

Naval ROTC Exam Scheduled Dec. 12

The eighth nation-wide competitive examination for the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps has been scheduled Dec. 12. The Navy emphasized this date is final and examinations would not be given at any other time.

Successful candidates will participate in four years of college training with government assistance and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

Applications, which are available to high school and college students within the ages of 17 and 21, must reach Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. by Nov. 21.

Students passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations. If they are qualified, names will be submitted to state and territorial selection committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers for final selection.

College students who transfer into Naval ROTC will be appointed midshipmen USNR, and will have tuition, books, and normal fees paid by the government. They will receive pay at the rate of $600 a year for the four-year period and will be provided with required uniforms.

Between each academic year, summer cruises of from six to eight weeks are scheduled to provide practical shipboard training.

After commissioning, Naval ROTC graduates serve on active duty for three years before applying for retention as career officers.

Interested students may obtain applications from the Naval ROTC offices, second floor of Engineering E.

Penn State Engineer

A meeting for students interested in working on the Penn State Engineer will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in 211 Mechanical Engineering.

State Party to Give Politics Explanation

A discussion and explanation of student government and the role of campus politics will be presented to freshmen and new sophomores by the State Party at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks.

Interested persons will be given responsible party jobs, Kenneth White, clique chairman, announced.

All-College President Richard Lemyre and State Party officials are scheduled to speak, White said.

Students to File Address Changes

Students who have changed their local address since registering or who did not list a local address when they registered should file a change of address form at the Office of the Registrar, 4 Willard.

The new address should be reported as promptly as possible since work has already started on the Student Directory, which will list local addresses, as well as the home addresses, of students.

Employees of College Exempted from Benefits

College sources have informed the Daily Collegian that employees of the College are not classified as state employees and they will not benefit from the 10 per cent pay increase granted by the state.

The raise in salary, granted in the past session of the legislature, does not apply to the College since it is chartered as a private corporation, officials said. Any pay increase to its employees must come from the Board of Trustees.

Debate Honorary Plans Coffee Hour Tomorrow

Delta Alpha Delta, women's debate honorary, will hold a coffee hour from 7 to 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the northeast lounge of Atherton Hall for women interested in joining the women's squad.

Ag LaVie Pictures

Seniors in the School of Agriculture will have LaVie pictures taken Monday through Oct. 6 at Penn State Photo Shop.

study the reorganization of Cabinet Projects Council into a Cabinet Secretariat. The purposes of the secretariat would be to make studies and administer projects of All-College Cabinet.

Three recommendations in the Orientation Week committee report, presented by Charles Gibbs, chairman, were accepted by cabinet. Next year's Orientation Week chairman will be appointed as early in the semester as possible. Some means of compensation or recognition will be given to the chairman of the Orientation Week student counselor program, and All-College Cabinet will establish a committee to study the effectiveness of this year's Orientation Week program.

Robert Harding, third semester chemical engineering major; Ross Clark, fifth semester business administration major; and Robert Lawrence, seventh semester pre-medical major, were named by All-College President Richard Lemyre to serve on Tribunal. Jane Mason, Home Economics Student Council president, and Chester Cherwinski, Town Council president, were named to the student-faculty relations committee.

DST Ends; Lost Hour Found

Remember that hour you lost way back somewhere last spring? It's coming back.

Daylight saving time ends 2 a.m. tomorrow morning. You gain an hour.

The people who thought up daylight saving time in the first place also created a chore to do during the gained hour.

You can spend it pushing the hands of clocks counterclockwise.

Leaders to Speak At Lion Meeting

James Bowers, freshman class president; Joseph Barnett, junior class president; and Katherine Reynolds, junior class secretary-treasurer, will speak to freshmen at an open meeting of the Lion Party at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The meeting has been called by Benjamin Sinclair, temporary clique chairman, to explain campus politics to freshmen.

Collegian Ad Staff

Daily Collegian advertising staff will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 9 Carnegie.

Penn Tickets Still on Sale

Ticket sales for the University of Pennsylvania-Penn State football game were "light" yesterday, Edward M. Czekaj, assistant to Harold R. Gilbert, assistant director of athletics, said yesterday.

About 4000 tickets will be available from 8:30 a.m. to noon today at the ticket windows in the east wing on the main floor of Old Main. Students who previously ordered tickets by mail application may pick them up today.

The game will be played Oct. 3 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

About 256 tickets were sold yesterday including 109 reserved seat tickets at $3.90, and 147 end-zone seats, selling for $2.60.

Saturday morning classes will meet as usual the day of the game. College policy in the past allowed a half-day holiday so students with Saturday classes could attend the game.
