel, Philadelphia.

Mr. Kirschner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirschner, Philadelphia.

A seventh semester pre-law major, Mr. Kirschner is president of the Liberal Arts Student Council; former secretary-treasurer of Androcles, junior men's hat society; former Lion Party clique chairman; a member of Phi Sigma Delta; All-College Cabinet; Skull and Bones, senior men's hat society; the men's debate team; Players; and the junior board of LaVie.

Mrs. Kirschner attended the College and is now employed by the Department of Public Information.

Attendants at the wedding included three fraternity brothers of the groom, Herman Golomb, best man, and ushers Ronald Lench and Ronald Isenberg.

Sorority Rush Whirl Enjoyed by Coeds

By AL MUNN

Sororities took on new meaning for sophomore women Saturday as coeds rushed to Atherton Hall to begin a new phase in their college life—rushing. Surprisingly enough, Greek letters and pins apply to the female of the species as well as the male.

The now-registered coeds were given a schedule which informed them the first function attended would be open houses. They were told they could stay at each one for a limited time only so it would be possible for them to visit all the groups open to them.

One look at the number of suites to be visited was enough to convince rushees that their Saturday night dates had better be spent sitting in a quiet movie after tearing around all afternoon in that fabulous bit of feminine apparel, high-heeled shoes.

Thick Smoke
The majority of sororities had "sisters" sitting on the floor in black while the poor, little rushee sat on a chair chewing her fingernails and feeling as though she were about to be crowned "queen of cigarette smoke" or conducted to another world by black angels.

Speaking of cigarette smoke, they say rushing is supposed to be a good way to meet lots of new people. Well, if they start a clean-up campaign in sorority suites similar to the one in Pittsburgh, those new people might be seen and then recognized on campus. One heard a lot of names, though.

The usual questions about home town, major field, and activities followed one another as sisters circulated from rushee to rushee. By the end of the afternoon everybody involved sounded, and probably felt like broken records.

Coke Date Bids
Coke dates appeared next on the schedule and the girls hurried back to the Panhel post office to find out if they were considered social successes or oft-dreaded flops. Almost every girl found at least one "brave" group and pulled out her hair trying to fit from ten to 15 coke dates into the five hours they had left after Friday's registration.

The next step for rushees came yesterday as bids for Thursday and Friday's coke dates were issued. Of course, half the first round wasn't completed yet, but the schedule must go on.

This mad turmoil continues until Oct. 1 when sisters and rushees can become one and belatedly begin classroom assignments.

Engagements

Bricklemeyer-Freeze

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Freeze, of Mill Hall, announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Freeze, to John E. Bricklemeyer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bricklemeyer of Greensburg.

Miss Freeze is a seventh semester home economics education student and a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

Mr. Bricklemeyer, a seventh semester industrial engineering student, is a member of Triangle, Tau Beta Pi, Alpha Pi Mu and Sigma Tau. He is vice president of Engineering Student Council.

Law School Tests To Be Given Nov. 14

The law school admission test, required by many leading American law schools, will be given Nov. 14 at more than 100 centers.

Graduate Record Examinations, required for admission to a number of graduate schools, will be administered at centers throughout the country four times in the coming year.

Coke Dates For Rushing End Tomorrow

The final round of coke dates for sorority rushees will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow and 6:30 to 7:30 tonight and tomorrow night.

No open coke dates will be held Monday and Tuesday before evening parties, as sororities without suite facilities will be decorating the lounges.

Formerly, a sorority was able to use a bedroom in the suite for open coke dates while the suite was being decorated for the party. However, it was felt this year that this practice would be unfair to groups without suites.

At homes will be held in sorority suites from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. A rushee may accept only four invitations to at homes and may stay no longer than one hour at any one sorority. She may not revisit that sorority during the afternoon.

Library Exhibits Japanese Prints

A portfolio of prints of monastery paintings in Japan are now on exhibition at the Pattee Library.

The collection, assembled and presented to Penn State and other American universities, includes color reproductions and collotypes of frescoes found on the walls of the Horyuji Temple.

Other examples of Far Eastern art now on exhibition at the library are an original Japanese woodcut scroll, presented to the college by an anonymous visiting professor; an illustrated catalogue from Tokyo, presented by Tani Kishi, a Japanese visitor in State College; a volume of modern paintings done by an artist from Okinawa; and a group of New Year's scenes presented to the College by Fumiko Saruyama of Tokyo.

Finance Conference To Meet at College

The 18th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Municipal and Local Finance Officers, sponsored by the Institute of Local Government, will be held Oct. 9 and 10 at the College.

Featured at the meeting will be six panel discussions on 1953 local government legislation and an address by Herbert J. Bingham, executive secretary of the Tennessee Municipal League, Knoxville.

Representing State College at the meeting will be Dr. R. Wallace Brewster and Dr. M. Nelson McGeary, professors of political science.

Androcles Mixer

Androcles, junior men's hat society, will hold a mixer tonight at Pi Kappa Alpha, 417 E. Prospect avenue following the Wisconsin game pep rally.
